MANTENO JURY INDICTS BOWEN, 3 HOSPITAL AIDS

Accused of Neglect in Epidemic.

Indictments charging A. L. Bowen, state director of public welfare, and three officials of the Manteno state hospital with malfeasance in office were returned yesterday by the Kankakee county grand jury. The charges grew out of an investigation of a typhoid fever epidemic last summer which caused 53 deaths in the hospital.

In addition to Bowen those indicted are Dr. Ralph T. Hinton, suspended director of the hospital; Mrs. Lillian Williams, dietitian, and Dr. D. I. Steinberg, assistant to Hinton.

Circuit Judge Luther B. Bratton set next Monday as the date for the arraignment of the four. He fixed the bonds of Bowen and Dr. Hinton at $5,000 each and those of Mrs. Williams and Dr. Steinberg at $3,000 each and suggested that all be given an opportunity to surrender voluntarily before Sheriff Daniel Bergen should arrest them.

Charge Is Misdemeanor.

The charge is a misdemeanor and on conviction the defendants could be removed from their positions and fined up to $10,000 each. It was understood the grand jury had rejected a suggestion that indictments be returned charging manslaughter, which is a felony.

Bowen said in Springfield last night that the indictment had been anticipated and added that the grand jurors were "all in some manner or other members of the Republican organization in Kankakee county."

"I have served five different governors," he said, "and this is the first time I have been suspected of negligence or slothfulness. The charge is absolutely absurd and will dissolve into thin air when the facts come out in a public trial. I shall ask for an early hearing."

Three Refuse to Comment.

Dr. Hinton, Dr. Steinberg, and Mrs. Williams refused to discuss the grand jury's action.

The indictments were drawn by State's Attorney Samuel A. Shapiro of Kankakee county, who started the investigation after it was made public that approximately 500 persons—patients and employés of the hospital—had contracted typhoid since midsummer.

It was the opinion of the grand jurors that Dr. Hinton and Bowen had had ample warning from the state department of public health that Manteno's water supply was contaminated. They asserted that written reports had been given Dr. Hinton last May, informing him tests showed that the water contained disease germs that made it unsafe for drinking unless it was chlorinated.

Warnings to Bowen Cited.

The jurors said Bowen had received reports for six years, at intervals of one or two months, about the unsafe water.

"It was the duty of Bowen," the indictment asserted, "as director of public welfare, to safeguard the health of all patients under care at the hospital and to take proper measures to render the water safe for the purpose of drinking."

The indictment alleged that Mrs. Williams allowed the kitchens and other rooms directly under her supervision to be in a "filthy, dirty, unclean, insanitary, and unhealthful condition." It was charged that the food which was served was unfit for human consumption. One of the particulars mentioned was that brooms used to clean toilets and floors also were used in scouring cooking pots and pans.

Dr. Steinberg was charged with willfully neglecting his duties as assistant managing officer in failing to see that the kitchen and other parts of the institution were kept in a sanitary condition.

Steinberg Charge Surprise.

State's Attorney Shapiro said he had not asked for the indictment of Dr. Steinberg. He said the doctor was transferred to Manteno only on July 1 and had done good work in treating the typhoid victims (the first typhoid death occurred July 15).

The grand jury, headed by Roy Taylor, former mayor of Kankakee, was composed of 6 women and 17 men. It was selected by Sheriff Bergen. Sessions were held every day last week and on Monday.

Twenty-eight witnesses were heard, including Bowen, Dr. Hinton, and

Speedy Work Traps Bandits; Three Confess

At 10:50 o'clock Monday night Park Policeman Harry Francois was shot thru the heart by one of three bandits he sought to question in a lover's lane in Humboldt park.

At 3:15 o'clock this morning—less than twenty-nine hours later—the slayer of Policeman Francois was locked up in a police cell and had confessed the crime.

Also in custody were the killer's two companions, vicious hoodlums like himself. They, too, confessed.

Arrayed as mute evidence against the gang were three guns they had carried. Two were fully loaded. From one, a .32 caliber pistol, a single shot had been fired—the shot that killed Francois.

Confesses Firing Fatal Shot.

The prisoner who admitted the slaying is Jerry Mangano, 22 years old. He was dragged out of his bed in his home at 2216 Taylor street early this morning. A police squad rushed him before Acting Captain Anthony McDonough at the North avenue station.

Another squad brought in Italo Degani, 17, of 2501 Harrison street. He also was seized in bed.

The third member of the gang, Joseph Russano, 18, of 821 North Francisco avenue, had been in custody since 5 p. m. yesterday. He said he is a professional boxer. He put his questioners on one false trail after another as he sought to implicate some of his enemies, real or fancied, in the killing. Sometime after midnight his interrogators had had enough.

"Are you going to tell us the truth?" they demanded.

"Okay," said Russano. He talked. The arrests of Mangano and Degani followed.

Bandit Shows No Emotion.

Mangano told Capt. McDonough of the slaying without a quiver of emotion. He spoke out of one side of his mouth, like an ex-convict. Police said he once served two years for another shooting that occurred during a holdup.

"We always left the guns with Russano," Mangano said. "We met him on the street Monday night and told him we were going on a heist. So we got the guns and started out.

"We went over on the west side and grabbed a short [stole an automobile]. We ditched it on Western avenue and went to Humboldt park. We see this couple parked there and went up to the car."

"We were trying to get the door of this car open when the cops [Francois and Sergt. Frederick Blank] drove up.

"One of them [Francois] got out. I thought he was reaching for his rod. So I turned around and let him have it."

Tavern Talk Gives Clew.

Russano fled thru the park and the others across North avenue, with Sergt. Blank in pursuit of the latter pair. He fired several shots, but none took effect.

A chance remark in a tavern put police on the trail of the killers. A patron was heard to remark that he knew something of the crime. Questioned by Detectives Edward Oates and Arvid Essen, this man said he had no actual information, but added:

"A girl named Sally who lives in my building went for a drive last Sunday with a young fellow and they parked near the spot where the policeman was shot. A man got in their

Justice Tilts Her Scales for Martyrs' Row

The scales of justice dipped yesterday in behalf of Eugene Johnson, who went to jail Oct. 27 on the complaint of his divorced wife, Esther. She charged that he was $786 in arrears on his alimony of $10 a week.

Johnson appeared in court yesterday. He told Judge Cornelius J. Harrington that he would have to get out. He said he was ill and couldn't stand the rigors of alimony martyrs' row in jail. Mrs. Johnson, who was present, opposed the plea. She was ill, too, she said, and without funds.

Surprise Witness Called.

Before the judge could ponder on this, Johnson's attorney, Elmer Abrahamson, called a witness to the stand. This witness was Mrs. Daisy Bangs, 846 Lill avenue. She looked at Mrs. Johnson, who is 25 years old.

"That woman," said Mrs. Bangs, "has been known to me for two years as the wife of Theodore Bergfjord. She lives in my building."

At first Mrs. Johnson denied this. Then she wept. Next she asserted she did not live with Bergfjord—he was just a friend who let her keep her clothing in his apartment.

Court Orders an Inquiry.

Judge Harrington abruptly halted the hearing and ordered an investigation of Mrs. Bangs' story. It was learned that Mrs. Johnson hadn't been ill and that she had been earning as much as her former husband since last March.

"You are freed," said the judge to Johnson. "You need never pay this woman another cent. Your alimony is canceled."

Then he sentenced Mrs. Johnson to one day in jail for perjury.

A Man of Courage Stands His Own Ground in Crisis

Cleveland, O., Nov. 21 (AP).—The man of courage who bobs up in nearly every crisis appeared today among the relief clients whose rent and support were shut off as Cleveland ran short of relief funds. "My landlady said she would let me stay in the house if I'd marry her," he reported to the relief office. "But I'll be darned if I will. I'll be evicted first."

Kidnap Killer's Life Placed in Hands of Jury

BULLETIN.

The jury in the Jack Russell case was still deadlocked at a late hour this morning. Loud and angry voices were heard in the jury room at various times during the night and one woman juror was heard to exclaim: "I'll never vote for the death penalty." After 5:30 a. m. the foreman of the jury sent out for coffee and cigarets.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.

The fate of Jack Russell, charged under the Lindbergh law with the kidnap murder of William Scott Hamilton, was placed in the hands of a jury of seven women and five men in the federal District court at 10:20 o'clock last night. The government demanded death in the electric chair.

A verdict was expected to be returned to Judge Charles E. Woodward today.

A. Bradley Eben, assistant United States attorney, who opened the government's closing arguments, told the jury that under the Lindbergh law it was not necessary for the government to prove Hamilton was murdered. It is necessary only to show that a kidnap victim is taken across a state line and not returned unharmed.

Three Verdicts Possible.

The jurors had a choice of three verdicts—guilty with a recommendation for or against the death penalty, guilty with no recommendation to the court, or not guilty.

Following Eben, Defense Attorney Donald D. Rogers presented his closing arguments. Martin Ward, chief government prosecutor, followed Rogers, echoing Eben's demand for the extreme penalty. Judge Woodward spent 50 minutes instructing the jury. He announced he would remain on hand all night, if necessary, to await the verdict.

Russell's lawyers rested his defense late in the afternoon shortly after he had completed six hours of testimony in a last desperate effort to avoid paying in the chair for the killing of Hamilton. The outlaw gave a detailed account in a calm monotonous drawl of his movements beginning with his escape on July 11 from a guard of the Oklahoma state penitentiary at McAlester, where he was serving a sentence for robbery, to the shooting

BRITISH BAN ALL NEUTRAL TRADE WITH GERMANY

Decree Unrestricted Sea Blockade.

BULLETIN.

LONDON, Nov. 22, Wednesday (AP).—The Italian steamer Fianona, 5,660 tons, was reported today to have struck a mine off the southeast coast of England. The ship was holed badly by the explosion, which occurred last night, it was said, but still was afloat today while tugs tried to pull her into port. None of the crew of 33 was reported injured. It was not at once clear how many passengers, if any, the Fianona carried.

New U-Boat Exploit

New York, Nov. 22, Wednesday [Special].—For the second time since the outbreak of the European war a German submarine has slipped thru the defenses of a British naval base and launched an attack on a British warship, according to private advices received here yesterday, the New York Times says this morning.

The ship, it was stated, is the cruiser Belfast, lying in the Firth of Forth. The extent of the damage was not revealed. The submarine was reported to have escaped.

The Belfast, a 10,000 ton cruiser of the Edinburgh class, is one of the most modern vessels of the British navy. She was completed in March, 1938, and carries 12 six inch guns, mounted in four turrets fore and aft.

The first German submarine raid on a British base occurred last month, when a U-boat slipped thru the defenses of the harbor at Scapa Flow and sank the battleship Royal Oak as she rode at anchor.

LONDON, Nov. 21 (AP).—Great Britain, accusing Germany of ruthless brutality and illegal mine warfare, today proclaimed in reprisal an unrestricted high seas blockade of German trade. All exports of German origin or ownership will be subject to seizure.

This means concentration on neutral shipping, since Germany itself has practically no ships at sea now. The aim is to halt completely all sea commerce with Germany.

While Prime Minister Chamberlain was announcing this step to the house of commons and blaming Germany for the last week's heavy toll of merchant shipping off the British east coast, the 11,930 ton Japanese passenger liner Terukuni Maru became the latest and largest victim.

All Aboard Rescued.

The vessel, which was believed to have struck a mine, sank within sight of the coast. Its 26 passengers and 180 crew members were saved.

Other developments of the day included:

1. Announcement of the sinking of the 490 ton mine sweeping trawler Mastiff, the sixth acknowledged British naval loss of the war, off the east coast by a mine yesterday. One crewman was killed and five are missing.

2. The British merchant trawlers Thomas Hankins and Sea Sweeper, of 276 and 329 tons, respectively, were sunk by submarines off the Irish coast. The 250 ton British trawler Delphine was sunk by a submarine in undisclosed waters. Its crew was rescued. The Delphine was the fifteenth ship, including 10 British and 5 neutral, to be sunk by torpedoes or mines since last Saturday.

Charges Violations of Pact.

Chamberlain's announcement was in answer to a question by Clement Attlee, opposition labor leader, as to whether the government would take action as a result of the laying of mines which had sunk many vessels in recent days.

The prime minister began by mentioning these losses and referring to the rules governing mine laying and The Hague convention. Then he added:

"None of these provisions has been observed by the German government

BRITAIN TO PASS ON EXPORTS FROM AMERICAN PORTS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 21 [Special].—A system under which Great Britain will exercise supervision at American ports of American exports to European neutral countries has been agreed upon thru an exchange of notes between the British embassy and the state department. The system will become effective on Dec. 1, the embassy announced today.

A similar arrangement was in effect during the world war, before this country entered the conflict.

The system professedly is designed to facilitate the passage of American goods thru blockaded waters by making it unnecessary to divert them to British ports for examination to determine whether they are carrying contraband. Nevertheless, there is said to be no absolute guarantee that there will be no interference with American commerce.

Known as Navicert System.

Under the plan, known as the navicert system, an American exporter will apply to the nearest British consulate for proper papers on which to define the goods he wishes to ship. If the list is not objectionable on the grounds of contraband, the consignment will be granted a navicert, or commercial certificate. [This term apparently is derived from the words naval and certificate.]

Countries to which shipments will be handled in this manner include Belgium, Denmark, Estonia, Finland, Iceland, Italy, Latvia, the Netherlands, Norway, and Sweden. This list will be extended, if necessary.

Texts Not Released.

The texts of the notes exchanged to confirm the plan were not made public, but Sumner Welles, acting secretary of state, said this idea was conveyed to the British embassy:

"Naturally this government reserves all rights of the United States and its nationals under international law, and is not to be understood as endorsing any principle of interference with trade of a genuinely neutral character."

Shortly before the arrangement was announced, Stephen Early, Mr. Roosevelt's secretary, told reporters that the door was about closed on a proposal by the United States lines to transfer eight of its vessels to Panama registry. If the transfer were effected, the ships then could enter European war zones barred to them by the neutrality act.

Test Wood Pulp Seizures.

"The President, very naturally, doesn't think it's right to put any other American nation in a position which the United States is unwilling to assume," Early declared.

A test case now is in process to facilitate arrangements with Germany under which shipments of wood pulp to America from Norway and Sweden will not be hampered. Germany has taken a number of neutral ships with wood pulp for this country into Hamburg for prize court proceedings.

The prize commissioner, however, has indicated Germany would permit the ships to proceed and would not interfere with others if satisfactory assurances were received that the wood pulp would not be reexported from America. These assurances have been given.

NAZIS ARREST 2 BRITISH AGENTS; NAME STRASSER

Say Exile Hatched Conspiracy.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Nov. 21.—The German secret police today disclosed the arrest of a German on a charge of the bombing attempt on Adolf Hitler's life in a Munich beer cellar Nov. 8.

Heinrich Himmler.

They also announced the capture of two members of the British intelligence service and accused the pair of helping to organize the conspiracy. The Britons were identified as "Capt. Stephens," and "Best."

Heinrich Himmler, chief of all German police, declared that funds to prepare the bombing outrage either came from the British secret service or Otto Strasser, former lieutenant of Hitler but now exiled leader of the dissident "Black Front." Strasser, who fled from Germany when Hitler came to power in 1933, was accused of organizing the crime.

Seized Four Days After Blast.

The man charged with the bombing is Georg Elser, 36 years old, of Munich. He was arrested Nov. 12—four days after the explosion which killed 8 persons and injured 62 others—while attempting to escape into Switzerland. Several others of his accomplices were reported to have been arrested.

Himmler in a statement said Elser made a "full confession on Nov. 14 after initial stubborn denials."

The police chieftain said the prisoner began laying his plans for the conspiracy in September and October, 1938, and started putting them together in August, 1939.

During several weeks of tinkering "in a manner unique in criminal history," Elser built a cabinet for a time bomb, Himmler said. The defendant then was said to have prepared a time bomb attached to a six day clock.

Hides Bomb in Pillar.

Putting the bomb into the cabinet, Elser was reported to have concealed the explosive in a pillar of the Buergerbrau cellar seven days before the Nazi celebration of the 16th anniversary of Hitler's putsch that failed. After two successive failures—on Nov. 2 and 3—he succeeded in placing the detonator into the bursting chamber of the bomb during the night of Nov. 4 to 5.

Himmler charged that Elser left Munich, but returned to the city Nov. 7 to make certain that everything was set, that the "clock was ticking," and to deaden its sound.

The explosion occurred the next day. Hitler had left the beer cellar only twelve minutes before the bomb went off. The explosion brought down the ceiling and wrecked the interior of the cellar.

Germans Close Frontier.

"Immediately after the outrage, steps were taken to clear up the crime and to bring the perpetrators under lock and key," Himmler said. "The German frontier with Switzerland was closed temporarily and Elser was arrested as he tried to cross the border."

The police announced the two British agents were captured on Nov. 9 as they tried to cross into Germany from the Netherlands near Venloo. Apparently some question exists about the manner of the capture, for the police said that "contradicting statements as to whether the arrests took place on Dutch or German soil are now being examined."

[Netherlands reports of Nov. 9 said that occupants of a German automobile alighted, crossed the frontier on foot, and engaged in gunplay with occupants of a Netherlands automobile near the border at Venloo. One report said two persons were killed. All accounts agreed that several occupants of the Netherlands car were carried into Germany.]

Himmler's statement on the arrests said The Hague, capital of the Netherlands, was the headquarters of the British intelligence service in western Europe and that "Capt. Stephens" and "Best" were leaders of the service.

It further charged that the British headquarters attempted to organize plots in Germany and sought to "establish contact with what were surmised to be revolutionary organizations."

The statement went on to say that on the basis of stories told by German refugees the British believed that "opposition existed in the state [German] party and army with the aim of causing revolution in the reich."

Officers in the security service of the élite Hitler Guards were assigned to establish contact with the British headquarters at The Hague, it declared and added:

"In the belief that they actually were dealing with revolutionary German officers, representatives of the British intelligence service revealed their aims and plans.

Claim Radio Contact.

"In order to be able to keep continual connection with these supposed German officers they delivered certain English radio sending and receiving apparatus thru which the German secret state police had maintained connection with the British government until today."

[The British foreign office said last night neither the British government nor any agent of it had any knowledge of the German citizen "described as having placed a bomb in the Munich cellar" Nov. 8. The foreign office communique said there was "no connection" between the Munich bombing and the "kidnaping of two British subjects on the German-Dutch border."]

Strasser, the man accused of organizing the bombing conspiracy, told the newspaper Paris Soir Monday that he was forced to flee from Switzerland to avoid extradition to Germany in connection with the explosion. He said he had only four hours to leave Zurich when the Berlin government asked the Swiss to extradite him for trial as its instigator.

Claims Police Plotted Blast.

Strasser, whose brother Gregor was killed in the 1934 Nazi blood purge, said his first opinion was that the blast was the work of his underground units in Germany but that he now was convinced it was staged by the secret police itself.

The "Black Front" leader expressed the belief that Germany was ready for a revolution by next spring.

Karl and Bernhard Grzebellus of Silesia, brothers, were decapitated today for treason. They were convicted of selling state secrets to Poland.

'ANCIENT FRENCH CITY TO BECOME POLISH CAPITAL

ANGERS, France, Nov. 21.—This ancient city, once the capital of the Plantagenets, Henry II. and Richard the Lion Hearted, will become the capital of the refugee Polish government this week.

Poland's wartime capital in France was visited once by the head of the Polish state four centuries ago when Henry III., duke of Anjou, spent several weeks here as Poland's king before he became France's sovereign. Poland's present president in exile, Wladislaw Raczkiewicz, will have a residence and government offices in Angers.

Several embassies and legations accredited to Poland are being set up here. A typical French bourgeois house is occupied by the American embassy's staff of four. Anthony J. Drexel Biddle Jr. resides in a wing of one of the most magnificent châteaux of the Loire district, a stately structure with priceless art treasures.

GERMAN POLICE IGNORE MUNICH BOMB REWARDS

BERLIN, Nov. 21 (AP).—The question of rewards totaling $360,000 offered for the arrest of persons who attempted to kill Adolf Hitler at Munich was not mentioned today in the secret police statement announcing the arrest and confession of a man accused of planting the bomb.

Immediately after the bomb explosion in the historic Buergerbrau cellar in Munich on Nov. 8 the government offered a reward of $200,000.

On Nov. 9 Heinrich Himmler, chief of German police, offered $120,000, payable in the United States or anywhere else, to any one abroad providing information leading to arrest of the bombers. On the same day the original $200,000 reward was increased $40,000 by an anonymous donor.

in laying the mines which occasioned the losses I have mentioned. And this further outrage is only the culmination of a series of violations of the agreement whereto Germany has set its hand.

"I need only to recall the sinking of the Athenia, with a loss of 112 lives, and the subsequent destruction of British, allied, and neutral vessels by mine, torpedo, and gunfire.

Says Britain Will Retaliate.

"These attacks have been made often without warning, and they point to an increasing extent to a complete disregard of the rules laid down in the submarine protocol whereto Germany has subscribed, and of the most elementary dictates of humanity.

"The government is not prepared to allow these methods of conducting warfare to continue without retaliation.

"I may remind the house that in the last war, as a measure of justified reprisals for submarine attacks on merchant ships, the exports of German origin or ownership were made subject to seizure on the high seas.

"Many violations of international law and the ruthless brutality of German methods have decided us to follow a similar course now, and an order in council will shortly be issued giving effect to this decision."

The house cheered the statement.

Institutes New Policy.

Heretofore the British navy's detention of American and other neutral vessels in the contraband control [control of imports to Germany] has been to seize goods believed destined directly or indirectly for Germany.

The new order is aimed at preventing Germany from exporting by way of the southeastern or Baltic countries and thru these nations by neutral ships across the high seas.

Explaining the order, a government spokesman said that German exports in neutral ships go thru the Suez canal in large quantities. He added that Germany had consigned to South America machinery and other products to be transformed into local production and the proceeds sold in the United States for dollars.

Shelled Freighter Breaking Up.

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, Nov. 22, Wednesday (AP).—A freighter of uncertain identity, reported to have been shelled by a warship off the coast of Iceland, was breaking up today on rocks outside Hornafjord harbor. The stricken vessel bore the name "Ada of Bergen" painted on its side. Wreckage drifting ashore, however, carried the name "Bertha Fischer."

[Lloyd's Register of Shipping shows neither an Ada of Bergen nor a Bertha Fischer, but lists the Bertha Fisser, a 4,110 ton vessel out of Emden, Germany.]

Search Hundreds of Ships.

BERLIN, Nov. 21 (AP).—German submarines, coöperating with the German air force in the Baltic and North seas, have compelled 127 merchant ships to enter German harbors for search since the beginning of the war, it was reported today by DNB, official German news agency. The tonnage of the vessels searched was reported as 245,455. Because the ships or their cargoes were not subject to seizure under prize laws, they were discharged, DNB stated. In addition, the report said, several hundred other merchantmen were halted on the high seas for search, but released immediately.

JAPAN'S AMBASSADOR HOPEFUL OF REVIVING TRADE PACT WITH U. S.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 21 (AP).—Hope that the United States and Japan would negotiate a new commercial treaty to replace the one expiring Jan. 26 was expressed today by Kensuke Horinouchi, the Japanese ambassador.

Discussing Japanese-American relations in an interview, he declared that the termination of friendly commercial relations would be very disadvantageous to both nations.

The existing treaty of amity was denounced by the state department last summer after a series of incidents in China had affected American interests adversely.

Horinouchi disclosed that he expected conversations looking toward improved Japanese-American relations to be resumed shortly by Joseph P. Grew, American ambassador to Tokio, with officials of Japan's foreign office.

Grew already has had one conference with the Japanese authorities, the ambassador said, and Japan is hopeful that an amicable understanding may be reached regarding all pending questions.

ARGENTINA BARS IMPORTS IF NOT FROM EMPIRES

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Nov. 21.—The Argentine government today announced a new import policy designed to prevent, as far as possible, purchases from any country except Great Britain and France as long as the European war lasts. All requests for exchange for importations from other countries will be refused if the goods can be obtained from Great Britain, it was explained.

The director of the exchange control bureau, Alfredo Louro, said Argentina must increase her dependence upon compensated trade agreements begun with Great Britain in 1933 to put into operation the slogan, "Buy from those who buy from us."

In banking and commercial circles the government's announcement caused the impression that it portended the negotiation of new giant combined barter and compensation agreements with Britain and France.

Czechs Protest Slaying of Students by Germans

Protests against recent slayings of Czech students by the German government were voiced last night at a meeting sponsored by the Czecho-Slovak National Council of America in Pilsen park. More than 4,000 persons attended. Among the speakers were Dr. Alice Masaryk, daughter of the late Thomas Masaryk, first president of Cecho-Slovakia, and Dr. Vojta Benes, brother of Eduard Benes, second and last president of the defunct republic.

BRITAIN TO SIGN EXTENSIVE TRADE PACT WITH TURKS

ANKARA, Turkey, Nov. 21.—A trade treaty between Great Britain and Turkey has reached the final stages of negotiation and will be signed soon, it was learned today thru diplomatic sources. Under the anticipated terms of agreement Britain will be Turkey's best commercial customer, replacing Germany, and thus effectively supplement the British-Turkish political accord which was reached here recently.

It is expected the new treaty will enable Turkey to sell up to 30 per cent of her total exports to Britain to buy about 25 per cent of her imports there. Last year only 7.2 per cent of Turkey's foreign trade was with Britain.

Military Mission Leaves.

LONDON, Nov. 21 (AP).—A Turkish military mission concluded conferences with British authorities today and left for home.

[Previously it was indicated the mission planned to purchase British planes and war materials. The allies were reported to have granted Turkey $100,000,000 in credits for arms purchases. Great Britain and France have a mutual assistance agreement with Turkey.]

German Mission to Seek More Trade with Denmark

BERLIN, Nov. 21.—A German trade delegation will begin negotiations this week with a Danish delegation in Copenhagen. The immediate object of the negotiations is to set the volume of trade between the two countries for 1940 under the existing trade and clearing agreement. Germans are hopeful that in view of the British blockade the volume will be increased, particularly since Germany is providing Denmark with many products formally received from England.

NEW BRITISH SEA CONTROL RULES STUN NEUTRALS

Belgium and Holland Fear New Blow to Trade.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Nov. 21.—The neutral low countries—Belgium and Holland—which already have suffered much from the British economic blockade of Germany were distressed tonight by the British announcement that outgoing neutral ships would be searched for German exports the same as incoming vessels are searched for contraband which might be forwarded to Germany.

Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain excused the search of outgoing steamers as retaliation for the sinking by mines of steamers off the British coast. The neutral nations are not yet satisfied that these mines were German. If it is proved that they were German, however, they will have suffered a new blow. The Germans, then, must have a new method of laying mines by submarines which may make every English port inaccessible to neutral shipping.

Coast Closely Patroled.

The British coast is under close patrol 24 hours of the day. The question is asked: "How could German mine layers set the mines?" If they are able to avoid the British patrol boats, no vessel near the British coast will be safe unless the British devise new methods of protection. This fear already has been reflected by Holland, which is holding several boats at Lisbon, Portugal, rather than have them risk the danger of being blown up.

The British blockade has cut Belgian imports—and Belgium exists on commerce—by more than half. If the exports are cut proportionately it will mean real distress, economically and financially.

Suspicion has been aroused in some circles here that the British may have ulterior purposes. These circles declare the British failed recently to maneuver the low countries into supporting their war aims by spreading reports that a German invasion of the low countries was imminent. These observers believe the latest British blockade order is intended to put new pressure on the neutrals. It is declared that the British and French, who appeared to have the whole hearted sympathy of both Holland and Belgium when the war began, are now losing moral ground. Instead of gaining allies, they seem to be antagonizing old friends.

Italians Hope to Gain.

ROME, Nov. 21.—Italian shipping circles heard with mixed feelings today about the vessels sunk by mines off England and the new British blockade of German exports.

While it is felt that Italian lines and ports stand to gain by a further deviation of maritime traffic to the Mediterranean, it is realized that German exports, altho carried by Italian ships, now become contraband. The general opinion is that Italy stands to gain more than it loses.

"The North Atlantic is losing all the maritime advantages which it had for three centuries," says the newspaper Stampa of Turin. "On the other hand, Mediterranean neutrality has converted into an advantage the previous disadvantage of our ports, situated in a closed sea. The growing interest shown in British mercantile circles for peace in the Mediterranean is noteworthy. It permits the deviation of many American, Australian, Indian and far eastern routes toward our ports."

AMERICA WILL LOSE LITTLE BY BRITAIN'S BLOCKADE OF NAZIS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 21 [Special.]—The British decision to attempt to complete stoppage of German exports will have no great effect upon German trade with the United States, commerce department statistics indicate. Latest detailed figures available on American trade with Germany are for September, the first month of the war. They disclosed that imports from Germany amounted to $1,815,000, compared to $5,801,000 in September, 1938. Exports to Germany amountcd to $607,000, compared to $12,675,000 in September, 1938.

California Makers Speed Work on Empires' Planes

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 21 [Special].—Within ten days, the Lockheed Aircraft corporation announced today, it will complete its 27 million dollar order for 250 reconnaissance bombers in its plant at Burbank, for Great Britain and embark on a 10 million dollar contract for 100 similar twin-engined war planes for Australia. While no official confirmation was made, it was assumed that most of the 100 bombers for Aus a will go to England. The North r-ican Aviation corporation will begin work shortly in its plant at Inglewood on a second order of 400 training planes placed by the British a week ago. The new order brings to over 1,000 the number of craft North American has built or is building for the empires.

Danes Economize, Toss TurnipsInstead of Grenades

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Nov. 21 (AP).—Danish troops used fireworks to indicate artillery fire in maneuvers today and threw turnips instead of hand grenades for economy.

BRITONS SCORN DUGOUTS; WATCH BATTLE IN SKY

Women and Children Join Crowds in Streets.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 21.—German warplanes raided the east coast of blacked out England again tonight a few hours after a Dornier reconnaissance bomber had been shot down by British fighters in a fierce battle off Deal, Kent.

Air raid sirens blared out in the East Yorkshire districts at 7:15 p. m. At 8 p. m. warnings were given in London, too. British fighter planes rose to intercept the raiders over the coast and antiaircraft batteries swung into action.

No bombs were dropped, according to the air ministry, and all-clear signals were sounded after 75 minutes. The raiders did not penetrate to London and the warning in the capital was canceled within a few minutes.

Britons Go On with Fun.

One aspect the raids brought out today was the attitude of almost casual indifference now manifest by the British public. In only two raids so far have the Germans dropped bombs—in the Firth of Forth and the Shetland Islands.

Reports from East Yorkshire tonight said that people in movies and theaters there mostly stayed in their seats regardless of the warning and saw the programs thru. Fights at the local boxing arena were continued without interruption.

No warnings were issued during today's raid over Kent and thousands of townsfolk swarmed the narrow streets of Deal and watched the British fighters and the German bomber wage the first air battle of the war over English soil.

Halt Baby Buggies and Watch.

Women halted their parcel filled prams [baby buggies] in Deal's busy high street as the planes swept overhead in screaming dives with their guns spitting fire. Machine gun bullet cases showered down like hail in the streets and small boys, and adults, too, scrambled for them as souvenirs. One woman was seen to pick up a cartridge case from the coverlet of her child's pram.

For 10 minutes the hide-and-seek battle went on in the clouds 2,000 feet up. Then the German plane fled and, according to the air ministry's statements, was brought down miles out at sea.

Only 3 Go to Dugout.

Altho urged by authorities to seek shelter when gunfire is heard, whether or not a warning is sounded, only three persons went to a dugout, and they stayed for only a few minutes. The air raid wardens' appeals to the public to take shelter were ignored.

Three other German planes appeared over Sutherland, Scotland, and the Orkney Islands, off the north Scottish coast, today. Sirens were sounded and gunfire was heard but no bombs were dropped.

War Minister Leslie Hore-Belisha tonight issued an order declaring the Orkneys and the Shetland Islands a protected area. Henceforth no one may live on or visit the islands except with a permit issued by the military authorities.

Scouting Unhampered, Say Nazis.

BERLIN, Nov. 21 (AP).—Military experts declared tonight that German reconnoitering over England and France had been carried out without interference, altho antiaircraft guns of the empires had been trained on the flyers and defense ships had taken the air.

DNB, the official German news agency, said that the French antiaircraft fire had been ineffective and that British fighting craft had been unable to hamper the Germans.

Military observers pointed with pride to a German communique telling of successful scouting flights over "Scapa Flow, Scotland, and southern England, and in France."

A 36 hour lull on the western front was broken today, DNB reported, by heavy French artillery in the Perl sector at the junction of the German, French, and Luxemburg borders.

French Down Three Nazi Planes.

PARIS, Nov. 21 (AP).—The destruction of three German planes on the western front, two of which plunged in flames, was announced tonight by the French high command.

In their night communique the French said: "The day has been notable for an artillery duel to the east of the Saar [river], also east of Vosges [mountains]. The two air forces were active. An enemy reconnaissance plane was brought down within our lines. Two fighters were brought down in flames over the enemy lines. All our aircraft rejoined their bases."

Neutrality Violated

German flyers are charged with violating Belgium's neutrality by flying up the Meuse valley and over the Ardennes mountains in Belgium. Anglo-French airmen have reported that German troops have concentrated near Westphalia and the Ems valley, industrial regions, which would mean a sharp reduction in industrial output.

GERMAN ROYALTY AT FRONT, SAYS EX-CROWN PRINCE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Nov. 21.—Former Crown Prince Friedrich Wilhelm of Germany today had a letter bearing the imperial crown and his initial "W", distributed in facsimile to the foreign press by the propaganda ministry.

Friedrich Wilhelm.

"Neither I nor my brothers nor sons nor any members of the house of Hohenzollern have been arrested or shot," the former crown prince said in the letter. "No one has been limited in his freedom in any manner. It is probably sufficient to draw attention to the fact that all members of the German royal houses who are able to bear arms are at the front. It is best to brand lies by exposing them to ridicule. The originators of such lies are guilty of a crime."

The letter was signed, "Wilhelm, Kronprinz [crown prince]." His brother, Prince August Wilhelm, yesterday announced his loyalty to Adolf Hitler.

CHINESE BLOCK SOUTHERN DRIVE OF 40,000 JAPS

HONGKONG, Nov. 21 (AP).—Chinese government spokesmen reported today that the Japanese advance into extreme South China had been checked. The advance, aimed at cutting the Chinese supply routes from British Burma and French Indo-China, was stopped a few miles from its landing point on Tongking bay, the Chinese said.

The Japanese themselves reported no progress in 24 hours in the direction of Nanning, Chinese army headquarters in Kwangsi province.

The Chinese said the Japanese left wing, a force of 40,000 men, had been held up a few miles inland. A spokesman for the Chinese said, however, that the Japanese center wing had reached the Kwangsi border, 3 miles from Nanning.

The Chinese reported that Nanning and other Kwangsi cities had been bombed by Japanese flyers.

Lithuanian Cabinet Quits; Ex-Memel Official Rules

KAUNAS, Lithuania, Nov. 21 (AP).—A coalition government was formed today as the cabinet formed by Gen. Jonas Cernius last March 28 after Germany's acquisition of Memel, resigned. Antanas Merkys, nationalist high commissioner for Vilna and ex-governor of Memel territory, former German region given to Lithuania after the world war, is the new premier.

Germany Agrees to Return Polish Territory to Slovaks

BERLIN, Nov. 21 (AP).—Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop and Matas Cernak, the Slovak minister, signed a treaty today whereby Germany agreed to return to Slovakia territory which was annexed by Poland in 1920, 1924, and 1938.

NAZIS FLY OVER 3 NEUTRAL LANDS, FRENCH CHARGE

Believe Hitler Seeks Data for Spring Drive.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Nov. 21.—German airplanes violated the neutrality of three neutral states—Switzerland, Belgium, and Holland—to carry out reconnoitering raids over France and England during the last few days, it was asserted tonight by an authorized French source.

In the case of the Netherlands, the violation was alleged to have been committed by several squadrons which flew over the tiny neutral state in order to reconnoiter above the North sea and along the coasts of England and Scotland. Two or three German craft also flew over Belgium on a similar mission, according to the French source.

Leaflet Raiders Cross Belgium.

Another violation of neutral skies over Belgium was committed by German pilots who attempted to survey troop movements and drop propaganda leaflets in northern and northeastern France. Flying exceptionally high, these pilots came up the valley of the Meuse river, which flows into Belgium from France, and over the Ardennes mountains in Belgium.

The violation of Swiss neutrality was reported to have been the third in as many days by German flyers. After carrying out a reconnaissance flight over southeast France, the airmen returned to their bases via Switzerland.

Military observers here do not believe that these flights are a prelude to any immediate offensive from beyond the Rhine. They think they were designed to give the Germans data for a grand scale drive in the spring.

Report German Concentration.

Anglo-French airmen have been matching the Germans flight for flight into enemy territory. During their last raid over regions bordering the Netherlands, the French and British pilots are said to have obtained information which may be of significance in regard to Fuehrer Adolf Hitler's strategy. This is that the German troops facing the Dutch are heavily concentrated in the industrial regions of Westphalia and the Ems valley. They are believed to be quartered in factories, which would mean an industrial output reduced virtually to zero.

Observers here believe Hitler cannot indefinitely maintain such a situation in view of the vital rôle of the region in German economy. Unless the troops are withdrawn in the near future, say the observers, the situation may still be taken as a sign that the Fuehrer plans a coup against the low countries.

Germans Get Dutch Complaint.

BERLIN, Nov. 21 (AP).—Authorized sources said today that German officials, replying to charges that German planes had violated the Netherlands' neutrality, made countercharges that German territory had been entered.

The Netherlands' chargé d'affaires discussed with German officials the violations of Netherlands territory. Each government agreed to continue investigations.

(A German plane, disabled by antiaircraft fire, crashed in a Netherlands meadow on Monday. The pilot was killed. Netherlands aircraft also engaged German planes last Saturday and Sunday.)

Plans Divorce

JEAN PARKER.

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 21 (AP).—Actress Jean Parker said today she will sue George MacDonald, New York newspaper man, for divorce within the next 10 days. "The fact that Mr. MacDonald must necessarily remain in New York and I must stay in Hollywood has ruined our marriage," said Miss Parker, who was born Mae Green in Deer Lodge, Mont. They were married in March, 1936, and separated six months ago.

LEAGUE OF PEACE FOR ALL EUROPE BACKED BY SWISS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BASEL, Switzerland Nov. 21.—Despite the warfare going on within hearing of the main square of this frontier city, several hundred persons from all over Switzerland will gather here on Dec. 1 to discuss formation of a federation of European states in which every nation would live in peace with its neighbor.

The Swiss groups are affiliated with similar bodies in France, the Scandinavian countries and Great Britain.

According to the guiding principles of the organization, foreign policy would be handled exclusively by a federal government which would act on behalf of all member states. Legislative, judicial, and executive machinery would be set up along democratic lines and all military equipment would be taken from the member states and given to an international police force.

JANITOR DIES AFTER FALL.

Charles Sweitzer, 45 years old, died yesterday in the Passavant hospital of a skull fracture suffered Monday when he fell from the first floor to the basement in the freight elevator shaft of a building at 148 West Kinzie street, where he was a janitor.

PLEDGE FREEDOM TO INDIA FOR WAR AID, GANDHI EDICT

Assails Britain's Control Over Nation's Wealth.

BOMBAY, Nov. 21 (AP).—Mohandas K. Gandhi told Great Britain bluntly today that the resignation of eight of India's 11 provincial governments meant they could not participate in the war against Germany unless they obtained in return "complete freedom" for India.

The little leader of millions of Indians asserted that this was their "emphatic" answer to the British white paper of Oct. 17 deferring discussion of India's status until after the war.

Meets Congress Committee.

His statement was made as he met at Allahabad with a committee of the congress party [nationalists] to discuss the country's attitude toward the European conflict.

The Moslem league, second largest political party in India, has endorsed the British stand despite the protest resignations of the eight provincial governments dominated by the congress party.

Two weeks after Britain declared war on Germany India committed herself officially to fight on the British side and Gandhi and his followers have criticized the Germans.

Freedom a Moral Issue.

But the 70 year old leader asserted today that the issue in his demands for a pledge of Indian independence is "purely a moral one, for owing to her material and military control, Britain is able to regulate garrisons and drain India's wealth at will."

Gandhi indicated that the extent to which his party might implement its dissent had not been decided.

Strife between Hindus and Moslems, which resulted yesterday in 12 deaths at Sukkur, long has complicated the fight for independence.

4 German War Prisoners Flee Scotch Camp; Catch 2

LONDON, Nov. 21 (AP).—Four German prisoners of war escaped today from an internment camp in Scotland. Two were recaptured. The escape was the second reported within four days. Three prisoners who fled Saturday were recaptured yesterday.

Germany Seeks Rumanian Oil Monopoly, British Told

LONDON, Nov. 21 (AP).—Germany is seeking a monopoly on Rumanian oil as part of a trade drive in the Balkans, Oliver Stanley, president of the British board of trade, told the house of commons today.

MARTIAL LAW LIFTED IN PRAGUE, 4 OTHER BOHEMIAN DISTRICTS

PRAGUE, Bohemia-Moravia, Nov. 21 (AP).—Martial law in Prague and four other Bohemian districts ended today. Nazi officials announced "there is complete quiet in Prague, no incidents have been noted, and the Czech population is peacefully pursuing work."

While eight Czech universities and academies closed by German order were occupied by members of the SS elite guard, relatives were discouraged from seeking information concerning the 1,200 students who have been sent to concentration camps because of recent disorders which have led to the execution of 12 Czechs.

RED NAVY PLAYS WAR IN BALTIC; WARNS FINLAND

MOSCOW, Nov. 21 (AP).—Soviet Russia today coupled a declaration of its supremacy in the Baltic with a strongly worded warning to Finland to refrain from putting any obstacles in the way of this position. The advice to Finland came from Admiral V. Tributz, commander of the soviet Baltic fleet, who expressed the regret of soviet Baltic sailors at the Finns' refusal of Russia's demands for territorial and military concessions.

"In Finland we hear but the rattling of arms and the call to war with the U. S. S. R.," the admiral said in an article in the newspaper Komsomolskaya Pravda, organ of the Communist Youth league.

"The dark game of the Finnish ruling circles favors incendiaries of war who aim to use Finland as a base for hostile plots.

"No obstacles will ever break our decision to establish a strong peace over the Finnish gulf to safeguard soviet borders, the great city of Leningrad, and friendly Baltic countries. The Red bannered fleet is ready at any minute."

His statement that the Baltic fleet acquired command of the Baltic thru newly gained bases in Estonia and Latvia was accompanied by the disclosure that the fleet was engaged in large scale maneuvers there.

Thru the Latvian and Estonian concessions, Admiral Tributz said, the Baltic fleet, previously landlocked in the gulf of Finland by winter ice, now could navigate the year round.

American Envoy to Cuba Critically Ill in Hospital

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba, Nov. 21.—American Ambassador J. Butler Wright tonight lay critically ill at the Anglo-American hospital. He was taken to the American-managed clinic late this afternoon when he suddenly became ill at his residence. Physicians ordered a thoro diagnosis of his condition. # BULGARIA HOLDS KEY TO CAMPAIGN FOR BALKAN BLOC

Success Depends on Deal with Rumania.

BY SAM BREWER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Nov. 21.—The "Balkan peace bloc" idea popped up again today with a report that this was the reason for the recent series of conferences among Bulgaria's leaders. They are reported to be studying the proposition secretly. There is little chance, however, of Bulgaria joining any such group unless circumstances alter radically.

Premier Kiosseivanoff.

Ivan Popov, minister to Jugo-Slavia, arrived secretly on Saturday and talked immediately with the premier.

Yesterday the premier received envoys of all the Balkan states, but not the Turkish minister, it was noted.

Rumania Stands Firm.

Bulgaria still wants to get back the southern Dobruja—the area taken from her by Rumania after the Balkan war in 1913. Rumania still declares that matter is closed and never can be reopened.

Each country insists that it never will coöperate in a peace bloc unless the other gives in and each insists that it never will give in. Furthermore, the Bulgarians refuse to join any bloc dominated by bigger powers, such as Italy.

Diplomats here, as in Bucharest, are puzzled over the origin of the Balkan bloc agitation. Altho Italy disowned it and hints that the idea of Italian protection for the Balkan countries must have come out of their own heads, the general belief is that it is an Italian idea.

Germany Doesn't Object.

Great Britain evidently is encouraging the idea. One report is that the British already have made a bargain with Italy not to compete with her. The idea seems to be to pit Italy against Germany in competition for supplies in southeastern Europe—a situation that would be excellent for the British.

The Germans have not opposed the bloc in spite of that trap because they feel that so long as the Balkans can keep peace supplies will continue to reach Germany. None of the Balkans wants to risk offending Germany.

Except for a few higher ups who are puzzling over problems of state Sofia probably is the calmest capital in Europe.

Attention is directed to Bulgaria's elections next month. Bulgarians are eager to stay out of war and, for the present, think that they will be able to avoid being dragged in.

Her Father Sues

LINDA WARE.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 21 (AP).—The father of Linda Ware, 14 year old screen actress, filed suit in Circuit court today against Paramount Pictures, Inc., the child's uncle and aunt, and her business manager, charging slander and libel, and asking $50,000 damages.

George W. Stillwagon of Wyandotte, Mich., father of the actress, charged in the suit that the Paramount publicity department gave out what he termed false information that he had abandoned the girl in an orphanage.

His complaint alleged that Mrs. Anna Stillwagon, who was named guardian of the actress, and Arthur Stillwagon, have restrained her liberty.

LABOR MONOPOLY IS STUNTING CITY, BUILDER CHARGES

Says Only Fifth of 80,000 Artisans Have Work.

Not more than 20 per cent of the 80,000 building construction employés in Chicago are at work.

The reason for this, the head of a well known building firm said yesterday, is the existence of a labor monopoly. This man, who declined to permit his name to be used, said demands of the Chicago Building Trades council, composed of twenty-seven unions, have caused stagnation in the building industry.

"The excessive and unnecessary working regulations," he said, "and the petty disputes which result from regulations have brought the situation to a point where a contractor is afraid to begin work on houses for fear of losing money."

Cites Burdensome Rules.

The contractor cited the following provisions in various union-employer agreements to show what he described as the powerful hold of the unions over the contractors:

1. Painters are not allowed to use spray guns but must use brushes not more than 4½ inches in width. [The contractor charged that this prolongs the work and increases the cost to the builder.]

2. Despite an agreement that there were to be no restrictions as to use of various materials, no carpenter is allowed to use any prefabricated materials not bearing a union label.

3. A number of unions demand that workers be hired thru the union instead of directly by the employer. [This, the contractor said, violates a clause in the standard agreement that "the employer is at liberty to employ and discharge whomever he sees fit."]

4. Apprenticeship rules are excessively hard on employers. In the painters' union, a contractor taking an apprentice must agree to keep him steadily employed. If he fails to do so, he must pay him as tho he had been regularly employed.

Upholds Contention of Wood.

This builder's statements elaborated on testimony given in Washington recently by Gen. Robert E. Wood, chairman of Sears Roebuck & Co.; Gerhardt Meyne, a prominent contractor, and other heads of local building firms. They testified that construction was being paralyzed by these restrictions and hinted at deals between unions and manufacturers.

As an example of a "petty dispute," the builder who hurled yesterday's charges of a labor monopoly pointed to the controversy which held up construction of the $7,000,000 Ida B. Wells federal housing project on the south side for two months last summer.

When the contractor, the Thompson-Starrett company, attempted to use a truck concrete mixer to transport concrete from a central plant to each building on the job, the Hod Carriers' union and the International Union of Operating Engineers refused to work, claiming that an individual mixer should be maintained at each building. After conferences with Mayor Kelly and a federal conciliator, the unions finally agreed to allow the company to use the truck mixer provided it did not use city streets or go off project property.

Ruling Makes Costs Soar.

"This meant," the contractor declared, "that the Thompson-Starrett firm had to build a concrete mixing plant on the project and keep the truck there. Furthermore, it had to pay a hoisting engineer $15 a day for pulling a lever, something a laborer could have done at much lower pay."

Article III. of the declaration of principles in the standard agreement between the Building Trades council and the Building Construction Employers' association, the builder emphasized, reads: "There shall be no restriction of the use of any raw or manufactured material, except prison made."

Despite this declaration of principle the builder said, work on the $3,500,000 vocational school building at 87th street and Chappel avenue was delayed last July by an "undeclared strike" by the Building Trades council.

"Work was stopped because stone was to be cut and trimmed in Indiana where it had been quarried," he said. "The council said it should be trimmed here. After a lot of delay, it was finally decided that stone should be cut and trimmed at the quarries and part of it fabricated by Chicago firms."

Raps High Wage Demands.

Members of Chicago building unions, the contractor said, average $1.65 an hour for residential work and $1.25 for industrial labor.

"Milwaukee," he said, "has an average hourly wage in the industry of only $1 an hour. But there has been much more building in Milwaukee in recent years than in Chicago."

The contractor verified testimony by Meyne regarding excessive requirements involved in building a home in Chicago.

"Take a simple thing like installing a kitchen cabinet," he said. "It would be much cheaper if the builder could buy from the manufacturer a cabinet with drawers and doors fitted, hardware applied, and completely finished. But, no! We must buy all parts separately, have the doors fitted by one union, the hardware applied by another, and have the painters' union paint it. This multiplies the costs.

He also agreed with Gen. Wood's statement that labor will only install material furnished by certain contractors. Gen. Wood declared his firm was unable to use its own plumbing and heating materials in the Sears-Roebuck building because union plumbers refused to install them.

Most of the information regarding alleged labor abuses in the building industry has been turned over to Leo F. Tierney, special assistant to the attorney general of the United States, it was reported. Tierney and his aids have been investigating the building industry in Chicago for more than a month.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 21 (AP).—A charge that the dead-pan film comic, Stan Laurel, once ran down a Beverly Hills residential street, clad only in shorts, chasing his Russian born wife, Illiana, who wore a thin negligee, was injected today into their prolonged court battle. The actress is asking that the Laurel divorce granted a year ago be set aside on grounds she was forced to agree to it. Countess Sonia, friend of Mrs. Laurel, described the street scene in a document filed with the court.

Durst said he had represented the actor, now appearing in a stage play in Chicago, in legal matters involving a former wife, Actress Dolores Costello; his present wife, Elaine Barrie; income taxes, his home and his yacht.

GREAT BRITAIN ISSUES WAR CERTIFICATES FOR SMALL INCOMES

Purchase of the certificates in $5 denominations will be limited to $50 per person. There are other defense bonds in units of $20 also available up to $4,000.

The new certificates are income tax exempt and are worth $4.12 upon maturity in 10 years.

PENN. CHAIRMAN OF DEMOCRATS CALLED GRAFTER

Harrisburg, Pa., Nov. 21 (AP).—A gravel dealer confronted Pennsylvania's Democratic chairman, David L. Lawrence, at the latter's trial today on charges of blackmail and testified Lawrence forced him to pay over $5,000 in return for state contracts.

The witness, Spurgeon Bowser, also named Lawrence as a party to a leak in secret proceedings of a grand jury that returned indictments against a dozen Pennsylvania Democrats, many of them high in the councils of former Gov. George Earle.

Three already have been convicted. Sentence has been delayed pending appeals. The charges preceded defeat of the state's Democratic administration at the 1938 election.

Bowser testified that Lawrence, then secretary of the commonwealth in the Earle cabinet, demanded $10,000 from him under implied threat of withholding highway department business from Bowser's gravel company.

JUDGE HOLLAND ORDERED TO FACE O'HARE JURY QUIZ

Subpenaed to Tell Realty Dealings Today.

The Cook county grand jury this morning will launch an investigation into Municipal Judge Eugene J. Holland's business associations with Edward J. O'Hare, the Capone syndicate's front man who was slain Nov. 8 by shotgun assassins.

Judge Holland.

The Holland-O'Hare deals were put into the grand jury's hands yesterday afternoon after the judge had declined for the second time in two days to supply complete records of the real estate enterprise in which he figured with O'Hare, Harry Walsh, who is a bookmaker, and others.

Late last night Judge Holland had not been found by subpena servers. His attorney, Joseph T. Harrington, declared, however, that the judge will go before the jurors whether subpenaed or not. The grand jury then will decide whether Holland shall sign an immunity waiver.

Jury Action Indicated.

Grand juries almost invariably insist that a waiver be signed, apparently feeling it is a waste of time to hear witnesses who are unwilling to sign. There were indications yesterday that grand jury action would have followed, even if Judge Holland had appeared for questioning.

For several days auditors from the state's attorney's office have been scrutinizing the realty pool's deals, particularly those involving assets of John Bain, Inc., a holding company for the defunct Bain banks. The federal government also is interested. Lawrence J. Miller, assistant United States District attorney, would have sat in on the questioning yesterday if Holland had appeared.

At the appointed hour, however, only Attorney Harrington was there, stating that the judge did not intend to come. A grand jury subpena then was issued by Assistant State's Attorney Robert Wright, acting on the orders of First Assistant Wilbert F. Crowley.

When questioned by Crowley a week ago Judge Holland gave a sketchy outline of his transactions with O'Hare and asked that he be allowed to consult his records before taking further.

Promises to Submit Records.

He said he would submit these records for examination. At the same time the judge declared that he had been shocked to hear reports that O'Hare, who was president of Sportsman's Park race track, was the front man for the Capone gang.

Holland was to have appeared Monday afternoon at the state's attorney's office with his books. At the lunch hour, however, he issued a statement saying that Crowley had all the necessary information regarding the realty deals.

In the early afternoon Crowley telephoned him and announced later that Judge Holland would be on hand today. The judge confirmed this. At 3 p. m. yesterday Crowley stepped into the anteroom and asked: "Is Judge Holland here?"

"No, but I am," replied Harrington, rising. "I am his attorney."

Lawyer Presents Letter.

The lawyer then presented a letter, signed by the judge, which read as follows:

"Dr. Mr. Crowley:

"I have this morning consulted and retained Joseph T. Harrington as my attorney and hereby authorize you to furnish him at my expense a complete transcript of our previous conference as to various transactions. He will communicate with you today."

Crowley said the transcript belongs to the state's attorney's office and that he would not let Holland have a copy of it.

Turning to Wright, Crowley added: "It looks as if the judge is trying to find out what he said to me the last time. He probably doesn't remember." Then Crowley ordered Wright to prepare the subpena.

The government's interest in the realty pool is based upon the disclosure that a $17,500 asset item was left out of the inventory of the defunct Bain bank holdings which was committed to a federal trustee in bankruptcy. It was at the trustee's sale in federal court that the Holland-O'Hare enterprise made its first big purchase.

Police Killer, Pals Capturde

WOMAN ASSISTS IN $245 HOLDUP OF W. U. OFFICE

A robber, accompanied by a young brunette, forced his way into the Western Union office at 6447 Sheridan road shortly after midnight this morning. He ordered the manager, Miss Beulah Erickson, 1600 Granville avenue, to kneel on the floor behind the counter. The two intruders followed suit.

Invisible from the street, the robber then crawled to the cash boxes and removed $245. He and the brunette then locked Miss Erickson in a washroom, and escaped. Miss Erickson said she has been held up seven times, three times at her present office.

Youth Gets Life Sentence in Bride's Drowning Death

Lamar, Mo., Nov. 21 (AP).—Charles Garner, 19 years old, was convicted by a jury of first degree murder today and sentenced to life imprisonment for his wife's drowning. Jean Garner, a bride of only a few weeks, died in a Liberal, Mo., strip mine pit on July 2. The drowning was considered accidental, but in September young Garner appeared before Gerard, Neb., officers and said he was responsible for her death. However, when arraigned here, he entered a plea of not guilty. "I made the first confession," Garner testified today, "on a bet and because I wanted the publicity."

car, showed a gun, and made them drive him to Division street."

The police then went to the girl's home. They learned enough from her to direct them to Russano's home.

Twenty Police on Case.

More than 20 policemen worked on the case. Capt. McDonough had 13 men assigned from his district. Representing the park police were Capt. Edward Redd, Sergt. Blank, and Francois' regular partner, Frank Goldwaite. There was also a detective bureau squad under Sergt. Tim O'Connell.

Robert J. Dunham, president of the Chicago Park district, posted a reward of $1,000 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the killers.

After the gang's informal confessions, Assistant State's Attorney Blair Varnes and a stenographer were called to take complete statements from each prisoner.

The inquest over Francois yesterday was continued to Dec. 14 after circumstances of the shooting were told. During the inquest the policeman's widow, Nellie, wearing a mourning veil, sat near the back of the room and sobbed. She has two children, Barbara, 4, and Donald, 2.

A month ago she and her husband started buying a home at 4935 Melrose street. Francois asked and obtained a transfer to night duty so he could work on the home in the daytime. Monday night was the second night he worked.

In the parked car, the occupants of which the three bandits attempted to hold up were Theodore Nelson, 50 years old, 3331 Fulton street, and Mrs. Ruth Tessmer, 37, of 4255 Monticello avenue. Nelson is employment manager of the Chicago office of the National Metal Trades association, an independent organization which supplies specialists to the metal trades. Mrs. Tessmer, a beauty culturist, has been separated from her husband, Herman, for three years. They have a daughter 12 years old.

Police planned to have Nelson and Mrs. Tessmer brought in later today to identify the trio.

ROB INSURANCE COLLECTOR.

David Falsone, 1108 Sedgwick street, a collector employed by the Western and Southern Insurance company, was robbed of $75 last night by two young men in front of 1634 Huron street.

149 CONVICTS FREED BY PAROLE BOARD, 66 FROM COOK COUNTY

Paroles for 149 convicts from the three divisions of the Illinois state penitentiary were announced yesterday by W. C. Jones, chairman of the board of pardons and paroles. Sixty-six of those to be freed were sentenced from Cook county.

Kenneth Sievert, member of a schoolboy holdup gang that confessed more than 50 robberies in the Rogers Park and Lake View districts, was one of those freed from Pontiac prison. In 1936, when he was 17 years old, Sievert was sentenced to 1 to 20 years. He served three years and six months.

Another Cook county prisoner to win a parole is Robert Barton, who was sentenced in 1934 to 1 to 20 years—the maximum term—for automobile theft. He was seized during State's Attorney Courtney's campaign against automobile thieves and fences.

Nellie Scott, once known as the best cook in Barrington, was paroled from the Dwight Reformatory for Women. She was sentenced in 1938 to 1 to 10 years for the theft of more than $8,000 worth of money and property from homes in Barrington.

FANA WOMAN DIES.

Fana, Ill., Nov. 21 (Special).—Mrs. Lillie Rayhill, wife of Harvey Rayhill, an insurance man and a member of a pioneer Fana family, died in her home today of a heart attack.

TELLS JURY SHE KILLED LAWYER IN OWN DEFENSE

Dallas, Tex., Nov. 21 (Special).—Miss Corinne Maddox today told a grand jury she killed her married admirer, Brooks Coffman, because he threatened her life if she testified against him. Coffman, an attorney, 40 years old, was facing trial for stabbing her last May because she refused to go to California with him. Miss Maddox is 26.

The woman who was walking with Coffman when he was shot on a downtown street yesterday was found today and taken before the grand jury. Investigators said she is a young typist who works in a suite where the attorney had offices.

Meantime, police blamed pranksters for a telephoned threat made today against Miss Maddox' life. Her mother said a feminine voice told her: "If you value your daughter's life you'd better get her out of town. She's going to be killed if she stays here."

Urge Redistricting of City Soon After Census in 1940

The city council committee on rules recommended to the council yesterday that the 50 city wards be redistricted as soon as posible after the 1940 census. Ald. J. M. Arvey [24th], chairman, said that to redistrict the wards before the census is completed would be impractical.

Over 300 years ago our forefathers paused to give thanks for deliverance from oppression, for peace and for the bounties of the new America they had just discovered.

On this Thanksgiving, millions of us have awakened to discover America again.

A free America, where the highest and lowest still speaks his own mind! A bountiful America, where all may still progress according to ability and ambition. A socially-conscious America, aroused to march with understanding and charity against disease, and suffering and want. And by no means least, an America at peace!

These priceless gifts are dearest to those who have just lost them—or found them. So, for our deliverance, as did that first pilgrim band—

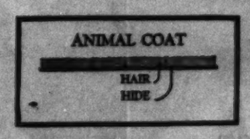
$40

It's such a great job of reproducing nature's handiwork—(see illustrations below)—that you get 26.3% more warmth—61% longer wear and 1½ pounds less weight. Incidentally it has made Alpacuna the largest selling overcoat in America. See it in the new 1939-40 balmacaans, single and double-breasted raglans, set-in sleeve models and box coats—and in the new 1939-40 shades. But regardless of soaring markets—you still pay the old 1938 price of $40—that's value



NOTE—In the animal coat, hairs are ALL ON THE FACE. The back of the coat is thin, soft, pliable skin. This hair or wool on the face protects the animal against heat or cold without excessive weight

THE RESPONSIBILITY OF PRINT

By CALEB

THE obligations writing imposes on writers are as various as the areas in which they perform. News must be presented truthfully and concisely. It is then good and right in print. Editorials must be honest in aim and argument; keyed close to the day's ideas and issues. They are then profitably printable. Features must be authentic and have "story flow"—when thus produced, likewise deserve the permanence of print. As for the columnist, the educator, scientist, essayist, dramatist, poet, and novelist—a new element creeps in. An element not so much factual or statistical, as fundamentally spiritual and moral in its attitude toward the reader.

Why? Because print, in these higher perpetuations of what men write for other men to read, becomes, in a word, responsible. It wields—for evil, or for good—unguessed power. Power so without limit that Bulwer-Lytton, composing his play Richelieu, suddenly became conscious of it, and coined for all time that unforgettable line: The pen is mightier than the sword. Power so unrivaled that Victor Hugo could exclaim: With twenty-six soldiers of lead I will conquer the world! Power so incalculable that Lord Byron cried out: But words are things; and a small drop of ink, falling like dew upon a thought, produces that which makes thousands, perhaps millions, think!

The reasons for this power are not far to seek. Our entire present-day store of lore and learning—the race's whole salvational heritage of ideas, ideals, wisdom, inspiration, and evolutional impetus—is enshrined in print. Only in, by and through print has our intellectual past been made accessible to our inquisitive present.

Small wonder, then, that he who writes in "the upper brackets," where further additions to that total are contemplated, must feel a responsibility earnestly proportioned to the power his briefest paragraph may exert in minds and on lives of which he will never have knowledge!

The writer who carelessly invokes that power writes his own early obituary. Advisedly, if he hopes to wield a fruitful influence, he will be more cautious than any carrier of the sword. Print makes thought permanent; and a wrong thought perpetuated on the reading world is a wrong thing, potentially as destructive as a projectile.

Being constant and large-scale advertising users of this responsible force, our own endeavor is constantly to meet its obligations for clearness, timeliness and truthfulness. Performance must square with statement—statement adequately represent performance—to meet the exacting criterion of Print.

BOWEN INDICTED WITH 3 MANTENO HOSPITAL CHIEFS

Accused of Negligence in Typhoid Epidemic.

Mrs. Williams. Several Manteno employés testified they had feared to drink the institution's water, and others said the food was so poorly prepared that they preferred to have their meals sent in from the outside.

Delay in Report Charged.

During his investigation Shapiro said that the epidemic was not disclosed until Aug. 19, 35 days after the first death, that nothing was done to make the polluted water safe, and that even Bowen was kept in ignorance of the spread of the disease.

Dr. Hinton said that the early deaths were regarded as isolated cases, and that he and the staff physicians continued to drink the water that was supplied, from wells on the grounds, to the state's 5,200 mentally deficient wards. This was the unsafe water referred to in the indictments.

On Nov. 3 Gov. Horner ordered Bowen to suspend Hinton. Dr. Steinberg was placed in charge temporarily, but was replaced five days later by Dr. Walter H. Baer, who was transferred to Manteno from the Peoria state hospital. Dr. Baer recently announced that the epidemic was under control.

Bowen Named by Horner.

Bowen, who is 70 years old, has had a long public career. Formerly a newspaper man, he was appointed executive secretary of the state charities commission in 1909. Under Gov. Lowden he reorganized the Illinois charitable and penal institutions, and was superintendent of charities from 1917 to 1921. He returned to the newspaper field, but became superintendent of charities again in 1927. Gov. Horner gave him his present position in 1933.

Dr. Hinton, who is 62 years old, is a physician. His specialty is psychiatry. He has been employed in the state hospitals since 1907.

Mrs. Williams, who is 36 years old, has had 15 years' experience as a dietitian and has been at Manteno since Jan. 17, 1938. She is a graduate of the Alabama State College for Women. She is a widow and has a son 15 years old.

Dr. Steinberg, 36 years old, is a graduate of the University of Illinois medical school. Before going to Manteno he was on the staff of the Elgin state hospital for eight years.

Folsom Prison, Cal., Nov. 21 (AP).—Nine hundred Folsom prisoners staged a food strike today and prison authorities subsequently locked up all 2,900 inmates as a precaution against possible disorders. Warden Clyde I. Plummer said the prisoners declined to eat breakfast because of sour mush and later refused dinner.

Death Demanded; Verdict Expected Today.

Denies Kidnap Charge.

Russell said he fled the penitentiary because of an overwhelming desire to see his wife, Mary, 6527 Kimbark avenue, whose love he feared he was losing. He denied he kidnaped Hamilton, saying the 23 year old Arkansas City, Kas., milling salesman willingly helped him to get to Chicago. And he concluded by asserting that the shooting was an accident.

His story was heard by the first mixed jury in the history of Cook county qualified to impose the death penalty.

Only once during the examination did the outlaw lose control of his emotions. That was when with the aid of a folded newspaper he reënacted the shooting. The newspaper was used to represent the gun.

Hamilton picked up Russell near Pittsburg, Kas., on July 12, thinking he was a hitch hiker. The outlaw got him to drive him to Maywood, he told the jury.

Tells of Call to Wife.

"I called my wife on the telephone," the outlaw related. "When she answered she told me not to hang up and I heard her telling some one else I was calling. I knew she had police there, and I said: 'Mary, you cannot trace this call.' Then I hung up.

"Hamilton drove to Des Plaines and Evanston where he looked at the Northwestern university campus. Then we started out for Fox Lake. We were awfully tired. I said we'd better stop when we found a likely place. We tried one place, and Hamilton took off his shirt to make a pillow. I thought there might be police cars around so we drove away.

"We tried another place, but I was uneasy. I took the gun out from under my shirt and put it under my leg. We then tried a third place and both went to sleep."

This last place was in the pasture lane, the witness said.

"We were both sleeping soundly," gun jerked out from under my leg, and I woke up. Hamilton had the barrel, which was pointed toward him. I had the stock. As we struggled, Hamilton opened the door and tried to jump out. He pulled me over on top of him, holding the gun over his left shoulder.

As the witness talked he reënacted his movements and pushed Rogers into the position he said Hamilton was in when the shooting occurred.

"Before I knew what had happened the gun went off," Russell stated. He rushed toward the conclusion of the story. "The bullet hit him in the head, and he went down. I'd never shot a man before. I didn't know what to do. But I knew I would have been glad to trade my life for his."

PENDERGAST DENIED PAROLE FROM PRISON BY FEDERAL BOARD

Washington, D. C., Nov. 21 (AP).—Tom Pendergast, one-time boss of the Kansas City Democratic machine, was denied a parole today from the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kas.

The federal board of parole announced that it was "constrained to the strong conviction" that a parole "would be unjustifiable and incompatible with the public interest."

The board said that its decision was made "after a most thoro investigation, followed by observation, interrogation, and careful deliberation in weighing all of the facts and circumstances surrounding the overt act, plea and sentence, as well as taking into consideration the age and physical condition of the applicant, and the further fact that he has no prior criminal history of record."

Pendergast, 67 years old, entered prison last May 29 to serve 15 months for income tax evasion. He pleaded guilty.

This Perfume Atomizer teaches you how to SAVE MONEY on COLD-WEATHER DRIVING

Greatest enemy of economy in winter driving is the choke. When it is used for starting, or while the motor is warming up, your gas tank is being drained 5 to 15 times faster than normal!

To stop this waste of your money, you must reduce the need for choking. The only way to do this is to USE, not higher priced, but HIGHER TEST GASOLINE.

This is why: If you put heavy crude oil in a perfume atomizer, you would discover that no matter how hard you squeezed the bulb, you probably could not produce a spray. Kerosene in the bottle could be sprayed, if you squeezed energetically enough.

But Phillips 66 Poly Gas would turn into a fine vapor at the first light pressure on the rubber bulb . . . because this amazing gasoline is higher test . . . more volatile . . . readier to vaporize quickly and evenly for faster starting and smoother acceleration.

In any weather, it needs the least possible choke, as it consistently leads the high test parade—a fact definitely proved by continuous laboratory surveys.

So don't wait. Start getting faster starting tomorrow morning, by getting Phillips 66 Poly Gas this afternoon. You pay nothing extra for its extra high test . . . at any Orange and Black 66 Shield . . . because Phillips is the WORLD'S LARGEST PRODUCER of natural high test gasoline.

FURRIER CHARGES ROBBERY; SUES POLICE OVER RAID

Accuses Squad of Failing to Return Valuables.

Capt. Daniel Gilbert, six other investigators for the state's attorney's office here, and John R. McWhorter, former chief postal inspector for the Chicago area, were named defendants in a $50,000 damage suit filed yesterday in the McHenry County court in Woodstock. The plaintiff is Theodore Dalpe, a Chicago furrier whose home and shop are at 4155 Broadway.

Dalpe charged that all the defendants except Gilbert forced their way into his home without a search warrant on Jan. 28, 1938. They seized him and his wife, Bernice, 24 years old, and forced them to open the fur shop and vault. Then, Dalpe charged, they illegally removed furs, jewelry, and personal possessions.

Dalpe was imprisoned for three days and charged with receiving stolen property. He was indicted and on April 4, 1938, was convicted by a jury before Judge Francis B. Allegretti in the Criminal court. Dalpe appealed and the Illinois Supreme court reversed the conviction last June 30.

Court Opinion Cited.

In his suit yesterday Dalpe charged that robbery was the real reason for entering his home. He charged that clothing, furs, sporting goods, and several sporting weapons valued at more than $1,200 were taken by the officers and have not been returned. He alleged that the raid was made at the direction of McWhorter.

T. J. McCormick, attorney for Dalpe, in describing the case quoted from the Supreme court opinion, which was written by Chief Justice Clyde E. Stone of Peoria. The opinion said:

"The officers went to Dalpe's apartment without a search warrant and without reasonable grounds for believing he had committed a crime. It follows that any search and seizure made by them, unless it be with his permission, was an illegal search and seizure and the property taken should be suppressed as evidence.

Trial Court Criticized.

"The fact that the officer in charge of the search and seizure was a federal officer in no wise changes the situation, as a federal officer has no more authority to make a search and seizure without a warrant than has a state officer. When courts sanction proceedings of that sort they are guilty of manifest neglect if not open defiance of prohibitions of the state and federal constitutions intended to protect the people against unauthorized and high handed actions of government agents."

Attorney McCormick said the suit was filed in Woodstock because McWhorter lives in Crystal Lake, in McHenry county. He said Mr. and Mrs. Dalpe were ready to prove ownership of every fur taken from their shop.

Defendants in addition to McWhorter and Gilbert are Lieut. Tom Kelly and Officers Nicholas Disseldorf, Joseph Deprenn, Raymond V. Burton, Charles Egan, and Charles Prbyle.

DECISION FREEING M'GARRY ROUSES IRE OF COURTNEY

Ruling Called Blow to Law Enforcement.

Judge Joseph A. Graber's dismissal of two indictments against Judge Eugene L. McGarry of the Municipal court yesterday evoked a blast by State's Attorney Courtney, who termed Graber's action a miscarriage of justice and a blow to law enforcement.

Judge J. A. Graber.

The prosecutor asserted last night that two possible avenues of action remain open in which the evidence on which the state based its charges may be brought to light. These avenues, he said, are:

1. Continuance of a thoro investigation of Judge McGarry's conduct by the Chicago Bar association.
2. Impeachment proceedings instituted by the general assembly.

Accused in Bail Bond Case.

The indictments which were dismissed charged Judge McGarry with conspiracy and with malfeasance in office. He was accused of taking false acknowledgments on bail bonds, and of granting probation to a confessed burglar as a favor to a politician.

Conviction on the conspiracy charge would carry a sentence of one to five years in prison. The penalty for malfeasance in office is a fine up to $10,000 and removal from office.

Judge McGarry chose to move for dismissal of the indictments thru a plea in bar. This is a motion to bar all prosecution on the facts alleged in the indictment. Assistant State's Attorney William Crawford said the state is prevented from appealing from Judge Graber's ruling, in which he sustained the plea in bar.

Acts Held Discretionary.

Judge Graber held that the acts alleged came within Judge McGarry's discretion as a judge, and that no judge can be subject to indictment and trial for acts committed within his judicial discretion.

The first course of future action against McGarry—the resumption of the bar association investigation—is definitely on. Clarence P. Denning, chairman of the association's committee on judiciary, announced that the committee would resume consideration of the case, begun last August. Hearings had been adjourned pending the criminal trial.

Adoption of the second course outlined by Prosecutor Courtney—a move toward impeachment and removal of Judge McGarry by the state legislature—is up to the members of that body.

Impeachment Procedure Told.

State Representative Elmer J. Schnackenberg [R., Chicago] asserted last night: "I think that regardless of whether Judge Graber is right or wrong, the legislature certainly ought always to be open for consideration of impeachment charges by any one who presents them against any judge, and this without prejudging guilt or innocence."

The usual procedure is presentation of a resolution in the house of representatives, calling for impeachment. If adopted by a majority [in this case 77 votes], house members then act as prosecutors before the state senate, which sits as the trial body. Two-thirds of the senate must concur in a finding of guilty.

In the bail bond case, on which the conspiracy indictment was based, Judge McGarry was indicted with Sam Brin, a saloonkeeper, and Harold Gendon, a novelty salesman, both friends of McGarry. Gendon owns a $97 Bellwood lot which, investigators found, often was approved by McGarry as surety for bonds many times its value Brin was accused of forging Gendon's signature on bail bonds.

One in Protective Custody.

Gendon is now in protective custody of the state. Brin, seized in Cincinnati, O., on Nov. 4 after a manhunt of more than a month, is free on $26,000 bail.

The case of the alleged "fix" involved Frank Klakowicz, a confessed burglar. Judge McGarry put him on probation for a year—as a favor, it was charged—to Ald. Joseph Rostenkowski [32d]. Both the alderman and the judge denied the charge. The state's attorney's office had the case reopened and another judge sentenced Klakowicz to a year in jail.

Judge Graber, obviously under great nervous tension, read his opinion in a courtroom crowded with lawyers. In brief it upheld the contention of Defense Attorney Benedict Short that Judge McGarry was immune from indictment in connection with his official duties.

Gives Basis for Decision.

"It cannot be questioned that the enlargement [freeing in bail] of a person held in custody," he said, "or the granting of probation rests in the scund discretion of the judge before whom the defendant appears. . . .

"The state alleges that the acts charged in the indictment against McGarry were and are illegal and beyond the scope of his authority as a judge, but no single authority has been submitted, nor any argument advanced to substantiate these allegations. . . ."

Judge Graber lives in the 18th ward, where Democratic politicians said yesterday that he was sponsored for the bench by former Sheriff John E. Traeger.

Judge Graber is 54 years old and lives at 8201 Elizabeth street with his wife and five sons. When he ran for the city bench in 1930, and again in 1936, he was indorsed by the Chicago Bar association. The association also found him to be well qualified for the Superior court.

Salvatore Luna, a third defendant, is a fugitive. After his arrest, Luna was released on a $1,500 bond approved by Judge Eugene L. McGarry. It was later disclosed that the bond was scheduled by Harold Gendon, a novelty salesman, on a $97 Bellwood lot.

TWO OHIO BOYS HAVE BUSY DAY; STEAL 7 AUTOS

Two Ohio boys who went on an interstate spree stealing automobiles were captured last night near Reynolds, Ind., riding in the seventh car they had stolen since afternoon. They wrecked three or four of the cars and abandoned the others when they ran out of gasoline.

The boys, Charles Henderson, 15 years old, of Shades, and Thomas Wingett, 13, of Pratt's Fork, stole their first car in Columbus, O., at 2 p. m. yesterday. Other thefts followed at Mount Gilead, O.; Larue, O., and Decatur, Ind.

At Albion, Ind., they decided each should have his own car, so they stole a fifth car and rode separately to New Buffalo, Mich., where one car was wrecked. So they discarded both cars there and stole a new one—the sixth—in which they journeyed back to Michigan City, Ind., where they abandoned it and stole their seventh car. After they passed thru Westville, Ind., a radio alarm was sent out. After a 20 mile chase along Indiana route 43 State Policeman Erwin Rhoda overtook them. They are in jail at Valparaiso.

BUND CHIEF KUHN ALSO HAS SOME THEFT CHARGES

Says Money Disappeared During Raid.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 21.—German-American Bund Leader Fritz Kuhn today countered larceny charges with a story that $1,380 was mysteriously missing from his headquarters after a raid by district attorney's detectives. He was on the witness stand in his own defense.

Kuhn also presented in detail a "balanced budget" for the four month period of last year during which the state accuses him of stealing $1,875 from the treasury of his pro-Nazi organization. According to Kuhn's figures, he took in receipts of $16,136.55 and could account for every penny.

This accounting picture was presented during direct examination of Kuhn by his own counsel, Peter L. F. Sabbatino. Assistant District Attorney Herman J. McCarthy, who is conducting the prosecution, announced Kuhn's cross-examination would be lengthy and in view of the bund leader's statements several rebuttal witnesses would be called.

Will Call Woman Friend.

At the same time it was disclosed that Mrs. Florence Camp, blonde woman friend of Kuhn's, would be called as a rebuttal witness. Kuhn admitted on the stand today he had a liking for Mrs. Camp. This feeling was expressed in a series of love and kisses telegrams he sent to her and by his paying $716 in bills for moving her furniture about the country.

However, Kuhn justified the expenditure on the grounds that Mrs. Camp was active in bund affairs and also that he had complete authority to disburse the funds in any way he saw fit. The state found Mrs. Camp in Miami and is bringing her back to New York. It is said she is no longer friendly toward Kuhn.

For the second day only a handful of spectators was admitted to the courtroom on orders of Judge James G. Wallace, who is presiding over the case in General Sessions court. Judge Wallace explained to the jury he had placed restrictions on attendance because of crowd demonstrations.

Story of Missing Funds.

Kuhn's story of the missing funds was based on the raid of detectives from District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey's office on May 2 of this year when Kuhn was out of the city. Upon his return, he said, he discovered his personal papers strewn around, many documents missing, and the $1,380 gone from his desk. The state claims it obtained the papers from other bund officials on a subpena.

"I made a complaint to the district attorney's office the money was missing but did not accuse any one," related Kuhn.

Kuhn's accounting of his stewardship over the period from June 20 to Oct. 24 of last year, during which he was alleged to have plundered the bund treasury, listed $16,136.55 in assets as follows:

Deposited in bank account, $1,428.34; in bund's legal defense fund, $11,667.66; dues from members, $2,355.37; repayment from Mrs. Camp for furniture moving, $565.76; fees paid on membership applications, $120.

Itemizes Expenditures.

On Oct. 24, Kuhn declared, squinting at his work sheets before him, he had a bank balance of $479.25. His withdrawals by check for bund activities during the four month period amounted to $10,089.99. Cash expenditures during the period totaled $3,609.92, and he had cached away in his desk cash on hand of $1,957.39.

Kuhn itemized his expenditures in great detail. They included wages and salaries of officers and workers, legal expenses, telephone and other office expenses, cost of promotional work, a beer license for a bund camp, and numerous small items.

CIO WINS ARMOUR VOTE IN CHICAGO; PEORIA GOES AFL

Packing Firm to Abide by Decision of Ballots.

Employés of the Armour & Co. stockyards plant, voting in a plant election supervised by the National Labor Relations board, yesterday selected the Packinghouse Workers' Organizing committee, affiliated with the Congress of Industrial Organizations, to represent them in collective bargaining.

In a similar election held at the Peoria division plant of Armour & Co., the employés chose the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of North America, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

In the election at the stockyards plant 6,307 ballots were certified as valid. The C. I. O. organization polled 4,006 votes, and the Amalgamated Meat Cutters 1,047. An additional 1,254 employés voted against being represented by either union.

The total number of workers eligible to vote in the plant was 7,253. A total of 785 did not vote, and 161 other ballots were disqualified.

The Vote in Peoria.

At Peoria 305 employés were eligible to vote, and 297 did. Of these 183 voted for the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and 78 for the Packing House Workers' Organizing committee, while 21 voted against representation by either, and 15 votes were disqualified. Seven workers selected the Stationary Engineers' union, an A. F. of L. craft group, to represent them. Another group of nine employés chose the Firemen and Oilers' union as their bargaining agent. It is also an A. F. of L. craft union.

Harry S. Eldred, vice president in charge of plant operations at the stockyards division, said after the votes were tabulated:

"We coöperated with the labor board to get a true expression from the employés, and more than half of them voted for the CIO union to represent all the employés in collective bargaining.

Will Abide by Decision.

"It is our policy to deal with properly accredited representatives of our employés, and we will abide by the decision when it is confirmed by the NLRB."

Don Harris, national director of the Packinghouse Workers' Organizing committee, said:

"The victory constitutes not only a fitting answer by the Armour workers to the Red baiting campaign of the combined forces of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters, Armour, and Congressman Martin Dies, but is also a clear mandate to the PWOC to continue full steam ahead in its campaign for wage increases and better working conditions under an Armour contract."

No Disorder in Voting.

There was not a trace of disorder in the voting in Chicago. An official of Armour & Co. said the company had coöperated fully in the election by providing polling places and arranging to send workers to vote by departments.

There were 30 voting booths in one polling place. Behind nine tables sat representatives of the labor board, A. F. of L., C. I. O., and company timekeeper's office to certify that voters were certified to have been employed as of Oct. 28. A smaller polling place had 14 booths and three tables.

G. L. Patterson, regional director of the labor board, headed a staff of 25 men, including a dozen hired especially for this election.

BODY FOUND IN RAIL YARDS.

The body of Allen T. White, 18 years old, of Cleveland, O., was found yesterday in the railroad yards in Proviso. White apparently had been killed trying to hop a ride on a freight train.

Girl Athlete Divorced

The woman athlete, who is 27 years old, told Judge Rudolph Desort that she married Napolilli on Feb. 16, 1937. Her attorney, Emmet F. Byrne, said Napolilli left her the next day with the explanation that the marriage was a mistake. Miss Robinson said she had asked her husband several times to establish a home for her, but that he always replied, "I would if I could, but I can't." He is an elevator operator at the Blackstone hotel. The judge granted Miss Robinson a decree. She lives at 3 East 138th street, Riverdale.

2 GAME WARDENS ARE EXONERATED IN POACHING CASE

When Game Wardens Frank S. [Dixie] Davis and Ora J. Sarff go duck hunting they get ducks [plural] because both are crack shots. Therefore they were innocent of any blame in the death of a certain duck that was found on the private grounds of the Grand Isle Gun club in Mason county on Oct. 26.

Thomas J. Lynch, state director of conservation, made this ruling yesterday in Springfield, disposing of suspicions that the two game wardens were poaching. It was all a case of misunderstanding, Lynch said. He sent a Chicago investigator to the preserve, but forgot to notify the inspector in charge of the central Illinois district.

Meanwhile the inspector, who also was notified of the poaching, sent Wardens Davis and Sarff to investigate. The Chicago inspector heard three shots, and soon afterward came upon the two wardens. At their feet was a dead duck. How that duck died is still a mystery, Lynch said. And anyway, Lynch said, John B. Drake of Chicago, an officer of the gun club, told him the club didn't want to prosecute the case.

A. F. of L. Union Certified in Peoples Gas Plant Vote

The National Labor Relations board yesterday certified the Gas Workers' union, an affiliate of the American Federation of Labor, as the official bargaining agent for the 300 production and maintenance employés in the Crawford avenue plant of the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company. The board said a tabulation of votes cast in an election at the plant last November showed that a majority of the workers supported the A. F. of L. union.

HERE'S WHAT YOU WILL PAY TO BASK IN WINTER'S SUN

Rents Generally Are About Same as Last Year.

BY FREDERIC BABCOCK.

When winter comes and the ice and snow dodgers start southward, what prices should they expect to pay when they get there?

THE TRIBUNE asked its correspondents in resort areas to gather and send the facts about costs. A summary of their replies, dealing with the prices of milk and other foods, was published last Wednesday; today's survey deals with hotel, apartment house, and private residence rentals.

Agree Not to Hike Prices.

A dispatch printed in this paper the other day told of an agreement entered into by the owners of more than two dozen leading hotels and apartment houses in West Palm Beach, Fla. The pact bound the signers not to raise their rates above previously announced levels, no matter how strong the demand for rooms might become this winter.

The replies received from THE TRIBUNE correspondents indicate that, for the most part, similar promises are being voiced by resort folk thruout the south.

Here is a summary of the answers:

Miami Beach, Fla. — Hotel and apartment tariffs for the coming winter will be about the same as last year. A heavy building program has resulted in accommodations for 8,000 more persons at one time. A careful survey, just completed by the chamber of commerce, gives these data:

For the season from Nov. 15 to May 1 the apartments will range from $250 for "efficiencies" to $2,500 for two and three bedroom types. Hotel rooms will range from $1.50 a day in smaller, less desirable locations, away from the ocean, to $25 a day for double rooms in ocean front hotels during the peak season, which is usually from Feb. 1 to the first week in March. At that time fashionable hotels fronting on the sea will ask from $9 to $15 a day for single rooms, and from $12 to $25 a day for double rooms. Rates at the popular hotels, off the beach, will be from $7 to $10, single, and $8 to $12, double.

Lake Worth, Fla.—Apartment and hotel owners here and in West Palm Beach have announced their intention of keeping their winter rates unchanged from last year. Furnished cottage and apartment rents will range upward from $250 for the six-month season. The best locations and accommodations of this type will command $350.

Biloxi, Miss.—Hotel and apartment rates have varied little in the last five years. The slight change has been toward the lower schedule. Bookings so far received indicate that the entire Mississippi coast will have its most prosperous winter tourist season. Hotel accommodations, including private bath, start at $1.50 for a single room. Apartment prices range from $15 to $50 a month, according to location and various requirements.

New Orleans, La.—Hotel rates average $1 higher than five years ago, the minimums running from $2.50 to $3.50 a day. Winter and summer prices are the same. New Orleans no longer has a dull season in the warm months, as paved highways and air conditioning are sending about as many visitors here in the summer as in the winter. There was a hotel rate war five years ago. There has been no price change in the last year.

San Antonio, Tex.—Cottage and apartment rentals are at an estimated 10 per cent above those of five years ago. Apartments and duplexes are plentiful, but the supply of other choice residences scarcely exceeds the demand. Rates now are little different from last summer's, but will increase to some extent in midwinter.

Phoenix, Ariz.—After a poor season in 1938-'39, resort hotel operators predict the greatest winter season in years, with attendant increased rates. Theirs are purely seasonal places. The owners of the commercial hotels say they have made no appreciable change in rates in five years, winter or summer. Cottage and apartment rentals are up from 5 to 10 per cent over five years ago.

WINTER SEASON TREK TO FLORIDA STARTS EARLIER

Miami Beach, Fla., Nov. 21 [Special].—Homes afloat and homes ashore are opening early this season. Statistics are lacking, but year-round residents of Miami Beach estimate the current season started from two weeks to a month ahead of previous years.

Scores of residences, sometimes unoccupied until there are blizzards in the north, have been in use for several weeks. The procession of yachts—which form winter residences for many northerners—has become a parade.

The nearest approach to statistics on the subject comes from the public utilities. Their figures show that the migration is 25 per cent ahead of the previous ones.

Early Arrivals

Miss Shirley Pasche (left) and Miss Ruth Kennedy, both of Chicago, were the first of the arrivals for the season at Miami Beach, Fla.

TROUT FISHING LURES ANGLERS TO GULF COAST

Bays and Rivers Teeming with Sea Fighters.

BY BOB BECKER.

Altho thousands of sportsmen are thinking about hunting waterfowl, bob white quail, and the like, fishermen who have gone to the Gulf of Mexico are making outdoors fans think about fishing. They are sending back descriptions of the sea trout fishing to be had these days around Biloxi, Miss.

This game fish is plentiful in November and December in the bays and bayous of the gulf coast. The largest catch reported in any one day this month was made by casting from the Gautier or West Pascagoula river bridge on highway 90, not far from Biloxi. The rod and reel squad on that bridge hooked nearly 1,000 fish averaging about one pound each.

River Easily Accessible.

In addition to the Pascagoula river delta, places where speckled trout catches have been reported include the Bay of Biloxi, the upper Back bay of Biloxi, especially Magnolia bend, and the mouth of Tchoutacabouffa river, which flows into upper Back bay. The latter is easily accessible from both Biloxi and Gulfport.

Anglers who have had luck with the sea trout say a bass casting rod, a light line, and a red headed plug are all one needs to fool the scrappy fish. Trout now are averaging around a pound or two in weight, but fishermen expect to get three and four pounders after cooler weather.

Redfish Biting Well.

Besides the speckled sea trout [technically known as weakfish], the redfish or channel bass and sheepshead have been biting well around Biloxi. The redfish is a sporty light tackle species familiar to many northerners who have fished in the south. The big mouthed bass also are biting along the gulf coast, where there are a number of good bass rivers, including the Biloxi, the Tchoutacabouffa, the Fort bayou, and the Pascogoula.

In what part of Mexico can I find the fantastic masks made by the Indians? K. W.

They can be bought in many sections of that country. The state of Guerrero produces animal masks, such as heads of tigers, frogs, serpents, and lions. Michoacan makes them for its religious dances, Saltillo goes in for masks of tin, and Celaya, in Guanajuato, manufactures them of paper and sells them for 2 cents apiece.

Is Andrew Johnson's original tailor shop still standing? If so, where is it? B. G. S.

It still may be seen in a brick museum on the original site in Greeneville, Tenn. It contains the tools used by Johnson before he became President.

A courier bows before the Maharajah of Nepal. Reverently he unveils the world's most precious collection of gems; clusters of blood-red rubies, diamonds of dazzling brilliance, pearls and dark green emeralds. He speaks: "Accept these, Your Majesty, in the name of Nana Sahib, who asks nothing in exchange but his life." The Maharajah nods. Thus, one of the largest ransoms in the world was paid with gems amassed by murder and theft, through the centuries, from every part of Asia. Captain White has seen the jewels of Nana Sahib, who lead the bloodiest mutiny in India. # SOWERS OF HATE AND LABOR REDS ASSAILED BY DIES

Congressman Calls Them Enemies of Nation.

Racketeer labor leaders who sell out to communists, and organizations which foster race hatred under a guise of patriotism are America's greatest enemies within her borders, Representative Martin Dies [D., Tex.] said here last night. He spoke before 2,000 persons at the 56th annual banquet of the Chicago Real Estate board in the Stevens hotel.

Dies, who is chairman of the congressional committee investigating subversive activities, used a football simile to illustrate perils inherent in a dictatorship which, he said, could come if foreign influences are not destroyed in this country.

Want Referee, Not Ball Carrier.

"Under a dictatorship," he said, "the government calls the plays and carries the ball down field to the goal it seeks. That's not the American idea. What we want is a government which acts impartially as referee and umpire while the people work out their destinies."

Marxism is the great foe of Americanism, Dies declared, for Marxism is the founding philosophy behind communism, Fascism, Naziism, and socialism.

"The rights of the laboring man fall when property rights fall," he said. "The insidious foes of labor are the subversive forces which promote the interests of foreign governments while pretending to spread Americanism and the scoundrels who pose as labor leaders only to enrich themselves.

"Chief among them is the scoundrel who gives labor funds to communists. The investigations of my committee have disclosed that in the last few years the communist party has banked or spent $25,000,000. That money has come from the betrayed laborer.

Delusion of Labor Told.

"After property rights were destroyed in Russia and Germany, the next to suffer were the laborers. They were deluded in those countries as some would try to delude them here. And then the doors of the churches are closed.

"There is another great evil—bureaucracy. That, too, leads to dictatorship. When you have thousands upon thousands on the government pay roll, they take the attitude that they are responsible not to the people but to their political faction. And the next step is usurpation of the people's rights."

Slate Wins at Polls, but All Learn They Have No Jobs

Peekskill, N. Y., Nov. 21 [Special].—James Mackay learned today that he had been elected mayor of a nonexistent city. He and Controler Albert E. Cruger and six councilmen who won offices in the city of Peekskill election on Nov. 7 were informed today by the Court of Appeals in Albany that the charter making Peekskill a city had been improperly submitted to the voters last year and was invalid. The result is that Peekskill still is a village and the village officers now on the job apparently will continue after Jan. 1, when Peekskill was to have become a city.

Mrs. Alma Langhof with clothing she described as "rags" returned to her by her husband as part of divorce agreement.

Arnold Langhof promised two weeks ago that he'd give Mrs. Alma Langhof back her six pairs of bloomers, four pairs of gloves, pearl necklace, six pillows, and six pillow cases. Judge Rudolph Desort said that would complete fulfilment of the terms of the Langhofs' divorce agreement and that he then would sign Mrs. Langhof's decree.

But her attorney, Frank J. Link, had Langhof back in court yesterday. "For the six pairs of bloomers he sent her rags from a rag bag," the attorney said. "For the pearl necklace he sent her a key chain. For the four pairs of gloves he sent her nine gloves—one extra—but they're all for the right hand. He sent her only one pillow, the one their dog used to sleep on, and flour sacks instead of pillow cases."

Langhof has a bakery at 5513 Belmont avenue. Mrs. Langhof, who is 33 years old, lives at 1553 North Clark street. Her attorney said he guessed he'd better put in a bill for the things she wants. The judge said he'd be glad to examine it.

TWO ARRESTED AS RACE BOOKIES IN CAPONE CLUB

Lieut. Fred Mulhausen of the county highway police arrested two men yesterday on charges of taking horse race bets at the Paddock Lounge, 4833 Cermak road, Cicero, which reputedly is owned by Ralph Capone, brother of Al. The place was raided a week ago by state's attorney's police seeking clews to the murder of Edward J. O'Hare, president of Sportsman's Park race track. Those seized yesterday are Harry Rosen, 34 years old, of 3840 Roosevelt road, and Earl Kane, 31, of 4837 Cermak road, Cicero. They posted $100 bail for appearance today before Justice of the Peace Henry Pendl in Willow Springs. Lieut. Mulhausen said the Paddock Lounge was the only place in more than a score visited in which bets were being recorded on hard

PROBE UNIONIZING OF CITY'S RELIEF WORKERS BY CIO

Mayor Demands Quiz After Slowup Boast.

An investigation of unionizing activities in the Chicago Relief administration by a Congress of Industrial Organizations affiliate was ordered yesterday by Leo M. Lyons, CRA head, at the request of Mayor Kelly.

The union is known as the State, County, and Municipal Workers of America, Local 30. In its latest bulletin, issued Nov. 13, the organization boasted it had slowed routine work and special investigations by the CRA staff. Mayor Kelly heard of it and asked that an investigation be made.

Asks Immediate Reports.

"I sent word to all of my district and departmental heads to make sure that no organization or individual does anything to interfere with the CRA's efficiency," Lyons said. "Immediate reports of any such incidents are to be made direct to me.

"The doors of this office are open at any time to relief clients, members of the staff, or citizens who have legitimate complaints to make. We don't however, bargain with any group. All complaints from groups are investigated just as are complaints from individuals."

Expect Early Report.

Ald. J. M. Arvey [24th], chairman of the city council finance committee, said Lyons will be expected to report on his investigations next month when he submits his estimate for the 1940 budget. Ald. James J. McDermott [14th], a member of the committee, said he would call for all details of the CRA survey.

"I have always been in favor of organized labor," McDermott said, "but I don't think people who are working for a relief organization should be in a union. Their first thought should be the alleviation of human misery, not improvement of their own condition."

FIND 2 SUFFERING IN HOME; SEARCH UNCOVERS HOARD

Miss Winifred McIntyre, public guardian of Cook county, and police acted yesterday to safeguard the hoarded wealth of an elderly couple found suffering from exposure in their unheated apartment at 620 East 50th street.

After being taken to psychopathic hospital, the husband, Charles Scoullar, 86 years old, a retired contractor, said he fell and injured his head Monday morning. He crawled to the bedroom but was unable to get into bed. His wife, Marthina, 72, a paralytic, tried to help him and fell to the floor on the other side of the bed. They lay on the floor 20 hours before being found.

A police detail was established in the apartment after a drawer full of jewelry, records of a checking account showing deposits of $5,000, and deposit books on four other banks were discovered. Miss McIntyre arranged to take an inventory of other possessions. It was said Mr. and Mrs. Scoullar owned the building in which they lived. Police were attempting to get in touch with a sister of Mrs. Scoullar in Lockport, N. Y.

GEORGE WASHINGTON SAID:

"Excessive partiality for one foreign nation and excessive dislike for another cause those whom they actuate to see danger only on one side, and serve to veil and even second the arts of influence on the other."—From the Farewell Address.

GOING TO WAR AND LOSING LIBERTY.

What happened to English government and to the position of the Englishman under it with the declaration of war is described by the London Spectator in an argument, not for fewer restraints, but for the use of more intelligence in applying them. The English pattern is of importance to Americans because it is the pattern accepted by all present day war makers, whose new mandate is: To fight for liberty you must surrender it. If that is to be accepted as true, you lose at home no matter what happens to you abroad. The first defeat is on the home front, and even victory on another might only confirm the internal defeat.

"When the war came," says the Spectator, "authority, mysteriously concealed, arrived over night to transform the whole organization of social and economic life and began with the issue of hundreds of official orders emanating from different ministries which had the force of law. Changes were introduced by decree before they had been openly discussed, and reasons of state, often cloaked in secrecy, were urged for their acceptance without demur."

Even the liberal Spectator finds no escape from the necessity of government by decree. Its objection is that the dictatorship has not been an intelligent one and has not sought to employ the best minds in the country in the war autocracy. It is conceded that burocracy has been invested "with a power such as it has never before exercised in this country." This power has been exercised arbitrarily and unintelligently. For one illustration—the admiralty took over the trawlers when the food department was demanding that trawlers bring in more fish.

The requisitions and expropriations of the government are said to have caused unemployment and the maximum of private loss with a minimum of apparent gain. The truth is that over night the British government became a collectivized autocracy and produced confusion at the worst time by trying to substitute inexpert, uninformed public management for private enterprise.

The criticism does not seem to get to the real issue. Even the objectors assume that there can be intelligent direction and that then the thing will work. There is too much surrender in that assumption. It may be with the people long accustomed to docility under orders and with a burocracy long entrenched in authority and expert in its field that a machine such as the German can be made to work. Experience is not sufficient yet to afford any proof even of that. Certainly a people who have prospered in freer private enterprise and whose accomplishments are those of individuals and not of government cannot be expected in the time of greatest stress and need to change all their habits, both of thought and action, and under restraints accomplish what they could in freedom.

The new assumption that only a dictatorship can preserve a nation is one of the most reactionary and dangerous which could be entertained. The government of Great Britain did not create the British empire. The spread of the islanders over so much of the world was due to the private enterprisers. The British structure is the work of these individual adventurers. Of the government it need only be said that its blunders caused the greatest losses.

BATONS IN THEIR KNAPSACKS.

The German army has opened its commissioned ranks to enlisted men. This is a revolutionary departure not only from the Prussian caste system of the kaiser's army but as well from the post-war reichswehr. The small, highly disciplined force that Gen. von Seeckt, founder of the reichswehr, envisioned has given way to the old Napoleonic concept of a nation in arms and a field marshal's baton in every private's knapsack.

The present step is probably distasteful to the German officer caste. It undoubtedly has been forced on them by the rapid expansion of the German army since Hitler's rise to power, an expansion so rapid that time was not available to train officers according to the old concepts.

The German army is bound to become a different organization under this new method of officer selection, even tho the infusion from the ranks permeates only the lower commissioned ranks, as is probable. There is no reason to believe, however, that it will suffer in efficiency.

The French army, the best in the world, has never observed a caste system in choosing officers except in its increasingly useless social appendage, the cavalry. The British clung to the caste system even when a conscript army overburdened the capacity of their aristocratic service schools, and suffered from it. Their gentlemen officers were more remarkable for gallantly sacrificing their own lives than for prudently safeguarding the lives of their men.

Officially there is no caste system in the United States, and, with the general standards of education in this country, still less basis for it in our army than in a European army. There has, however, been an attempt to create an artificial system within the walls of West Point.

Our participation in a war has always demonstrated the artificial character of this system. It is not that the West Pointers have failed to acquit themselves well, for they have always served with distinction, but rather that officers from civil life have proved that academy training is not necessary to make a good leader.

Four months' service on the battle line is the equivalent of four years in a military classroom. Not only does the fighting man learn much that is not taught in the classroom but the academy graduate finds that much that he learned there has no application on the battlefield. It will be a happy day for our military efficiency when this lesson, learned anew each time we go to war, is applied in times of peace, and the ranks of our officer corps are opened to all the able young men in the nation instead of being confined to the graduates of a single institution.

AMERICAN YOUTH AND THE FUTURE.

The American Youth commission, an organization formed in 1935 by the American Council of Education, has made a report on its findings and offered a program of action. Owen D. Young is chairman of the commission, the membership of which includes Ralph Budd, president of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad; Henry I. Harriman, former president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, and Gen. Robert E. Wood, chairman of the board of Sears, Roebuck & Co.

One-third of the nation's unemployed workers, the report says, are young people 15 to 24 years of age. Of the 11 million unemployed, as shown by the 1937 census of unemployment, nearly 4 million are young people. The tendency, it is said, is to exclude beginners from employment, which makes it improbable in the opinion of the commission that even a war boom would offer a solution of the problem of the young person seeking a job. The commission therefore would put the responsibility for many of the youthful unemployed upon the federal government.

Nothing could better illustrate the change in American conditions and in the American view of the future than the conclusion that after seven years of the methods pursued by the New Deal there is no place for the new generation unless the government makes one for it. The consequence of such a view would be the abandonment of about everything that has heretofore been regarded as a reasonable prospect for American life.

One might agree with the commission that a continuance of conditions producing a hopeless youth would be disastrous to the nation's future. But the larger question would seem to be, have the policies of the government been calculated to produce such conditions or to remove them? There has been nothing in the prospectus of the New Deal to indicate that these were the expected consequences of the planned society.

We were not told that what the New Dealers were doing would have such results. We were told Mr. Roosevelt's program was one designed to produce a better America, with greater opportunity for all citizens. We are now told that the young people who have come to working years during the progress of the New Deal need not hope to find employment and settle themselves in life. It is not alone the people who have aged during this experiment who find nothing in the future for them. The youth which has presented itself during this time is in even greater distress.

WE'LL TAKE GRENADIERS.

The editor of the student paper at the Chicago Teachers' college thinks he has something new. Surveying his campus, he produces a number of photogenic young women, including some who are decorative in sun suits, and on this scanty evidence maintains that the day of the prim and acrid school mistress is past.

Of her supposed successor he says, "She needn't worry about holding up the wall at dances or hooking her fellow men, for under quite ordinary circumstances he will hook himself."

Lord bless the young man! Does he think pretty school teachers are anything new, or that they have ever had any difficulty, as he inelegantly puts it, in hooking their fellow men? Where does he suppose the leaders of a thousand ladies' reading circles came from, if not the schoolroom? School trustees being what they were thirty years ago, the school marms didn't appear in sun suits, but then they didn't have to.

Before any storm breaks in Vox Pop we want it distinctly understood that we are not claiming that only school teachers who stick to the classrooms are those who can't catch a man, or that good school teachers are necessarily homely. But looking back on our youth, it is not the butterflies who tarried a few terms between college and the altar who remain most vivid in our memories. The teachers whom we remember best, and whom we respected most, had a touch of the grenadier in them.

Here were no mouselike ladies, nursing shattered romances. They faced a world with which they felt themselves capable of dealing. That this world sometimes included youths who not only thought they could lick the principal but occasionally proved it as a preliminary to joining the navy, did not deter them. They handled such problems with an eighteen inch ruler, and nothing was ever said about corporal punishment in the schools.

They were good teachers because they liked to teach, and it was probably because they liked to teach that they stayed in the schoolroom. It may have been that this passion for taming and instructing the young was more likely to persist if not subject to the distraction of a rival and more tender passion, but we doubt if this was more than a minor factor. Sun suits or no sun suits, our money is still on the ladies with a touch of the grenadier.

NEUTRALITY AT HOME.

[New York World-Telegram.]

Tolbert Hatfield of Ransom, Ky., saw a lot of feuding in his time. He was a young man in the 1880s when the famous Hatfield-McCoy "border war" broke out. A first cousin of "Devil Anse" Hatfield, he lost many a kinsman in the fighting. But somehow Tolbert Hatfield managed to remain on peaceful terms with both sides, and he died in his bed the other day at the age of 89.

We're sorry he's gone, for he seems to have been one of this country's real experts on neutrality under difficult circumstances.

A FIRSTNIGHTER SAYS.

The theater is becoming the fashion again; firstnighters are "dressing" for it. A sign of returning prosperity, or merely a reaction to the flashlight cameras in the lobbies?

* * *

White arms and black ties were in almost operatic abundance at the opening of "Leave It to Me" in the Auditorium, which is getting ready to celebrate its 50th anniversary. If this phenomenon coincides with heavy movements of coal cars, and lusty violations of the antismoke ordinance, then you may conclude that Chicago is getting back into its stride of progress.

* * *

When Victor Moore was chanting his homesick yearnings for Topeka, Kas., the best ditty in the show, we thought that there should be an anthology of such songs, with their scores. "Songs of Cities and Towns," we would call the book. It would start with "The Sidewalks of New York," and pick up dozens of lyric tributes to the American scene on its way from past to present.

It would include "Chicago, that toddlin' town," of course, and "Hello, Frisco, Hello," which celebrated the opening of transcontinental telephone service, and "We'll build a little love nest in Patchogue," which was in "Oh, Boy," and . . . O, go ahead and publish the book. We'll buy it, not edit it.

About 35 years ago a show that started here and ran for months contained a song with the refrain, "Take me back, take me back, to that dear old Chicago town," yodeled in noisy civic pride by a comedian named Joe Lewis. Its manager got ambitious and booked it into New York. At the opening night on Broadway the audience shouted at Mr. Lewis, "O, hurry up and go back!" Return tickets were purchased the next day. . . . Put that one in, too.

NEXT TIME I LOVE.

Last time I loved the spring was late
And all the birds that sang were in my heart.
Oblivious of earth, I never knew
What blossoms fair uncurled and fell apart;
Love was the flower I fain would contemplate
Last time when I loved you.

Next time I love it shall be when
The year is turning unto sleep.
Leaf-golden shall the old words then
Fall dream-wise for my heart to keep;
And just before the first snow flies,
Love will come laughing with your eyes!

Natalie Flohr.

Meditation in a Church.

Sanctuary for a troubled heart, peace for a wearied mind. There is quiet—the quiet of a forest, where all the little sounds are part of the silence. Over the silence, and through it, runs the music of the organ, like the bright rippling of a brook. Sunlight streams in bars through the jewel toned windows, making paths in the pleasant dusk. Epitome of all the outward signs of worship are the flowers at the altar—their beauty the perfect symbol of praise. And the faces that were weary become rested, and fear is gone. Peace becomes a reality for one hour a week, at least. Helene.

Overheard at a Woman's Club.

Have you heard about the lady whose gracious "Good evening" received the answer, "Should I know you?"

Later that afternoon the snubber offered this apology: "I'm so sorry I didn't recognize you, but I have a poor memory for names and faces."

Said the first lady, sweetly: "And I, unfortunately, have a good memory for petty details."

Pepsy.

And you ought to hear me play it,
And you ought

I am really quite a wonder
As I ripple up the keys
And my only difficulties
Are the
"G's" and "C's" and "D's"!
When I don't
Hit the right chord
I just begin again,
But I only strike a wrong note
Every
Now and then!
I can play "El Rancho Grande,"
But I have to play it slow.
I am

Origin of Cottage Grove Avenue.

Cottage Grove avenue did not get its name from the cottages near Douglas monument. This territory, a half a mile square, was the old homestead of Jeduthan and Jeremiah Smith, father and son, and, after their death, of Samuel Ellis, who married one of the Smith girls and lived there until his death. The property on the east side of Vincennes avenue around 35th street extending to the lake was known as Cottage Grove, and here the thrifty Ellis maintained an open air dance hall and beer garden for many years. This I was told by his daughter, Naomi Langley, in the early 1900s. Walter B. Smith.

THE PNEUMONIA SEASON IS AT HAND.

SOONER or later we will have to face the mounting incidence of pneumonia. While the malady is encountered the year round it is now on the upgrade. Chilling lowers resistance and whenever the defenses of the body drop we may anticipate difficulty. Overheated rooms are potentially as dangerous as an atmosphere that is too cool. In such circumstances the perspiration dampened skin may bring shivers up and down the spine when one goes out of doors. Then, too, drying of the mucous membranes of the air passages is always a possible source of trouble.

The reason that every one does not experience an annual bout with pneumonia is because we maintain vitality at a reasonably high level. With the blood in good fighting trim—even though the causative organisms are present—they fail to multiply in sufficient numbers to produce symptoms. But occasionally circumstances beyond our control such as exposure, loss of sleep, or overstrain from any cause will hold out the welcome sign to the infection.

Try as we may we cannot avoid almost daily contact with the pneumococcus which includes many varieties, called "types." Most of us will escape the disease, however, if we will conserve the heat of the body and secure adequate sleep and nourishment. But once the germs are well planted and flourishing there is little chance of avoiding the consequences.

The victim rarely has much notice that the disorder is brewing as an attack may come suddenly. One may go to bed feeling quite comfortable, only to waken with a hard chill or a stabbing pain in the side. If the patient thinks back, however, he will probably recall that for a day or two he was a bit below par, possibly suffering from what he thought was a cold or "a touch of the flu."

Within a few hours after the typical shivering fit the cheeks become flushed, the breathing rapid and painful, and the temperature may go as high as 104 degrees Fahrenheit. If there is a cough the sputum may be stained slightly with blood.

The worst part of the illness is that it is so exhausting. The patient is obliged to labor strenuously in order to obtain enough oxygen via the remaining air cells that still can function. Again, pain from the accompanying pleurisy ofttimes interferes with natural sleep and hence rest. Finally, the toxins produced by the pneumococci are dangerous to life, as they disturb vital organs as well as the nervous system. In consequence, a substantial number of afflicted persons will exhibit wild delirium. This means that the sick room must not be left unattended for a single moment, as the sufferer may insist upon performing some imaginary task.

It has been well said that this ailment presents a short, sharp fight. If all goes well, on about the seventh day the temperature will drop suddenly or gradually, as the case may be, the quantity of sputum will increase greatly, and the rate of respiration will return to normal. This is the beginning of convalescence.

A successful outcome depends first upon skilled nursing. Medical management is designed to support strength. Fortunately, we have antitoxins for many types of the organism and one of the first things that a physician will do is to determine which of the 32 forms is guilty. If serum is available its administration is lifesaving. Should the germ prove to be one for which there is no antitoxin we have recourse to the compound known as sulfapyridine, a derivative of sulfanilamide. While this drug is toxic to a few individuals, its employment has been accompanied by spectacular results in many cases.

Oxygen is a powerful aid and in the absence of an oxygen room the gas may be given via a tent or nasal catheter. The patient is thus spared a substantial amount of effort.

It is far safer, however, to avoid the disease than to be obliged to combat its ravages. A little more attention to proper clothing—including footgear—to saving one's reserve, and avoiding unnecessary and weakening hazards, is needed during the coming months.

ANEMIA.

C. T. writes:

1. What is the cause of pernicious anemia?
2. What is the difference between pernicious and secondary anemia?

REPLY.

1. It is thought to be due to the failure or lack of certain secretions of the stomach glands, which is called the intrinsic factor. Inasmuch as foods are acted upon by the gastric juice and later reach the liver, feeding of this substance [liver or liver extract] is of value.
2. Formerly the term "primary" was used to designate those cases in which the cause was not known; and "secondary" to those brought on by deficiencies, hemorrhage, infection, poisoning, etc.

Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflets on both types of anemia.

IT INDICATES A KIDNEY DISORDER.

B. N. writes: Is a faint trace of albumin in an 18 year old boy serious? He was turned down for insurance.

REPLY.

Since the presence of albumin is usually an indication of some kidney disturbance, the insurance companies will not take the risk. The chances are that the condition can be cleared up without difficulty. A careful check by a competent physician is advised.

CIVIL SERVICE A LA HORNER.

Macomb, Ill., Nov. 20.—Comments on state civil service conditions bring to my mind my experience as a civil service employé, 1928-1932.

In 1929 I took a civil service examination, oral and written, for the position of district deputy state oil inspector. Previously I took a short course in a state laboratory in the distillation of gasoline and testing of kerosene. I passed with an average of 93 2-5 and got my certificate from the civil service board and was assigned to work. I continued up to April, 1933, when I got notice to bring in my equipment belonging to the state as my services no longer were required. That was the beginning of Gov. Horner's administration.

When I called on the new superintendent, Mr. Kinsella, I asked him if the department had any complaint and he replied that my work had been very satisfactory. I asked him then why I was removed. He said the position of district deputy state oil inspector had been abolished. I asked: "Do you mean the state is not going to run tests on gasoline and kerosene any longer?" and he replied "Yes, but under another head. Instead of having district deputy state oil inspectors, they now have district deputy field agents doing the very same work as was done by the deputy oil inspectors."

I wrote the state civil service board asking if this action could be properly done under the state civil service law, but received no reply to my letter.

This is how the civil service law works under the Horner administration. I might add that under Gov. Emmerson's administration no employé in the department in which I worked was asked to contribute one penny for political campaign purpose. Quite different from the Horner political machine. GEORGE M. COLE.

DIES GETTING NOWHERE?

Chicago, Nov. 20.—Where is Mr. Dies getting in his investigation of the communists and un-Americanism? I don't see anything happening yet. Mr. Roosevelt, Mme. Perkins, Earl Browder, and Harry Bridges, and the rest are still running on the loose. So what?

Mr. Roosevelt told Mr. Dies a few weeks ago that nothing was going to be done about the presence of Reds in the administration. Now I see Earl Browder has taken the European strategy of the world revolution down from the shelf and dusted it off in a drive by the Reds to split American labor. So what the "L" is the matter with all you Americans? Are you alive to the cause, or are you yellow? J. C. R.

LECTURERS FROM BRITAIN.

Chicago, Nov. 20.—There has been a great increase of English lecturers in this country in the last four weeks. More are coming—mainly to spread propaganda. Why not void the Declaration of Independence, demand a prime minister, and censor history books mentioning Gen. Washington at Valley Forge and the Boston tea party? GEORGE KELLY.

A WORD FOR SURFACE LINES.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—Mysterious are the ways of judges, financiers, and politicians—to the uninitiated. Take the city's traction problem—long a scapegoat. I am not a bondholder, nor an employé—just a rider. I ride on the surface lines, the buses, and the elevated. If the rides on the buses and elevated lines are worth 10 cents, then why is a ride on the surface line worth less?

Why does a judge appear to think it is equitable to compel one transportation company to accept 7 or 8 cents a ride and yet allow the other companies to charge 10? During the stormy weather it is the surface lines that clean the streets and the tracks automatically become arterial highways for the automobile traffic. Why the delay in allowing a reasonable advance to the surface lines? M. C. B.

HELP YOU HELP YOURSELF.

Chicago, Nov. 15.—They help you help yourself. No strings attached, no fees, and yet invaluable assistance is given to university graduates who are trained for their work and don't know the steps to take in getting what they want. This is what the De Paul man marketing clinic has set out to do for the graduates of any university. If youth wants help when they need help most, they ought to come to these sessions. Free for nothing—many have found jobs, or made them, thru the help of several unselfish, understanding people who help without any profit to themselves. The clinic meets every Wednesday evening in the university's Moot court, 64 East Lake street. ADELE OGLO.

IN JUDGE JARECKI'S WARD.

Chicago, Nov. 19.—I have read the grand jury's report on elections. Blame is put on judges and clerks of certain wards not favorable to Mr. Jarecki and Mr. Courtney. I suggest that a complete investigation be made of the county judge's own ward, where illegal assistance was given to voters.

I would suggest this investigation be made by a citizens' committee and not by the election commissioners. DISGUSTED VOTER.

AWAITING AN EDITORIAL.

Chicago, Nov. 20.—I notice a tiny item on your front page about two men jurors who flipped a coin to decide their verdict. I am waiting for an editorial from you saying men should no longer be jurors.

Had this been two women jurors what would you have said? JUNE DALE.

BUSHMAN.

Chicago, Nov. 20.—To allay curiosity in regard to the weight of Bushman, famous gorilla of Lincoln Park zoo, a weighing machine has been installed in his cage. The public will now be able to see on a dial the weight of the 11 year old primate.

Officials of Lincoln park might satisfy still more curiosity by having painted on the bars of the cage a measuring scale so the height of Bushman may be determined. People doubt that Bushman is 5 feet 11 inches as reported in the daily press.

In accordance with the public "engineering" in effect in the Museum of Science and Industry, I suggest that there be available a commercial bread mixer into which to put the fellow who wonders how it would feel "to come to grips with Bushman." A few turns on high speed in the mixer should have the same effect as a few moments with Bushman. H. RABB.

GARNER OR BYRD PICKED BY GLASS FOR PRESIDENT

Senator Opposes 3d Term and New Deal Deficits.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 21.—Senator Carter Glass [D., Va.] today declared for Vice President John N. Garner or his colleague, Senator Harry F. Byrd [D., Va.] for Democratic candidate for President next year.

Senator Glass.

Thus ended the brief honeymoon of Glass and the White House on the issue of repealing the arms embargo. That was the only question on which the senator and President Roosevelt had seen eye to eye for a long time.

The senator, one of the most consistent and effective foes of the New Deal, went to the White House, commended the President's repeal message and was photographed clasping hands with Mr. Roosevelt, who beamingly welcomed their reunion and expressed the fervent hope it would be permanent.

Opposes Third Term.

Now they are back as they were, on opposite sides of the political fence. Glass is opposed to a third term for Mr. Roosevelt, and even if Mr. Roosevelt is not a candidate, Glass has committed himself to two conservative presidential possibilities, neither of whom the President approves for the nomination.

The 81 year old senator was in Washington a few hours today and received reporters in his hotel suite. When asked his preference for the nomination, Glass said:

Battle Is Assured.

Glass will direct his influence to the selection of a Virginia delegation to the Democratic national convention instructed for Byrd, with a view to the switch of Virginia to the support of Garner if Byrd should fail to make the grade.

There will be a fight in Virginia, for Gov. James H. Price, a Roosevelt partisan, will strive for an uninstructed delegation controled by the President.

On the subject of Democratic prospects in the election, Glass said that if the Democrats are to win the administration must "stop spending more money than it collects."

ALINE PARISH.

Magnum, Okla., Nov. 21 [Special].—Jim Starr and Bill McBrayer, co-captains of Magnum High school's football team, are scooting down the halls between classrooms with a speed born of shyness this week. It goes back to selection of pretty Aline Parish as football queen.

Ceremony called for the appearance of Aline on the field between halves of last week's football game. Aline was there and so were Jim and Bill, the co-captains bearing flowers.

They presented Aline with the bouquets but didn't wait for the rest of the ceremony. She was to have kissed both the boys, but even as she puckered her lips the two were doing a wondrous job of open field running in the direction of the dressing room.

TALK OF BUDGET SLASHES HEARD AT WHITE HOUSE

President Starts South as Reports Grow.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 21.—President Roosevelt boarded a special train here today for Warm Springs, Ga., where he will spend Thanksgiving. As he left announcement was made at the White House that the President was planning a reduced budget for 1941. A billion dollar reduction under this year's spending was mentioned.

This is not the first time that the administration has predicted a decreased budget. Each year for six years the White House has encouraged such stories and promised an approach to budget balancing. In actual performance the budget has gone higher and the expenditures have exceeded estimated figures.

Budget estimates will be submitted to congress shortly after it convenes Jan. 3 and it is expected the President will work on his financing plans while at Warm Springs.

Early Tells of Trend.

White House Secretary Stephen T. Early was the authority for what he called an apparent trend toward greater economies in government expenditures in the next fiscal year. Coupled with increased revenue from existing taxes, it is hoped by the administration thus to avoid the necessity for asking new taxes of congress in January.

When he was asked about reports published today to the effect that President Roosevelt plans to recommend some surprise economies to congress with a view to keeping down next year's budget to about 9 billion dollars, Early said:

"I think that is about true as far as my knowledge goes. There is apparently a trend to cut down governmental expenditures."

Expect 2½ Billion Deficit.

Budget plans, it was said in official circles, are being drafted with a view to trimming the deficit for 1941 to 2 billion dollars. Officials added, however, that 2 billion 500 million dollars was a more probable figure. The 1941 fiscal year begins next July 1.

Mr. Roosevelt in January estimated the 1940 deficit at $3,426,000,000, but the business upturn and congressional rewriting of White House recommendations have improved the outlook.

Officials said that economies might be effected in 1941 appropriations for relief, public works, farm aid, and administrative expenses but not in defense.

The budget makers are starting with the idea that national defense spending must grow and that revenues should increase as a result of better business.

1940 Spending Not Finished.

Compared with the $5,669,000,000 preliminary revenue estimate for this year, guesses on next year range from 6 billion 300 million dollars to 7 billion dollars.

This year's spending total may reach a maximum of 9 billion 500 million dollars, but congress has not finished appropriating for it. At least 275 million dollars will be needed from the next session to pay neutrality costs until June 30.

Persons close to the White House are guessing that next year's expenditures will total roughly 9 billion 250 million dollars. Of this sum, which would rank next to this year's record total for peace time, approximately 2 billion dollars would be for national defense, about 500 million dollars more than this year.

AMERICA GIVES THANKS

In 1621 a brave little band of Pilgrims gathered to give thanks for an abundant harvest after long suffering and privation.

For over 200 years America has celebrated a day of Thanksgiving with feasting and family reunions. Today, as never before, America should give thanks. For with half the world seething in a misery of oppression and restraint, we in America still hold aloft the torch of human liberty.

Under the "American way" this country has produced a higher standard of living than is enjoyed in any other country in the world.

No "black bread"... no "thin soup"... no synthetic foods will grace our Thanksgiving board. Instead roast turkey, pumpkin pie and all the trimmings of a holiday feast.

As one of America's great distillers, the House of Seagram takes this occasion to express its confidence in the "American way." We wish you and yours a bountiful Thanksgiving—celebrated in the traditional manner—with the finest of food and drink—but observed with the wisdom of moderation.

TOLEDO SCHOOLS BROKE; CLOSE UP UNTIL NEW YEAR

Tax Referendum Fails; Banks Refuse Loan.

Toledo, O., Nov. 21 [Special].—Toledo's public schools, both elementary and high schools, will close tomorrow, not to reopen until Jan. 2 at the earliest. The Toledo board of education has run out of money.

More than 40,000 children thus will have an unscheduled vacation. In order to keep them off the streets, churches and other organizations are planning programs to be given in church auditoriums, public parks, shelter houses, and neighborhood community houses.

Tax Levy Defeated.

The closing of schools was ordered by the board of education last week when a 4 mill levy was voted down by Toledo voters. Already $600,000 in debt, the board of education decided on closing the schools rather than run up the deficit to more than a million dollars by Jan. 1. It is estimated the shutdown will save $400,000.

Meantime the board and school officials are going over the curriculum and drastic cuts in so-called frills and possibly pay cuts for teachers are expected.

The board said it had exhausted every means of obtaining additional funds. Banks have refused loans. A check for more than $300,000 is expected this week from the Teachers Foundation, but this will be used to pay part of long overdue salaries.

Teachers Paid Only Once.

Teachers have been paid only once since school began this year, that payment being for the first two weeks in September.

A series of economic setbacks that have been accumulating for six or more years is responsible for the schools' financial disaster. They lost considerable money in bank failures in 1933. Reduced tax collections have cut deeply into income.

The status of city finances is perhaps even worse than that of the schools. The city is now $800,000 in the red and all relief to the needy has been shut off since Sept. 15. A committee which investigated the relief situation reported at least 4,500 persons in Toledo are now on the verge of starvation.

CONGRESS GROUP FAVORS PANAMA CANAL PROJECT

BALBOA, Canal Zone, Nov. 21—Congressmen who have spent four days inspecting Panama Canal defenses generally favor new appropriations to increase the security of the canal, according to Senator Elmer Thomas, ranking member of the delegation.

It is understood the congressmen, who are members of the senate and the house military affairs committees, will recommend early action on a proposal to build a third set of locks in the canal.

The delegation arrived here last night in three army transport planes. Six flew today to Tegucigalpa, Honduras, and will be joined at San José, Costa Rica, by Col. J. B. Pate, military attaché for Central America. The others will fly to Managua, Nicaragua, tomorrow and be joined there by the party from Tegucigalpa. The delegation then will fly to the United States, making a stop in Gautemala.

MILES STANDISH LEARNS MODERN DIET IS BETTER

Pilgrims and Indians sat down in peace yesterday afternoon at Prescott school to give thanks for a bountiful year. Capt. Miles Standish was there, with an eye on the redmen and many a sidelong glance for Priscilla Alden who sat with her John. Gov. William Bradford came late, of course, but not too late to miss the fruit of their labors.

The menu, planned to contrast with the chokeberries, maize, prickly pears, seeds, and wild turkey of the colonists, was a modern one of milk, sweet corn, domestic fowl, ice cream and citrus fruits, the very things the Pilgrims could not provide. Miss Dorothea Case directed the celebration which was planned to teach her 6th grade pupils the improvements in present day diet.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

IX.

This is the last test. If you solve it give yourself a rating of very superior on this problem and 10 points in the total scoring [see below]. Answer on page 31.

Consider all the following statements, for they are relevant and essential to a correct solution:

A conductor, a brakeman, and a porter are employed on a train running between New York and Chicago. Their names are Tom, Dick, and Harry, but not necessarily in that order. On this same train are three passengers of the same names—Tom, Dick, and Harry. Distinguish them from the trainmen of the same names by the prefix "Mr." in front of their names.

[f] The passenger living in Chicago has the same name as the brakeman.

What is the name of the conductor? Answer ——.

CUT PROPORTION OF CIVIL SERVICE UNDER NEW DEAL

12% Below Figure Reached in Hoover's Term.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 21.—While President Roosevelt often has advocated the merit system in government, an examination of civil service commission records today showed that the proportion of federal civil service employés has been reduced from 80.1 per cent under President Hoover to 67.7 per cent.

The proportion of federal merit workers was as low as 60.6 per cent in 1936. The proportion has been brought up in the last three years, but, it is charged, this has been done by blanketing deserving Democrats into civil service by executive order, rather than by examination—the method employed to fill civil service ranks in previous administrations.

Charge Service Is Subterfuge.

By the blanketing process, administration critics charge, Mr. Roosevelt actually has reduced the civil service to a mere subterfuge to give lifetime jobs to thousands of Democrats.

"No administration ever has professed greater respect for civil service, and no administration has done more to exploit it and circumvent it," the Republican national committee asserted in a recent publication.

The table below shows the decline in the proportion of civil service employés in government service. It gives the total number of employés on the government pay roll, exclusive of the legislative, judicial and military establishments. It lists also the number of civil service employés and the percentage of such employés in each of the 12 years beginning with the fiscal year ended June 30, 1928, when Calvin Coolidge was President.

Hoover's Term Included.

The list includes the four years of Mr. Hoover's administration, up to and including the fiscal year ended June 30, 1932, and the years of President Roosevelt's administration down to and including the fiscal year ended last June 30.

Here is the list:

|---|---|---|---|
| 1928 | 540,867 | 431,763 | 79.8 |
| 1929 | 559,579 | 445,957 | 79.7 |
| 1930 | 580,494 | 462,083 | 79.6 |
| 1931 | 588,206 | 468,050 | 79.6 |
| 1932 | 583,196 | 467,161 | 80.1 |
| 1933 | 572,091 | 456,096 | 79.7 |
| 1934 | 673,695 | 456,592 | 66.9 |
| 1935 | 719,440 | 455,229 | 63.3 |
| 1936 | 824,259 | 498,725 | 60.6 |
| 1937 | 841,664 | 532,073 | 63.2 |
| 1938 | 851,926 | 562,909 | 66.1 |
| 1939 | 920,310 | 622,832 | 67.7 |

The civil service report for last June 30 shows that 6 of 29 federal agencies employing 1,000 or more workers have no civil service employés. These agencies are:

| Agency. | Total employés. |
|---|---|
| WPA | 33,972 |
| TVA | 12,149 |
| HOLC | 10,950 |
| PWA | 10,305 |
| FHA | 4,707 |
| RFC | 4,073 |

POLICE QUESTION TWO COMPANIONS OF AUTO VICTIMS

Two drinking companions of a man and a woman who were killed by a hit and run automobile driver early Saturday at Madison street and Albany avenue were questioned last night by the Warren avenue police.

The accident victims were Miss Laura Rusenski, 23 years old, 212 North Hamlin avenue, a waitress, and Francis D. Ryan, 29, of 2246 Superior street. Those questioned are James Clark, 29, of 1628 Nelson street, and Cornelius Dever, 31, of 2900 North Oak Park avenue, a gas company employé. Dever was released.

The two were taken to the station after a fifth member of the party, also a waitress, told her story to Capt. Thomas O'Hare and Sergts. Frank Brady and Lyons Kelleher. She is Miss Ruth Peloubet, 23, of 3102 Madison street. She said Clark drove away from his parking place at the scene of the accident despite her protests that she had seen Miss Rusenski lying on the pavement. She said Dever was in the back seat of Clark's car.

MOTORIST HEARS A "BUMP"; FINDS HE KILLED MAN

Elis Marnye, 58 years old, of 1111 170th street, Hammond, was killed last night as he was crossing the street in the 900 block of 169th street. He walked into the path of a car driven by Raymond Goucher, 25, of Black Oak, Ind. Goucher, who was held for the inquest, said he saw no one in the darkness and did not know he had run down Marnye until he heard a bump and stopped his car.

Mrs. James Manson, 55 years old, of 1649 Winona avenue, died in Community hospital at Elmhurst yesterday of injuries suffered in an automobile collision Nov. 15 near Wheaton. A car driven by her husband, James, 70, collided with a truck driven by William J. Veremis, 22, of Bensenville. Veremis, at liberty in $1,000 bail, is to be arraigned in Wheaton Friday on a charge of reckless driving.

Charles Wernstron, 55, of 1019 Wolfram street, a coal hiker, was injured fatally by an automobile in front of 1111 Roscoe street. He was carrying coal in bags from a pile at the curb to a basement. He died in John B. Murphy Memorial hospital. The driver of the auto was Frank Niemietz, 44, of 1515 Roscoe street.

Lewis Reid, 47, of 1830 Maypole avenue, died in County hospital of injuries suffered Monday when he was struck by a truck in front of 1838 Lake street. The driver, Marvin Rosch, 25, of 3507 Wilton avenue, and other witnesses said Reid walked into the side of the truck.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday, 778 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 600 were killed in Chicago, where 19,851 were injured in the same period.

COUNCIL GROUPS BEGIN STUDY OF SUPERHIGHWAY

The city council committees on traffic and on finance yesterday began formal deliberations on a $205,000,000 superhighway plan for Chicago. Engineers and officials representing branches of the federal, state, county, and city governments met in the council chambers with representatives of civic organizations.

"The council is putting all of its cards on the table," Mayor Kelly told the group. "No one wants to dictate what should be done. We want suggestions from every one earnestly working for a betterment of Chicago."

Philip Harrington, city traction commissioner, outlined tentative plans calling for construction first of 32.5 miles of superhighway to cost $110,000,000 and a second program of 29.7 miles to cost $95,000,000.

THE MASSACRE Chicago's 1939 Traffic Toll

More than 98% of the city's automobile fatalities are of a nature physically impossible on an urban superhighway.

CITY TO EXPLAIN TRACTION DELAY IN COURT TODAY

What use, if any, will be made of Chicago's eight mile subway tunnel when it is completed is one of the main questions involved in the traction problem which will be considered today by Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson. The subway tube itself is being built by the city at a cost of $46,000,000, but no provision has yet been made for laying subway track, buying cars, or equipping stations. The cost of these items exceeds $20,000,000.

The city today will tell Judge Wilkerson why it has been unable to reach an agreement with the transit lines on a unified franchise after more than six months of negotiations. The franchise would include plans for subway operation.

The city is expected to ask the court to order the companies to reconsider city franchise proposals, including maintenance of the present 7 cent street car fare. The companies have asked for an 8 cent fare.

Hurt in Cousin's Car; Jury Awards a Woman $25,000

A jury in Judge Ulysses S. Schwartz's court awarded $25,000 to Mrs. Edna Ives yesterday for injuries suffered in an automobile collision. Mrs. Ives, who lives at 233 South Scoville avenue, Oak Park, said she was in a coma 44 days after the accident. The verdict was against her cousin by marriage, Mrs. Esther Spooner of 822 Forest avenue, River Forest, in whose car Mrs. Ives was riding.

"HAS HAD NO PEERS FOR 50 YEARS"

BOOKS

The Balkans, Their Complex Past and Present, Studied in Highly Illuminating Analysis

"World Without End," by Stoyan Pribichevich. [Reynal & Hitchcock, 391 pages, $3.50.] Published last Friday.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"Oppressed as it has been, and free as it will be, southeastern Europe will remain a tiny universe by itself, differing from the European west and from the European east, and yet harmoniously connecting them both—a world without end." Thus does Stoyan Pribichevich write the final words to his long analysis of the past and the present of the Balkans.

How thru the centuries the land between Poland and Russia and the Ægean and Adriatic seas has been oppressed he tells in the first part of this highly illuminating book. His sketched history is popular rather than profound, but, by its very simplifications, it is more readable to those who, like this reader, have been almost as ignorant of the history of the Balkans as of its many different languages. The author explains, in popular rather than scientific words, why the past has created the present and how people have become peoples.

Stoyan Pribichevich.

In the second part of the book the author describes those peoples—as one would describe one's relatives—with a subtle blood brother understanding of their natures, their inherent virtues, their natural vices, often so different as seen by the home folks and the world. And just as the individuals in any family differ from each other but present marked family characteristics in comparison with any one outside the family, the author shows the family resemblance among Greeks, Croats, Serbs, Bulgars, Rumanians, Czechs, Slavs, Magyars, and Turks. Then he breaks the family traits down into individual characteristics—and does it memorably.

The author points out that "each time a European war crisis has arisen there it has centered around the small Slav country which bordered on an aggressive foreign power . . . each time the aggressor was German." And he shows how Nazi Germany is reviving the Kaiser's drang nach osten—the drive eastward—and explains simply Germany's concept of "living space" in the scheme of German philosophy and psychology. But he also points out that "during the last thousand years no foreign power has been able to maintain itself permanently in southeastern Europe."

As for the future of the Balkans, the author ends his interesting record of their past and diagnosis of their present with a very brief description of a proposed Danubian confederation.

"Hard experience is teaching the nationals of southeastern Europe that their future safety lies neither in isolation nor in alliances with great powers, but in union with one another," he writes. "Optimists have set a period of from 50 to 100 years for a realization of the Danubian confederation. Yet common fears and disasters may bring it about much sooner than we think. At this moment such a confederation is still a fantasy. But, as Goethe would say, it is an exact fantasy."

The Rubenstein Brothers

"Free Artist," by Catherine Drinker Bowen. [Random, $3.] Published a week ago Tuesday.

The author of "Beloved Friend," that delightful biography of Tchaikovsky and record of the strangest love affair in history—in which the most passionate letters were exchanged between a man and a woman who never met—almost inevitably wrote this book. It is the biography of the Rubenstein brothers, Anton and Nicholas, who were Tchaikovsky's teachers.

Mrs. Bowen must have come to know them both very intimately from those burning letters of indignation which Tchaikovsky wrote about Nicholas' treatment of him, which was not really unkind as was Anton's. It was Anton who treated him with almost scornful indifference and whom he adored. The research which she did about Peter Ilyich was entangled with material about the Rubensteins . . . and luckily for us, because "Free Artist" is another book about musicians that anybody either musical or tone deaf can enjoy.

The Rubenstein brothers were the greatest pianists of the Russia of our great-grandmothers' day [or even of our grandmothers']. Anton became a concert pianist of international fame, and his wild mane and his hands which were like the paws of a great bear were for a generation of concertgoers the symbol of genius and its undeniable manifestation. He made the piano sing, passionately and in answer to his own mood, as no pianist before him had done. He struck wrong notes, but there was glory even in his error. He was a great artist—if the definition of an artist is a human who can make his fellow humans touch hands with divinity. But like all really great artists, he was art's slave and not its careless master.

Even his fantastic brother, Nicholas, who gave another impression, with his gayety, his night long parties, and his intimacies with every one in Moscow from court to curb, was really the slave of art. For to both of the brothers Rubenstein music was first love and whatever inconstancies decorated their rococo lives, they were always faithful to music.

Mrs. Bowen tells the story of these two brothers against the story of the Europe, and even the America, of their day, for Rubenstein finally came to the United States on a concert tour which netted him $60,000 and sent his audiences into frenzies of adoration, but nearly killed him. Her book re-creates a period richly.

Oddly enough, as individual human beings, the Rubenstein brothers do not seem to come alive in these pages [as Tchaikovsky came alive, as a human being, in "Dear Friend"]. Perhaps that is because Mrs. Bowen rarely goes into intimate detail about their private lives. But as public figures, they are magnificently presented. Perhaps, after all, the "Free Artist" belongs primarily to the public, and to picture him as the public knew him is to draw him most truly.

Authors and Their Work

Seven weeks before he had completed his monumental "Moment in Peking" [Day, $3], and when it looked as if the task never would be done on schedule, Lin Yutang vowed not to have his hair cut until the last page was written. And he kept his vow! On the last afternoon, as he came to the last page, his daughters, Adet, Anor, and Mei-Mei Lin, who jointly wrote "Our Family," stood around his desk and sang a song. At 6:30 p. m. Papa Lin wrote the last line, threw down his pen, jumped up, and kissed the whole family—a very un-Chinese attention—and then rushed to the barber shop.

The first fiction from the pen of Noel Coward will be published Dec. 1, a collection of short stories entitled "Step Aside" [Doubleday-Doran].

Nature Writer

Donald Culross Peattie, who takes all of nature, but mainly botany, as the subject for his "Flowering Earth," reviewed below.

"Flowering Earth," by Donald Culross Peattie. [Putnam, $2.50.]

The author of "An Almanac for Moderns," that lovely, wandering record of a naturalist's thoughts and dreams, now writes another lovely wandering record—this time mostly about botany. But so varied are Donald Peattie's interests in nature that no book of his is ever wholly and solely on its labeled subject. Here not only the flowering earth but the seas which encompass it and the air which bathes it call him. The flowering sea as well as the flowering earth lives in these pages, and the air is made brilliant by birds in flight and melodious by birds in song.

Such a book as "Flowering Earth" is not for every one. It is not for those who run as they read. It is not for those who wish gist and no gesture of the beautiful flight of winged words. It is no book for those who read merely for the facts which they can pigeonhole in their minds and never for the sheer lyric joy of a new idea.

"Flowering Earth" must be read slowly, not only because its richness and beauty is thus better savored, but because its style is intricate—not involved or unintelligible, but delicately interlaced with words which are scientists' words meshed in thoughts which are not commonplaces to laics like you and me.

"I have spent twenty years getting ready to write this book," says Mr. Peattie, " . . . and all the things that would make it thoro and dull I have tried to leave out. . . . I have put in some of my own adventures, too, and a lot of my own enjoyment.' That one important omission and those two positive ingredients make a book which the intelligent will find a real intellectual adventure. They will share its author's "own enjoyment" of rare and exciting discoveries. They will find him a philosopher and a poet who makes the whole flowering earth his reader's garden.

Vincent Sheean to Speak.

Vincent Sheean, author of "Not Peace But a Sword," will speak at 8:15 p. m. Friday at Thorne hall on his "Personal History."

Score of World Religions Put in a Single Volume

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

This typewriter is a dour, cantankerous thing. "Can it be that you—you—presume to review such books as 'The Bible of the World' and 'Personalities of the Old Testament'?" it accusingly asks. "Who told you that your petty undergraduate theological studies fitted you for such presumption?"

Absurd, of course, is the deflated admission. But at least we shall not let this mere writing machine demote us much below the level of the average person who likes to read startling—even sensational—things. Now there is "The Bible of the World," with its sacred literature of a score of world religions compressed into 1,415 pages!

You do not sit down and read a book like that from cover to cover. But this reader has had exciting hours, browsing thru "The Bible of the World," as thru a collection of rare editions. Yes, the Koran is there, lethally dull as ever. Use that instead of sheep counting after too many night coffees! Six pages to dreamland on the average! Book of Mormon takes about four for us.

But there's the work of the ancient Taoist writer, Chuang Tze, in the book. Run across a quotation like this on a dark night and then try to sleep: "Man's life is as the soot on a kettle. Yet men speak of the subjective point of view."

And, after reading on, learning not to take one's self too seriously—our main trouble—comes exquisite deflation of ego!

Nearly all Taoist wisdom literature is like that. For the timorous straddler of any issues of life there is this:

Everything is in the book—Hindu, Buddhist, Confucianist, Zoroastrian, Judeo-Christian, and Mohammedan writings. The Judeo-Christian Bible is topically arranged in historical sequence. The editor has done with the four New Testament Gospels what Tatian tried to do in the second Christian century, when Matthew, Mark, Luke, and John were blended into a single narrative.

This writer was in the Old Testament class at Berkeley Divinity school, New Haven, Conn., when Prof. James began his specialized studies of Old Testament characters. Even then, by using psychological approaches and intimate historical settings, Papa James took Moses, Isaiah, Jeremiah, Amos, and others out of traditional vacuity and put them on the city streets where, in the midst of kaleidoscopic drama of their times, they became superlatively romantic because they were real men facing the job of making the world go another way—and they did!

The Inquiring Reporter

Question.
What was the first book you ever bought for yourself?

Where Asked.
Michigan boulevard.

The Answers.

Miss Virginia Dwyer, 700 Lawrence avenue, radio—Black Beauty! I read it 10 times. I must have been 7 or 8 years old when I picked it out, and I remember that I charged it. We lived in Omaha. I still think it was a good buy for one so young.

Adolph Kroch, 206 North Michigan avenue, bookstore proprietor—Andersen's Fairy Tales. I saved candy money to buy it. The book contained 10 stories, so I took it apart and bound each separately. Those 10 volumes started my library. I now have 15,000.

Mrs. J. W. Neilson, Croydon hotel, actress—The Three Little Frogs. It was the first book written by my father, John Mee. My brother and I heard the story dozens of times before he wrote it. But I paid a dollar for the book. It's a grand tale for children.

John Rossi, 51 East Wacker drive, restaurateur—Napoleon's Life. I bought it in a French edition and I don't remember who wrote it. I admired Napoleon greatly then [I was about 25], and have read several other biographies of him since that time.

Sherman Koller, 3810 Fremont street, salesman—Black Beauty. I was 8 or 9 years old at the time and earned the money myself. I delivered clothes for a Chinese laundry in New York. I loved the book and read it often. I like to recall its thrills.

"The Smiler with the Knife," by Nicholas Blake. [Harpers, $2.]
"The Problem of the Wire Cage," by John Dickson Carr. [Harpers, $2.]

BY AL CHASE.

Tod Claymore, a newcomer in the mystery field, has turned out a brisk, droll account of a complicated British murder in "This Is What Happened." He's not a second Wodehouse, as the jacket suggests, but he's humorous in a quiet way. Writing in the first person and using his own name as narrator and amateur sleuth, Mr. Claymore has made his first crime novel a lively and readable one.

"The Smiler with the Knife" is an exciting story of a Nazi plot, headed by a prominent British nobleman, to overthrow England's present form of government. Nicholas Blake, who in reality is C. Day Lewis, an English poet and novelist, has written a Buchan-like book of thrills. From a slow start it gathers speed and winds up with a hair lifting climax.

John Dickson Carr, famous for his goose-flesh raisers, has written another mystery with England as its locale. "The Problem of the Wire Cage" is an ace baffler. In fact, it's so complicated a slaying that even old Gideon Fell's explanation lacks conviction. A second murder is even less satisfactorily explained. But if you like your mysteries mysterious, this will suit you.

Readers and admirers of Smiler Bunn, who for many years kept the English police jumping, will enjoy "Arsenic and Gold." Smiler is older, but still likes the thrill of dangerous action. In Bertram Atkey's new book he finds plenty of it, and also millions in a fabulous gold field in South America. It's one of the best of the fall mystery-adventure yarns.

What They Are About

FICTION.

A Master of Destiny, by Ida F. Powell [Chapman & Grimes, $2], weaves a story around the dangerous work of United States secret agents in the narcotics traffic.

NONFICTION.

Peace Under Earth, by Paul Beaujon [Dodd-Mead, $1], first privately printed as a Christmas greeting in 1937, now in a wartime world tells how the spirit of man takes refuge in the deep shelter of the heart.

Who Do You Think You Are? by Arthur J. Burks [Tremaine, $2], discusses genealogical influence on character.

Of celebrities you've heard about for years,
And of some who have just flared into fame.

Bachelors and Benedicts Will Dance Tonight

BY JUDITH CASS.

If the Bachelors and Benedicts are as insistent upon every one who is honored with an invitation to their annual ball accepting as are the governors of the assemblies, woe unto the five young women who received their first B's and B's bid this year and regretted because of absence from the city.

Miss Mary Ryerson would not be expected to attend the function tonight, for her family is in mourning for the death last week of the senior Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson, Mary's grandmother.

Of the thirteen second year girls invited to the ball at the Palmer House tonight only seven will be there: Miss Virginia Ballard, Miss Mary Hale, Miss Margaret Anne Burrows, Miss Sally Perry, Miss Margaret Hutchins, Mrs. Alexander C. Bell [Tita Johnson], and Mrs. T. Edward Wilder II. [Gene Manning]. Miss Barbara Mechem is in Magnolia, Mass., spending Thanksgiving with her fiancé, Benjamin Atwood Smith II.; Miss Nancy Orr and Miss Betty Mead are enjoying a whirl of house parties and football games in the east; Miss Edith Farwell is not coming, or perhaps cannot come home from Vassar for the holiday, and Miss Adelaide Chatfield Taylor is living in Washington, D. C., and is not coming west for the ball.

These young ladies, pretty and attractive as they are, will not be missed by any but their own devoted beaux, however, for there will be about 500 whirling on the dance floor by the time the party is well under way, probably around midnight.

Gay Dinners Precede Ball.

Preball dinners are numerous and gay and keep many from arriving at the ball until an hour when most of the men would insist upon being at home in bed if it were not that tomorrow is a holiday. There will be two orchestras, as usual, and also, as usual, a sitdown supper.

Receiving will be the wives of all but one of the benedicts, for the wife of the chairman, Gaylord Donnelley, is ill. Her sister, Mrs Wyndham Hasler, will be in the line and so will Mrs. John Jay Borland II., Mrs. George A. Ranney Jr., Mrs. Hugh McBirney Johnston, Mrs. George A. Poole Jr., Mrs. James O. Heyworth, Mrs. Potter Palmer III., Mrs. William B. Cudahy, Mrs. Peter Fortune, and Mrs. Garfield King. The bachelor hosts will be William R. Dickinson Jr., Thomas Albert Potter Jr., Arthur M. Wood, Dustin Grannis, and Howard F. Gillette Jr.

Tonight's ball will be the first one Miss Alice Babst of New York will attend; next year she will be Mrs. George P. Bent. Miss Babst arrives today to visit Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Ring, neighbors in Charlevoix, Mich., where Miss Babst's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl D. Babst, have a summer home.

Mr. Bent and his fiancée will dine tonight at Miss Elizabeth Brown's in East Walton place before going to the ball. Miss Brown's brother, Gardner Brown, and his fiancée, Miss Elizabeth Smith, will be the hostess' other honor guests.

Miss Ballard is going to the junior Henry A. Garners' preball dinner; Miss Hale and her brother, George E. Hale, are entertaining a group of friends; so is Miss Perry, who will have among her guests Miss Hutchins; the Bells are going to Miss Edith Harrison's party.

Among others giving dinner parties are the Heyworths, the Borlands, the John Peale Bents, John L. Fortune Jr., William A. Cremin, the Kendall I. Lingles, the Roy Flannerys, the Gail Bordens, the Charles S. Conelle, and Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln S. Harris.

Frederick B. Tuttle Gives Dinner Tonight.

All the fun in town tonight won't be had at the Bachelors and Benedicts', for a number of other parties have been planned. Frederick B. Tuttle is giving one of the gayest of these. It will be a dinner at his home in South Michigan avenue.

Mr. Tuttle, a noted host, is providing colored motion pictures for after dinner entertainment. The films will be more than usually interesting since they will be enlivened by tales of Mr. Tuttle's last trip abroad. The adventures include the arrest of Mr. Tuttle and his secretary and traveling companion, A. Paul Becker, in Sweden, to which country they had fled from Germany. Espionage was the charge.

Group Will Hunt Treasure Tonight.

A third party on the evening's program calls for sports clothes and quick minds. It is a treasure hunt, planned by a group of young women who were Pine Manor classmates. The party will start with cocktails at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herman L. Behrens, whose daughter, Miss Barbara, is one of the hostesses.

Dinner will be served at the home of Miss Elizabeth Stover in Wilmette. After the treasure hase been found the 20 couples competing will meet at Miss Ruth Rockwood's in Evanston for the awarding of prizes.

Friends of the junior Lucius P. Ordways, who used to live in Lake Forest, will be interested in the marriage of Miss Eliza Kent Wolff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Davis Wolff of New York, and Lucius Pond Ordway III., which took place yesterday in New York. The bride, a member of the Junior league, made her debut in December, 1931. The Ordways now live in New York and Palm Beach.

Mrs. Leander McCormick has joined Mr. McCormick in Edna, Tex., where he is engaged in business. Miss Marie Blanche McCormick, who is studying at the Goodman theater, has a studio apartment in the Drake court during her parents' absence, and her brother, Thiery de Tarnowsky McCormick, is at the University of Chicago.

Charities Hold Their Christmas Benefits

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Mrs. Nathaniel Duval (Elizabeth Crawford) had trouble in deciding which doll to buy yesterday at a Christmas sale, which wasn't surprising, for they all were attractive. The various charitable organizations that specialize in gifts suitable for Christmas are all having their sales earlier than usual this year. Yesterday the Woman's exchange, the Hull House shop, and the auxiliary of St. James' church all sold and took orders for Christmas novelties and goodies.

Thanksgiving Eve Dinner Must Be Easy

BY MARY MEADE.

[Copyright: 1939: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Tomorrow is the big day for many of us cooks. But today, the day before Thanksgiving, involves almost as much time in the kitchen. There's the turkey to be stuffed, the frozen or jellied salad to make, the nuts to be roasted, linens to be checked, dishes and glassware to be counted out, silver to be polished, table centerpiece to be prepared. Also all groceries must be on hand, and the house must be pretty well slicked up in expectation of tomorrow's company.

So what cook as busy as this has time to waste in preparation of today's meals? Tonight's supper should be an easy one to get, but, since a woman can scarcely excuse herself from satisfying her family's hunger by pleading "too busy," it will have to be a full meal, no matter how simple it is. Here is the solution to that problem:

ONE-DISH MEAL
Casserole of Beef, Tomato Soup, Onion and Noodles, with Parmesan Cheese
Sour Cream Cabbage Slaw with Celery Seed
French Bread [Bakery]
Fresh Fruit on Dessert Plates
Coffee

Casserole of Beef, Tomato Soup, Onion and Noodles.

[Serves Two to Three.]

1 onion, chopped
3 tablespoons butter
½ pound ground round steak
1 can concentrated tomato soup plus one cup water
1 No. 1 can corn
1¼ cups noodles, uncooked
Salt, pepper
½ cup grated Parmesan cheese

Sauté onion and ground steak in butter until onion is yellow and steak is brown. Add water to soup, bring to a boil, and add noodles. Cook noodles in soup until tender. Add other ingredients and pour into a buttered casserole. Sprinkle with grated cheese and bake for half an hour in a 400 degree oven.

The recipe may be increased for more persons by using one pound of steak and more noodles. A larger can of corn might be used, too. This dish is very adaptable and won't object to other vegetables if there are leftovers to be gotten out of the way before Thanksgiving. Leftover cooked peas, string beans, and carrots may be added or used in place of corn.

Sour Cream Cabbage Slaw.

[Serves Four.]

2 cups finely shredded cabbage
¾ cup thick sour cream
3 tablespoons vinegar
½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons surar
½ teaspoon paprika

Beat sour cream, vinegar, and seasonings together and mix with cabbage. Serve in salad bowl and sprinkle with celery seed. Or add one to two teaspoons of celery seed to the dressing.

FRESH FRUIT ON DESSERT PLATES.

Fresh fruit may look very tempting when arranged, ready to eat, on individual plates. Any combination may be used. Here is a suggestion: Cut small bananas in half crosswise on a slant. Peel one section of the skin halfway back on each half and place a half on each plate. Next to it place a small bunch of grapes, seedless white ones, fat rosy ones, or big purple ones. Then arrange several slices of red skinned apples and several slices of fresh pear on the plate. All of the pieces should be of a size to eat with the fingers. Leave the skin on the pears and make the slices fairly thick wedges. The whole pear might be cut in eighths. Cores should be removed from apple and pear.

For Little Girl and Doll

The frock for the little girl herself is a three piece ensemble, consisting of blouse, button-on skirt, and matching bolero. The blouse has a shirtwaist front and a girlish collar. The skirt and jacket might be of woolen, with the blouse of silk.

Style No. 2077 is designed for sizes 6, 8, 10, 12, and 14. Size 8 requires 2 yards of 39 inch material for bolero and skirt, and 1⅛ yards of 35 inch material for blouse.

Use Gold Beads as a String for New Necklaces

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Gold beads strung with larger beads in turquoise blue, coral or pearl is a new costume jewelry item that should go over big. It's effective without being junky or too gaudy. The necklaces are rather wide as are the matching bracelets, yet the results are ladylike and bright enough to high light your darkest clothes.

Also new are the pieces of lovely rosy pink branch coral and the extraordinary contrast of coral dipped or brushed with turquoise. These are the pieces that are perfect gift finds, seldom duplicated now in the present supplies or later in any models.

Jewel studded gold and silver kid-skin belts will add sparkle to otherwise dull dresses. The belts come in varied widths. Simulated rubies, emeralds, pearls, sapphires and glowing topaz are set lavishly in barbaric splendor. These are gift items for the shoppers with lists of debs, subdebs, and career girls.

The most exciting dress parade jacket in town is the swanky gold lamé model made of gleaming gold lined with blending gold colored crêpe. It's cut like a butcher boy jacket with simple collar lapels and patched on pockets trickily folded back for added trim. The sleeves are below the elbow length and straight. Resplendent glory for any gala occasion, a fine top frosting for dark and high colors, satin, crêpe, velvet, thin wool, or stiff brocades.

The best slicker yet presented is the shining black satin swagger topcoat with bright gold ball buttons. It is tailored in a masculine sleekness, has square cut shoulders and a center seam down the back. With it an umbrella that is black on the outside, fire red inside and finished with a matching crook handle and red ribs. A rainy day emsemble that is the last word in eye-catching swank.

★ THRU THE LOOKING GLASS ★

There is nothing gadgety about the neatest beauty trick of the week—the little sponges saturated in a delightful bath oil. They're fun, but they're eminently practical, too, especially for travelers.

These small sponges come in a dashing cylindrical carton. Dry, they look like small tablets of compressed cotton, in a heavenly shade of pink and perfumed to perfection. But in the warm water of bath tub or bowl they expand into washcloth size and are quite the softest, downiest wash cloth you've ever dreamed of using!

The scent is wonderful, and quite a familiar one. It's the fragrance of one of the most successful and exciting perfumes developed in years.

If you like you can use this scented washcloth for your whole bath. But we prefer to scrub first and then, as a finishing touch, to use this soft, scented, and smoothly oiled little square just before hopping out of the tub. We know it scents the skin and we hope fervently that that little bit of oiling won't be waste motion!

These make smart little gifts for the toe of any lassie's stocking, but they'll be particularly appreciated by those women who must travel and who would like to be spared the irritation of carrying an always wet washcloth among their belongings.

Learn to Say 'No' When You Are Reducing

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Saying no when you really mean yes may sound a little silly to you, but take our word for it, it is not as foolish as it sounds, if you're serious about wanting to reduce. What do we mean? We mean a negative answer instea dof an affirmative one when asked if you'd like butterscotch cream pie for dessert. It takes a lot of will power to eat a harmless slice of melon or a dish of stewed fruit when our mouths are watering for a tempting piece of cream pie. But once your order is given, and your waiter or waitress is on his or her way to the kitchen for it, you're pretty safe from changing your mind for the fattening dessert, for it takes a little more courage than most of us have to send the melon or fruit back once it's put before us.

The same no rule applies to other fattening foods on the menu. The best thing to do is to look the menu over hastily, select the consomme instead of the cream soup; a lean meat instead of a fatty one; two green vegetables instead of potatoes and a creamed vegetable; a nonfattening dessert instead of a "gooey" one, then give your order and sit back in your chair with your mind made up not to regret your choice when the food is put before you.

While you're waiting for the first course, however, don't be tempted to eat rolls, bread, and butter.

The Housewife

One of the most convenient items of kitchen or pantry equipment is a small stool and stepladder combination. It is used constantly, and so it pays to buy a good one. One of the best built and handiest stool and ladder we've come across has an automatic arrangement. The stool has a small chair back that folds down when not in use. When you lift this the rubber tread steps come out from underneath the stool and, presto, you have a ladder. When you fold it down the steps go back to a position where they are out of the way.

This ladder and stool comes in several colors. We're sure you'll like it.

The Mirror.

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 21.—Al Jolson checking in at a local hospital to have a metabolism inspection. . . . He never looked better in his life, but his pulse has been skittering around 130. . . . Jolson tells me that the marriage is definitely on the rocks.

Edgar Bergen, as a result of a terrific protest fan mail, will drop Mortimer Snerd quietly from his radio program in favor of Charlie McCarthy. . . . Twelve year old Elaine Schacht of Albert Lea, Minn., was so distressed to hear that Charlie couldn't get enough salary from Bergen that she mailed him eighty cents she'd saved. As a result the youngster will get a nice Christmas present from Bergen, plus her eighty cents.

Jeffery Lynn, off for New York and Boston, may get hitched to Doris Carson in the east. . . . If Vinton Freedley is searching for an off stage horn player to hit those notes for Burgess Meredith, he ought to get Erskine Hawkins, the Harlem trumpeter. . . . He's terrific.

No single issue is so exaggerated in this town as fan mail. . . . I've heard performers, with a straight face, confiding seriously that they receive several thousands of letters from their fans per week. . . . These figures are so silly that they indict the star who coins them.

Ann Sheridan, who topped every player in town at the time she was getting all of that high powered publicity, received between 300 and 400 letters a week. . . . Bergen, radio's top mail catcher, averages about 250 letters a week. . . . Fan clubs sometimes swell a player's mailbag, but only in fits and starts.

After seeing "Drums Along the Mohawk" this reporter is convinced that Claudette Colbert should go out of her way to get spotted in technicolor pictures. . . . I never realized that she had such striking eyes, but color accents them. . . . This is one of the grandest things Claudette ever has accomplished on the screen, and Henry Fonda gives added proof that he is going to be the top actor of the colony within the next twelvemonth.

Dies Committee Prayer.

Now that the Dies committee is in Chicago, bulletins John L. Aycock, I wonder if you can track down the truth of a statement that each session of the committee is opened with the prayer: "Give us this day our daily Red."

1889 Fur Wrap.

The beautiful and beloved Auditorium was packed for the Leave It to Me opening (with Vinton Freedley, the producer, one of the number), and once more lovely ladies in fashionable gowns and fur wraps graced the boxes. . . . One remembered the description of a fur wrap worn by Mrs. E. J. Lehmann at the dedication of the Auditorium Dec. 9, 1889, which William Shaw dug up. As described in a newspaper of the day:

It was a 52 inch seal cloak with a Queen Elizabeth collar. The lining was Russian sable edged with ermine. There was an outside trimming of natural blue fox, edged with white arctic fox, and the front, moreover, was trimmed with Australian moleskin, embroidered. Nor is this all. The cloak possessed, as well, a vest of natural white beaver dotted with Royal Bengal tiger teeth, each set in gold and with a gold tassel hanging from it.

Antipathies.

(After O. N.)

Hose worn outside in. . . . People who say, "Where'shbeen." . . . A Cheshire grin. . . . Orchestral din and Elinor Glyn. . . . More than one skin. . . . Didactic kin. . . . "Chiribiribin." . . . Deflating words, "returned herein."

Fifty Years of American Art.

Allow time enough, when you visit the Fifty Years of American Art exhibit at the Art institute, to savor it properly. . . . Notice the warmly personal prefatory exhibit at the entrance to the galleries; the photographs of the old Art institute; the pictures of the jurors who awarded the long series of prizes; the photographs of American artists . . . Henri's portrait of George Luks in a bathrobe; George Inness in his studio surrounded by paintings; Henri wearing a sweater; Saint Gaudens in a family group, with his father and his small son; Gari Melchers seated on the arm of a chair; Whistler ("Why Drag in Velasquez?") in his studio. Don't miss the cartoon by Luks of "Robert Henri and his sight." The eight who revolted against the classics indicated in the cartoon: Henri, Glackens, Everett Shinn, Arthur B. Davies, Ernest Lawson, Maurice Prendergast, Luks, and John Sloan. And observe the paintings of these men—Sloan's superb McSorley's Bar, Shinn's Concert Hall, and others that were departures for their period.

★ On the House ★

Windows often are planned for the best possible utilization of landscape possibilities, but where there is no landscape to be "captured" and where there may be even an objectionable view to be hidden, there are now available a number of pattern glasses.

One type of glass has louvre-like lines which exclude the exterior view, but bring in light and provide a decorative smartness.

Danger on the Border

By FREDERICK R. BECHDOLT

[Copyright: 1939: By Frederick R. Bechdolt]

SYNOPSIS.

Leonard speeds west by car after finding that the sample of ore sent to him by his sick friend, Dillon, is rich in gold. In Copper City he picks up two strange companions, Mrs. Sebastian, who owns a Mexican roadhouse, and Louis Mestres, who claims to be a line jumper. They leave just after the pay car of the Golconda mine. In a lonely spot they come upon the car—all occupants murdered, and the three holdup men still on the scene. They chase Leonard's car with a machine gun. Mestres drops tacks in the road and stops their pursuit. He recognizes one bandit as the mine's paymaster. Paul Collins, a crooked local assayer, tests Dillon's ore and gives him a false report. He enlists the aid of another rascal, Kent, to cheat Dillon. Dillon breaks the sad news to Pat, an orphaned girl who owns an old hotel, and who had staked him, then goes off to collect his tools. Arriving at Pat's hotel Leonard doesn't get a chance to ask her about Dillon. He sees her slip out in the night with a gun. Distrusting Kent, Collins decides to try to locate Dillon's claim. Kent, suspicious, puts Paparo, an old watchman, on the trail.

INSTALMENT IX.

A TRAP SET.

Kent was sitting behind his desk after he had finished the telephone conversation. He was thinking over this situation: It looked as if Collins might be trying to steal a march on him, and if that were the case he would know the facts before the evening was over, he would be in a position then to handle Collins very nicely. He was feeling pretty well satisfied with himself when the telephone bell rang.

"This is Taylor," the voice from the other end of the wire announced. Kent frowned as he listened to the tidings which the little paymaster of the Golconda Mining company gave him. It was the first news of the holdup but it was not unexpected by Vincent Kent. There was, however, an element of most unpleasant surprise.

"I think," the paymaster was saying guardedly, "that you will understand the gravity of this crime when I tell you that I saw two of the robbers. They came in a black sedan. One of them was, I believe, a Mexican. The other——"

The paymaster went on to describe Leonard and Kent's frown grew deeper. He swore under his breath. He said:

"We've got to find that man, Taylor."

"I've found his car already," came the paymaster's low voice. "It's parked in front of the hotel in Old Town. I'm going to——"

"You're going to sit tight," Kent interrupted. "I'll look into this. Come here and see me after supper."

"After he had hung up the receiver Kent slumped down in his wide-armed chair. He was accustomed to unexpected complications. Heretofore he had always welcomed them, he had taken considerable pride in his ability to turn them to his own advantage in dealing with accomplices and enemies. But for some reason which he could not understand, this development made him feel uneasy. Perhaps he had too many irons in the fire. Perhaps he was growing too old for this devious game. He shrugged his shoulders and got up from the chair.

He was on his way to the door when the phone rang again. This time it was a woman's voice that came across the wire from San Ilario, and as Kent listened, the frown which had settled between his brows, began to clear away. He said:

"You have done well to tell me this. You will go now to the lieutenant at the police station and you will tell him that one of the men who robbed the Golconda company's pay car is coming to the Casa Verdi tonight."

Then he left his office and drove down the empty street to the old hotel, and after he had made that surreptitious visit returned to Golconda, where he dined at the only decent restaurant in the raw young town. The evening was still young when he unlocked the street door of his office. His face was as expressionless as a pale mask. He crossed the outer room where the violent odor of five-and-ten-cent store perfume lingered as a reminder of his sallow Mexican stenographer, and he opened the door of his private sanctum. In a chair before the desk sat Taylor, the paymaster.

Kent nodded at him and took the chair behind the desk. When he had settled himself comfortably he said:

"I didn't like this idea of robbing the pay car from the start. If you'll remember, Taylor, I told you so. Those two fellows are all right in town but they've got no more business out here in the desert than a pair of canary birds."

The other started to speak but Kent held up his hand.

"I'll do the talking now. Don't interrupt. You've heard of fool's luck. Well, you've had some of it. Just after you telephoned, I got word from across the line. It happens that your man's going over to San Ilario tonight. In the meantime I've given him the once over. You go back to the mine and I'll look after everything."

Kent had finished his conference with the paymaster and was sitting behind his desk, looking like a well satisfied black spider to whom flies are sure to come, when Paul Collins made his appointed call to consummate the bargain which had been agreed upon that afternoon.

There is no breeder of distrust so potent as one's own intentions to indulge in crooked practice. And Collins had never cherished any faith in the man with whom he had sought an alliance. Ever since he had seen the car leave the garage with the two discharged miners whom he had hired to follow Dillon as far as the end of the road where the latter would leave his own car and set forth on his claims afoot, regret had been growing stronger within him.

There is an old saying about minds which run in the same channels. The quality of greatness did not belong to either of these two intellects, which were about to come to grips across that desk top, but they had a common quality of crookedness. Kent watched his visitor with cold eyes which held no hint of their close regard. He said:

"Sit down. Make yourself comfortable." And when the other had sunk into a chair: "If you don't want to go on with that proposition it's O. K. with me." The oiliness had left his voice; he shot the suggestion with a disconcerting abruptness. Collins caught his breath. It was as if his host had read his thoughts.

"What gave you that idea?" he demanded a little thickly. "Who said I wanted to back out?"

Kent shook his head and smiled. "It wasn't that. But I've been thinking—this business is going to run into money before we're through."

He leaned back in his chair, watching the face across the desk change color. His smile grew more secretive. Collins remained silent. Now that the idea with which he had been toying was offered to him, it had lost some of its appeal. Not as an idea, but because of the source whence the offer came. That talk of money did not ring exactly true; if Kent had owned any misgivings on this subject he would have voiced them in the beginning. No. There was something behind the ultimatum. Something which he could not place, but it was there just the same. Maybe Kent had acquired a little information of his own. The thought brought panic. That would be calamity, nothing less—Kent as an adversary.

"I supposed," Collins said at length, "you'd figured on that end." Kent shrugged his shoulders.

"I'd figured on it, yes. And I can handle it. But before I go on with it, I want to know a thing or two. How about Dillon?" That was easier. Collins straightened in his chair.

"He took it pretty hard. He's on his way to the claims now. Going to get his tools together and come back to town."

"And now," Kent went on smoothly, "do you figure on locating that vein of his? I'm putting up the dough, you know. You're putting up the information." Collins had been considering the answer to this question, he had known it was going to come sooner or later.

"Don't worry. I'll handle that as soon as he shows up in town again. I'll back track Dillon."

"I'll want to know that you've done it." Kent told him quietly. "And I'll want to know that there's been no mistake as to the claims. It would be just too bad if you happened to slip up there." He drummed the desk top with his fingers and when he spoke again his voice had taken on the harsh note once more. "You've got some of Dillon's ore, of course?" And as the other nodded, "O. K. I want to see it. Now."

Then Collins had the inspiration which was to bring results of a far different nature than he dreamed.

P.-T. A. and School Launch Era of Friendship

The board of education and representatives of the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers held a most amicable meeting in session yesterday. Representatives of the congress were invited by Dr. William McCahey, president of the board, to meet with the board to discuss the working basis of cooperation in the event of antagonism. Mrs. H. H. Cahey, president of the congress, Mrs. Cahey declared the exchange would benefit the school system.

Parental Faith Greatest Need of Your Child

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

At the luncheon which marked the opening of Better Parenthood Week not long ago, there were a number of interesting speeches. Two contained portions which appealed especially to me.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt said the most important thing we can do for our children is to love them, to stand by them no matter what they do, and to have faith in them. All this even when they are doing things that do not seem to us to be in line with what we have taught them and hoped for them. In the end, if our children know that we are expecting the best of them, this knowledge will influence them.

We parents cannot be all wise and all powerful. Our children cannot learn to live all at once. We must be patient. In the process of their maturing, mistakes will be made by us and by them. Thru the years of adolescence and even beyond, the truest bulwark we can represent for them is an unfailing love, an unwavering faith, and an unswerving loyalty.

This love and faith and loyalty do many things for children. One of the greatest is that it gives them faith in themselves. When disillusion comes after they are out in the world, when friendships fail, when someone "doublecrosses" them, when they make the acquaintance of jealousy and envy and "belittling," when they meet with rebuff and failure, they can take it better and it gives them confidence in themselves if in the world there exists someone who loves them, believes in them, and stands by them. Who should that be if not their parents?

A Mothers' and Fathers' Litany is helpful to parents. Send postage only with your name and address for it. Address Mrs. Gladys Bevans, The Chicago Tribune, Chicago.

Secret of the 'Older' Men's Charm Is Told

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Why is it that young girls so often "fall" for an older man in preference to a man around, say, 25, who is their own age? Just what is this fascination the older man around 38 or 40 has? Why doesn't the younger man hold as much fascination?

We think we have the answer—at least part of it—for we've seen the situation at close hand several times recently and are going to pass along our observations to you to see if you don't agree with us. We hope the younger men who read this column today will take this lesson in love we're trying to give them in the spirit in which it is meant, and profit by it.

The older men, we've observed, seem to "understand" women a little better than the younger men do. They know we like lots of attention—flowers, keeping in touch with us by telephone even tho, every time they call, they cannot make a definite appointment to see us; complimenting us with gentle words and a flattering look in their eyes when we're wearing a new dress, or a new coiffure; remembering to tell us how "sweet" we are, etc. Because of their wider experience, too, they are more at ease in the social graces, which means they are always in "command" of any situation in which they find themselves, something which makes us women feel so safe and helpless in their presence—a feeling we all enjoy.

P.T. A. and School Board Launch Era of Friendship

The board of education and representatives of the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers held their first joint meeting in several years yesterday. Representatives of the congress were invited by James B. McCahey, president of the board, to meet with the board to develop a working basis of coöperation instead of antagonism. Mrs. H. M. Mulberry, president of the congress, and McCahey declared the exchange of ideas would benefit the school children.

A Founder Is Soloist with Her Symphony

BY CECIL SMITH.

Thirteen years ago Lois Bichl and two other Chicago woman musicians founded the Woman's Symphony orchestra. Last night in Orchestra hall Miss Bichl, now principal cellist of the orchestra, appeared as soloist with the group she helped bring into existence.

She played the first local performance of the little known Schubert-Cassado Concerto in A minor and served as soloist in Irwin Fischer's Lament for cello and orchestra, a work which is dedicated to her. After the concerto she was warmly applauded and almost hidden behind an imposing floral tribute.

The concerto is more a musical curiosity than a masterpiece. Originally written as a sonata for a short-lived instrument of Schubert's day called the arpeggione [a guitarlike cello with six strings], it was reworked for the cello and provided with an orchestral accompaniment a few years ago by Gaspar Cassado, noted Spanish cellist. It is an agreeable, if not especially striking, addition to the limited literature for cello and orchestra.

Mr. Solomon conducted the American première of "Cotillon," a suite of seventeenth and eighteenth century English dance tunes arranged—and, I am afraid, considerably vulgarized—by Arthur Benjamin.

The orchestra played excellently in a luminous, if not always structurally coherent, performance of the Chausson symphony. Saint-Saëns' Overture to "The Yellow Princess" and Johann Strauss' "Tales from the Vienna Woods" rounded out the program.

It was announced that the soloist, hitherto unannounced, in the orchestra's next program Dec. 19 will be Jacques Gordon, violinist and former concertmaster of the Chicago Symphony orchestra.

Unusual, Lovely Dish Cloth

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Here is a dish cloth so unusual and attractive that it would look quite appropriate as a boutonniere or on one of those funny looking hats. The pot plate mats, in three sizes, would make splendid gifts or bridge prizes. Bright cotton is used for the dish cloth, and it is edged in contrasting Goldwick cotton. A heavy perle mercerized cotton is selected for the hot plate mats in three sizes.

For instructions in crocheting the dish cloth and hot plate mats, No. X-227, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 East Forty-second street, New York City.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1939: By Ely Culbertson.]

Some years ago, when I was a chess enthusiast, I witnessed a very curious match game. One player analyzed all the variations for the next dozen moves and discovered that he was certain to win. But he eventually lost the game because he inadvertently made his 26th move when he really should have made his 25th!

There are bridge players, too, who make just that type of mistake. They make all the right plays, but in the wrong sequence. Here's the sort of thing I mean:

South, dealer.

NORTH
♠K Q J 7
♥10 2
♦A K 9 6 5
♣A 4

WEST
♥K Q 8
♦J 10 7 4
♣Q J 7

EAST

♥9 7 4
♦Q 8 3 2

SOUTH
♠A 5
♥A J 6 5 2

♣K 10 8 6 3 2

The bidding:

| South | West | North | East |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 club | Pass | 2 diamonds | Pass |
| 2 hearts | Pass | 3 spades | Pass |
| 3 hearts | Pass | 5 clubs | Pass |
| 6 clubs | Pass | Pass | Pass |

North's jump raise to five clubs was quite sound despite the fact that he held only a doubleton in this suit. South's bidding proved he had a six card club suit, for his rebid in hearts showed a five card suit and his opening bid of one club indicated he had more clubs than hearts. North could therefore be quite confident that his doubleton club constituted sufficient trump support. After North's terrifically strong bidding [he had made a forcing take-out and then a jump raise in clubs] South felt that his holding warranted a slam contract.

West opened the king of hearts, hoping to establish a trick in that suit in addition to his sure trump winner. South won with the ace of hearts and did a little rapid thinking. He noticed that a trump trick would have to be lost unless one of the opponents held the doubleton Q-J of clubs. Since this was a little too much to hope for, it was necessary to find a parking spot for his four small hearts. Two of them could be discarded on dummy's high diamonds; the other two on the third and fourth rounds of spades.

His analysis completed, South led the ace and king of clubs, drawing all the adverse trumps except West's queen. He then proceeded to take his discards. His analysis had been correct and he had all the right plays in mind. But he made the mistake of running the spades before touching his diamonds. Naturally, West trumped the fourth round of spades and hastily cashed the queen of hearts, defeating the slam contract.

South would have made his slam if he had simply cashed the ace and king of diamonds before running the third and fourth round of spades. In that way he would get rid of two hearts on the high diamonds and two more on the spades. West might trump the fourth round of spades, but by that time South would have rid his hand of all heart losers.

The necessity of cashing the diamonds first is readily apparent. South must obtain three discards without losing the lead, but doesn't care if the high trump is taken on his fourth discard. This boils down to taking three rounds of spades and one round of diamonds and then choosing whether a fourth round of spades or a second round of diamonds is more likely to survive. Obviously, the second round of diamonds had a better chance of "getting by" than a fourth round of spades.

Russian Trio Shows Skill in Turina Work

BY EDWARD BARRY.

The Russian trio—violin, cello, piano—gave at the Arts club yesterday noon what was probably the first Chicago performance of Turina's second trio. This is a difficult, moody work whose wealth of vivid idea might betray less skilled executants into forced, unmusical playing. But the presentation yesterday was contained, balanced, and beautiful of texture.

At its conclusion the trio offered a suave arrangement of the "Londonderry Air" as encore. The piano of Nina Mesirow-Minchin, the violin of Herman Felber, and the cello of Ennio Bolognini had each an opportunity to sing bits of the tune in an expressive, finely inflected manner.

Kimball hall last night heard the last of the recitals given by winners of the 1939 contests of the Society of American Musicians. The artists were Vivian Louise Martin, organist, and Mildred Catenhusen, cellist.

In music ranging from classical times to the present Miss Martin revealed a good ear for registrations, an adequate technique, and a general dignity of style.

Miss Catenhusen, whose contribution was as varied in time and character as those of her co-recitalist, played with resonant tone and with genuine nobility of phrasing.

BYRD'S FLAGSHIP BIDS U. S. ADIEU ON POLAR VOYAGE

Sails from Philadelphia in Cold, Wind and Snow.

With a cold North wind driving big flakes across her decks, the 1,434-ton wooden craft with a crew of 70 headed down the Delaware river toward the Atlantic on the second leg of her voyage to Little America. She arrived here last week from Boston to take on planes and weather instruments.

Sailing was delayed two hours while the expedition's mountainous snow cruiser, Penguin I., was made more secure. Other equipment ranges from puppy dogs to army tanks. Two airplanes, complete with ski landing gear, were stowed away yesterday.

Admiral Byrd will board the North Star at Panama, where she is expected to meet her sister expedition ship, the old barkentine Bear, at the end of the month.

The ships will make last contact with civilization about Christmas in New Zealand, where they will refuel.

Ridgewood Area Residents Reject Joliet Annexation

Residents of a district known as Ridgewood and of several other suburban areas just east of Joliet turned down a proposal for annexation to that city by a vote of 1,169 to 942 yesterday. There are about 3,300 voters in the area, which includes about three square miles and a total population of 9,000. It was the second time annexation had been voted down.

MAYOR GREETS PAN-AMERICAN CITY LEADERS

Representatives of major cities in nine Central and South American countries who met in Chicago yesterday for the first assembly of the Pan-American commission on intermunicipal coöperation were told by Mayor Kelly in an address of welcome:

"If the Americas are to build a better standard of living, if they are to come out on top in the fight against disease, bad housing, and unemployment they must start together, stick together, and end together."

Mayor Daniel W. Hoan of Milwaukee said that cities can do much that diplomats are unable to accomplish in promoting international good will because they are "thinking in terms of human welfare rather than in terms of battleships and ordnance."

President Roosevelt sent a message of greeting to the commission, which was organized a year ago at the Pan-American congress of municipalities in Havana. Representatives of Cuba, Brazil, Argentina, Chile, Colombia, Costa Rica, Ecuador, Haiti, and Mexico are meeting thruout the week at the Public Administration Clearing house, 1313 East 60th street.

ARM TORN, CHEST PIERCED IN LONE FIGHT WITH BEAR

SEWARD, Alaska, Nov. 21 (AP).—His left arm shattered and his chest punctured, Alexis Ungyak, a 57 year old native, arrived today with a tale of killing a brown bear in a terrific battle on a lonely trap line.

The fight took place two weeks ago, seven miles from his cabin, more than 400 miles west of here. The wounded native hobbled seven miles for aid; a partner assisted him 25 miles more to Chignik, and a boat brought him here. A physician believed Ungyak would recover.

Ungyak said the wilderness battle began after he shot the charging bear in the mouth. The bear hugged, clawed, and bit, but the native succeeded in freeing his uninjured arm and slashed the animal to death.

BATISTA ADMITS DEFEAT IN CUBAN ASSEMBLY VOTE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba, Nov. 21.—Col Fulgencio Batista, the strong man of Cuba, tonight admitted defeat in the constituent assembly elections of Nov. 15, when final official returns were announced by the supreme electoral court.

The combination of Conservative opposition parties, whose leaders included several former presidents of Cuba, polled 529,700 votes. The government grouping of parties, led by Batista and President Federico Laredo Bru, polled 514,343 votes. The opposition elected 41 delegates to the constituent assembly and the government 35.

The government's defeat shattered Batista's presidential aims and also his plans to control the writing of a new constitution. President Bru said, "the elections were the fairest ever held. The results need no comment."

Rock Island Council Weighs Plan to Double Tavern Fee

Rock Island, Ill., Nov. 21 [Special.]—The Rock Island city council today considered doubling license fees for taverns in an effort to bring the number down to 80. Licenses now cost $500. If the fee were doubled it would be back where it was in prerohibition days.

'Grapes of Wrath' Wins in 2d Round with Civic Virtue

East St. Louis, Ill., Nov. 21 (AP).—The public library board today rescinded its recent order to burn its three copies of "The Grapes of Wrath" on the contention John Steinbeck's book was "not fit for any one's daughter to read." The books will go back on the library shelves tomorrow—for "adults only." Members favoring today's action considered it a triumph of personal liberty over civic virtue.

OHIO LOSES STAR BACK FOR MICHIGAN GAME

N. U. PLOTS WAYS TO SLOW DOWN THIS MR. KINNICK

Statistics Prove His Work Devastating.

Yesterday was defense day at Northwestern's football practice and, needless to say, the Wildcats spent most of the afternoon devising ways and means of halting Nile Clarke Kinnick, No. 1 iron man of the Iowa football team which will visit Dyche stadium Saturday for the final game of the season.

John Haman.

Kinnick, who has carried much of the burden of Iowa's amazing progress this season, looms as the biggest problem confronting the Wildcats.

Here's What He's Done.

Reasons why Northwestern fears the versatile young man from Adel, Ia., may be gleaned from the following evidence of his performances this fall:

1. Scored five touchdowns on runs ranging from four to 65 yards.
2. Completed 28 passes, 11 for touchdowns, for a total of 630 yards.
3. Gained 361 yards by rushing in 69 attempts for 3.6 yards average.
4. Punted 59 times for an average of 43.3 yards.
5. Returned 29 punts and kickoffs for 355 yards, an average of 19 yards per return.
6. Drop kicked 11 points after touchdowns.
7. Scored 41 points on five touchdowns, 11 points after touchdown, and three passes that scored 65 other points.
8. Played 60 minutes in each of the last six games.

Wildcats Have Haman.

Mike Enich and Wally Bergstrom, tackles, have played 60 minutes in each of Iowa's last five games; Capt. Erwin Prasse and Dick Evans, ends, have played all of each of the last three games, and Ken Pettit and Herman Snider, guards, and Bruno Andrusky, center, also have filled iron man roles.

While Northwestern cannot match Iowa in 60 minute men, the Wildcats have one player whose time in action rivals that of the Hawkeyes. He is John Haman, veteran center, who played 60 minutes against Minnesota, 59 minutes against Notre Dame, and all or more minutes of every other game on the schedule.

Saturday's game will mark the last appearance of 19 seniors in a Wildcat uniform. The group consists of 13 linemen and six backs, as follows:

GUARDS—Hal Nethed, Don Gurits, John Golich, and Jim Liddell.
CENTER—John Haman.
QUARTER BACKS—Nick Conteas and Jack Ryan.
FULL BACKS—George McGurn and Harry Wiers.

IOWANS' BIGGEST JOB AHEAD.

Iowa City, Ia., Nov. 21 [Special].—The University of Iowa football team, which yesterday had its courage set before the student body as a splendid example to follow, today faced what it termed as its biggest and most important task of the entire season—defeating Northwestern in Evanston Saturday.

Combined with a wholesome respect for the Wildcats is the fact that this is the game Capt. Erwin Prasse of Chicago has set his heart on winning. Following yesterday's pep meeting at which the student body acclaimed the team, virtually every member of the squad that spoke said "this is the one that Prasse wants, and we are going to do everything in our power to g've it to him."

This One's for Prasse.

The big senior end, who was chosen all-conference last year and is the only man now enrolled in the university who has a chance to duplicate the feat of five former Hawkeye athletes in winning nine major letters, has expressed the desire all season of leading an Iowa team to victory over the Wildcats before the home folks.

While Prasse, Evans and McLain are expected to be very much a part of the Iowa team in its final stand of the 1939 season, it appeared today that Andrusky, who has played three consecutive performances in Iowa's last three showings, would not be available against the Wildcats. Luebcke has been out since early in the season as a result of a hernia operation. Nebraska was lost in the Minnesota game as a result of a fractured wrist.

The trouble with most of us people today
We've attuned ourselves to thrills,

On high we must take all the hills;
Going places and doing things,
Whether there's reason or rhyme—
With petrol to burn we have no time to learn
That the band can't play ALL the time.

Just to keep movin's the ticket,
If there's some place to go or not—
To the movies in the wintertime,
To an air cooled spot if it's hot;
Just so we aren't left by ourselves
But remember, old top, one day this must stop—
The band can't play ALL the time.

Seems to have lost its appeal,
We've got to be off where the music blares,
Is it ourselves we are fleeing from,
If so, make an end, snap out of it, friend,

FOOTBALL JUST FOR FUN BRINGS PERFECT RECORD

Swarthmore, Pa., Nov. 21 (AP).—Football just for fun, with practice when it doesn't interfere with studies, has sent the Swarthmore team thru the season undefeated.

Under President Frank Aydelotte's policy of no scholarships, no professionalism, and no undue emphasis, Swarthmore has won 11 games, tied two, and lost one in two years.

Dr. Aydelotte, who leaves Swarthmore next year after 18 years, considers the record "an unexpected triumph in our policy of playing just for fun." Lew Elverson, former Penn half back, is the coach.

"The college has a sports for all policy, with 70 per cent of its enrollment of less than 1,000 participating in intramural competition. Football gets no more attention than any other sport."

TWO CHAMPIONS REACH FINALS OF C. Y. O. TOURNEY

Moon Joins Goldsmith in Title Round.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Sixteen open division fighters and 16 novices remained in the running for Catholic Youth Organization boxing championships as the semifinals of the ninth annual tournament were concluded last night in C. Y. O. Center. The survivors will meet in the Stadium a week from tonight with the titles at stake.

Six of last year's champions started out in quest of 1939 crowns when the fighting began several weeks ago but the competition has been so rigorous that only two of those were left standing when last night's bouts were over. These were Willie Moon and Willie Goldsmith.

Moon Whips Guerra.

Moon reached the finals with a handy victory over Fred Guerra of St. Columbkill last night. He was the 1938 flyweight champion but he is now competing in the 118 pound division. Goldsmith, who has moved up from the lightweight to the welterweight class, won his semifinal bout on Monday night.

The most recent defending champion to fall was Hiner Thomas, who lost his middleweight semifinal to Isaiah Wells last night. Frank Bausone, Wayne Fidler, and Joe O'Connell were the other 1938 title holders who went out earlier in the tournament.

Tony Bausone Wins.

In one of the hardest fought bouts of the evening Tony Bausone won a decision over Teddy Sparrow. This was in the 118 pound class, the division in which Tony's brother, Frank, was champion last year.

The welterweight final will be a return engagement of last season's lightweight championship bout with Goldsmith meeting Harry Sparrow. Both are southpaws. Cornelius Young, a former champion, is back in quest of the heavyweight title. He will meet James Stift.

Plenty of Questions but No Answers

Thomas Refuses to Testify at New York Quiz on Expose

New York, Nov. 21 [Special].—The New York state athletic commission's investigation into the confession of Harry Thomas that he engaged in fixed fights against Max Schmeling and Tony Galento was adjourned indefinitely today, stymied on constitutional grounds. That Thomas threw the two fights was disclosed recently in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

Acting on the advice of his counsel, John F. Dailey, the Eagle Bend, Minn., heavyweight repeatedly declined to answer questions put to him by Maj. Gen. John J. Phelan, chairman of the commission. Thomas based his refusal, he said, on the ground that to do so might tend to incriminate or degrade him.

Managers Fail to Attend.

This was his answer to a direct question as to whether his fight here against Schmeling on Dec. 13, 1937, was fixed. It was this fight with which the commission was concerned. The Galento fight was held in Philadelphia.

In the Schmeling fight Thomas lost on a knockout in eight rounds when Referee Arthur Donovan stopped the battle after Thomas had been floored five times.

All who were mentioned in Thomas' confession were present with the exception of Managers Joe Jacobs and Nate Lewis. Commissioners Bill Brown and D. Walker Wear flanked Chairman Phelan. Promoter Mike Jacobs of the Twentieth Century Sporting club testified. So did Referee Donovan and Billy [Kid] McPartland, one of the judges. All insisted the bout was genuine.

Promoter Identifies Check.

Promoter Jacobs, disavowing knowledge of private agreements or contracts associated with the fight, identified a check for $4,451.64 as the sum paid to Manager Lewis for Thomas. The fighter had said he did not remember the amount received for the bout. He declined to give either an affirmative or negative answer to any major question, tho they were fired in a veritable broadside.

Emphasizing that what was repeatedly referred to as the "purported confession" had placed boxing and the state of New York in a bad light, Gen. Phelan exhibited the official contract for the battle and asked Thomas if he had signed it. The heavyweight said he had. This, and the statement he was paid "something in the thousands" for the Schmeling fight, were the only direct replies Thomas made.

Thomas Is Vague.

He refused to say whether he had entered an agreement other than the contract exhibited. Likewise, he would not say whether he was sure he was correctly quoted in newspaper articles on the matter, whether he made the statements credited to him, what he said over the radio from the ring after being knocked out, what his percentage was for the fight, or who collected his check.

At one stage of the proceedings Thomas stated: "I don't feel like I want to be sent up the crick' for something just to help the commission."

Thomas Tried, Says Donovan.

Thomas called attention to the fact that he carried the fight to Schmeling for four rounds, but declined to answer why he assumed the aggressive or whether the knockdowns he suffered were legitimate.

"There is no question in my mind Thomas did his best to win," testified Donovan. "I stopped the bout when it ceased to be a contest and because of the severe condition of Thomas' mouth from Schmeling's punches."

Judge McPartland supported this view. The other judge, Charles Lynch, is dead.

Max Schmeling's in Berlin, but What of Actress Wife?

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Nov. 21.—Max Schmeling, former heavyweight boxing champion of the world, has returned from Spain and Portugal, where he says he got pictures to be used as a background for a film in which his wife, Anny Ondra, is playing. When interviewed by a TRIBUNE correspondent, Schmeling talked at length about this picture of blonde Anny, whose absence from the screen has been so protracted that many of her admirers assert she is in trouble with the Nazis.

Anny is a Czech by birth and has been living in comparative retirement on Max's estate, Ponnickel, in Pomerania.

Schmeling told a TRIBUNE correspondent that he expects to fight the German heavyweight, Walter Neusel, next May, but until then he plans to spend most of his time at Ponnickel. Asked, "Do you expect to be called to the colors soon?" Max answered, "I'll go when I am called."

Despite Schmeling's assurances that he intends to spend the next month in Germany, friends assert he went to Spain to investigate the possibility of going to America by way of the Azores because "he would like to have another crack at Joe Louis, Champion Joe Louis."

They declare, "the matter is rather complicated because Max's wife can't go along." Why she is not able to go everybody who was questioned refuses to reveal. It is known that a large number of Czechs have not been allowed to leave Germany, but thru her marriage, Anny became a German and therefore should, under normal conditions, be allowed to travel with her husband. Both Max and Anny are sure there is no marital rift in their lives.

SHELL RETURNS TO TROJAN TEAM; DE LAUER IS OUT

Tucson, Ariz., Nov. 21 [Special].—Capt. Joe Shell returned to action with the Southern California football squad today as the South Bend bound Trojans stopped off in Tucson to engage in a two hour practice session on the University of Arizona field. Out of the game for the last three weeks with an injured knee, Shell trotted through a light workout at his blocking back position on the second eleven.

Dr. Packard Thurber, team physician, announced that Joe probably would be in good shape for duty against the Irish. This was good news for Coach Howard Jones, since Bob Hoffman, for whom Shell subs, has been slowed down for several days with a severe cold and likely will be able to play only part time.

De Lauer Definitely Out.

Also heavily bundled up in today's workout because of colds were Left Ends Bill Fisk and Al Krueger, Quarter Back Grenny Landsell, and Right Tackle Phil Gaspar.

Dr. Thurber pronounced Bob De Lauer, alternate right tackle, definitely out of the Notre Dame game because of a knee injury sustained in the recent Stanford contest, and Jones moved to bolster the position by having Carl Benson, reserve right guard, learn the tackle assignments as well as his own.

IRISH TO LOSE 16.

Notre Dame, Ind., Nov. 21 [Special].—Ten Notre Dame starters, and half a dozen reserves will finish their Notre Dame careers against undefeated Southern California here Saturday.

Coach Elmer Layden forgot about offense in today's drill, held in a light snow, and concentrated on setting up a defense for the Trojans, who have averaged 23 points to opponents' 2 in 6 games to date.

JIM LANGHURST HURT; REPLACED BY HALLABRIN

Purdue's Hennis on Sidelines, Too.

Columbus, O., Nov. 21 [Special].—The Ohio State football squad practiced today for Saturday's all important Michigan game with the knowledge that its star full back, Jim Langhurst, will have to see the battle from the sidelines in the Michigan stadium at Ann Arbor.

Langhurst suffered a knee injury in the game with Illinois last Saturday and Coach Francis Schmidt and the team were notified today by Dr. Walter Duffee, team physician, that his participation in the Michigan battle was "out of the question." He has strained ligaments and is on crutches.

Hallabrin Learns Assignment.

As the consequence the team lined up in the rain with Johnny Hallabrin at full back. At times during the workout, which featured preparation to stop Michigan's Tom Harmon, two other backs, Tommy Wellbaum and Johnny Rabb, spelled Hallabrin.

The last part of the day's practice was spent in running thru plays with emphasis on the part Hallabrin is to play.

The remainder of the Buckeye first team will start as usual with Sarkkinen and Clair at ends, Maag and Daniell, tackles, Noaker and Marino, guards, and Andrake at center while in the back field will be Scott, Straubaugh, and Zadworney.

KROMER REJOINS SQUAD.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 21 [Special].—When Fritz Crisler, Michigan coach, called a Monday practice session for the regulars yesterday, he not only caught Half Back Paul Kromer unaware but stirred up a small tempest in the Detroit press.

Since the season began, the regulars had been excused from practice on Mondays and Tail Back Kromer was counting on that yesterday when he stopped off at his city, Lorain, O., to visit his girl after the Wolverines' victory over Pennsylvania at Philadelphia Saturday.

Noting that Kromer was out of town and that the football team practiced, one Detroit newspaper spread a story that Michigan's star had quit the team. Before the paper was on the streets last night, however, Kromer arrived back in Ann Arbor and the dissension story was spoiled.

HENNIS' KNEE HURT.

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 21 [Special].—Ted Hennis, Purdue's senior veteran quarter back whose crashing blocks have been an essential part of the Boilermaker attack for the past three seasons, today was declared by the team physician definitely out of Saturday's annual battle with Indiana for the old oaken bucket.

Examination of the knee injured in the Wisconsin game revealed torn ligaments, and a cast was immediately placed on the leg, removing all possibility of the Boilermaker pilot being able to see action in the season's finale.

With Hennis lost from the already depleted ranks, the quarter backing assignment will go to two other seniors, Fred Montague and Allen Shackleton, with Robert Kersey, sophomore, as possible replacement.

Johnson May Play.

The condition of the two other senior regulars injured in the Wisconsin game showed some improvement, and there was a slim possibility that Whitey Johnson, iron man tackle, may be able to play. The status of Felix Mackiewicz, another victim of a knee injury, remained extremely doubtful, however.

The first snow of the season drove the Boilermakers inside the field house for a lengthy workout as they strove to perfect an attack capable of matching the aerial scoring power of an Indiana eleven that will be favored to win by virtue of its more impressive showing against two common foes, Iowa and Wisconsin.

INDIANA HAS A BUSY DAY.

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 21 [Special].—Covering of punts and tackling were stressed by Coach Bo McMillin today as he sent the Indiana university football squad thru a strenuous defensive drill in preparation for the Purdue battle here Saturday.

McMillin warned the Hoosiers that they cannot afford to let Purdue's Mike Byelene get under way on punt receptions, and added that the Indiana brand of tackling will have to show improvement against the Boilermaker backs in general, who hold an advantage in speed.

"We have our defense all set," McMillin said, "if it just starts operating."

None of the members of this season's football team has ever played in a winning game against Purdue, as the Boilermakers have won the last two contests in the rivalry series, while the 1936 game ended in a 20 to 20 deadlock.

BRONKO NAGURSKI RETURNS TONIGHT TO CHICAGO RING

Wrestles O'Mahoney in Coliseum Show.

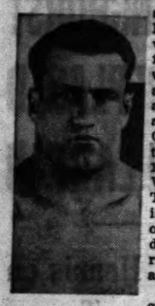
Bronko Nagurski, who became famous as a full back with Minnesota and the Chicago Bears, tonight will make his first Chicago wrestling appearance in 1 year and 10 months against Danno O'Mahoney in the Coliseum, 15th street and Wabash avenue. The engagement is scheduled for one hour, but no decision will be rendered unless a fall is scored.



Bronko Nagurski.

In his last Chicago start Nagurski threw Fritz von Schacht in the same hall. At the time Bronko claimed the world championship, but since then has lost his pretensions to the title.

Bronko has traveled the length and breadth of the land with great success during his absence, with the exception of his loss to Jim Londos. He defeated Chief Sanooke, Bibber McCoy, the Golden Terror, alias Bob Wetherly, Louis Thesz, Sandor Szabo, Tom Mahoney, George Zaharias, Fred Grumbier, Bobby Burns, Jack Frosgren, and Brother Jonathan.

Two other heavyweights are matched tonight. They are Everett Marshall, who will meet Chief Sanooke, and Joe Savoldi, who will oppose George Dusette. Fritz von Schacht is matched against Cowboy Hughes, Jack Conley against Seelie Samara. F. M.

Early this season the same teams played to a tie. Tomorrow's contest, if necessary, will be prolonged until a decision is reached.

In a preliminary, starting at 12 o'clock, the Schwaben and Olympia juniors will play for the Jackson trophy and the Illinois junior championship.

Early Naming of Best Eleven Is Hazardous

BY WILFRID SMITH.

In his anxiety to be first in the field, a radio commentator recently announced an All-American eleven for this season altho no conference and few major teams have finished their schedules. This eagerness is matched by the public to the extent that sectional champions and postseason game choices largely have been determined altho remaining games may upset these preconceptions.

Cornell is deemed the best team in the east, but Pennsylvania may successfully dispute the point Saturday and Duquesne also is undefeated. Texas Aggies, altho Texas still must be beaten, is given first place in the southwest. Tennessee is ranked first in the south, yet Tulane only has a tie with North Carolina on its record. Tennessee has Kentucky and Alabama Poly to face.

Others Are Good, Too.

Southern California and Tennessee, in the public mind, have been paired for the Rose Bowl and consensus says Tulane will meet Texas Aggies in the Sugar Bowl. Of course, there's Duke, victor over North Carolina, with only a 14 to 13 defeat by Pittsburgh against it.

The Trojans may be a powerful team and certainly they now are favored over Notre Dame, but still they may lose their conference championship, and thus fail to be chosen for the Rose Bowl. Moreover, Southern California may be defeated by Notre Dame this week. The Irish never have conceded an opponent anything but the chance to play, and the record for eight games, seven of which were won, shows that Notre Dame still has not risen to inspired heights.

First Trojan Test.

This is the time to remark that with the possible exception of the 19 to 7 victory over Oregon State, which then was entertaining championship ideas, the Trojans have not met any team that could test them. To this extent Southern California may be compared to Michigan in that the Wolverines sailed thru four games, but faltered when they met an inspired Illinois eleven.

Oregon tied Southern California in the opening game. Washington State, Illinois, California, Oregon State, and Stanford have been beaten. Stanford lost, 33 to 0, but Stanford and California are far below par. U. C. L. A., unless it comes a cropper against Oregon State or Washington State, is the team Southern California must whip for the coast title. And in the meantime, a week from Saturday, the Trojans must dispose of the University of Washington. Last year the Huskies defeated the Trojans, 7 to 6.

It's Going to Be Tough.

We are not going to climb out on the limb unnecessarily and say that Notre Dame will whip Southern California and that on Dec. 9 U. C. L. A. will take the Pacific Coast championship. However, Notre Dame is the best team Southern California has played. Since the series started in 1926, Notre Dame has won seven, lost five, and tied one. More important, Notre Dame has the incentive of the memory of the Trojans' victory a year ago which cost a national championship and the first unbeaten season since 1930.

Art Thurnblad Opens Drive for 3-Cushion Title

Art Thurnblad, former world three cushion billiard champion, will make his first Chicago appearance of the 1939-'40 season tonight at Bensinger's 131 South Wabash avenue recreation. Thurnblad meets Tom Fitzgibbon in the third contest of the 28 game round robin Chicago open three cushion tournament.

Art Thurnblad.

Thurnblad first came into international prominence in 1930, when he reached the finals of the world championship affair with Allen Hall, who, incidentally, is among the entrants in the present tourney. Hall was favorite to win, but the former draftsman beat him to the 15th point and the world title.

Since then Thurnblad has never missed an international tournament. He finished third behind Welker Cochran and Willie Hoppe in 1935, and fourth on two other occasions.

Fitzgibbon has been knocking at the door of big-time competition for several years and this marks his debut in the Chicago event. He is an excellent shotmaker and will shoot for 42 points, while Thurnblad has been handicapped at top scratch figure of 50.

Maniaci and Swisher to Be Fit for Bears Against Cardinals

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

Joe Maniaci and Bobbie Swisher, injured members of the Bear juggernaut, will return to their regular places in the lineup Sunday when the Cardinals and Bears close their seasons against each other in Wrigley field.

Maniaci, injured in the first Detroit game, and Swisher, hurt two weeks later in Detroit, have recovered sufficiently to take an active part in daily drills and will be ready to lend a hand in the Bears' fight to advance into a tie on the treadmill that is known as the National Football league championship race.

Osmanski Has Leg Bruise.

Maniaci's return is source of great enthusiasm in the Bear camp, for Bill Osmanski, the galloping dental student who all but clinched the full back job during Maniaci's absence, reported after Sunday's Philadelphia game with a badly bruised leg. In all probability Osmanski will not see much action, if any, against the Cardinals.

Bob MacLeod, the rookie right half back from Dartmouth, also reported with bruises, but expects to be set to play sixty minutes or any fraction thereof on Sunday.

Cards Are Determined.

The Cardinals returned to Wrigley field yesterday from a two week road trip and launched intensive training in an attempt to salvage some little consolation from a disappointing season by knocking the Bears out of the title race. George Faust, freshman quarter back and kicker from Minnesota, who was reported to have suffered several fractured ribs against Washington last week, was pronounced in good shape, having suffered only a few bruises. Otherwise the squad is in excellent condition.

Two of the eight Cleveland Rams who played 60 minutes to bring their coach, Dutch Clark, a 14 to 3 victory over the Detroit Lions last Sunday, are Cardinal castoffs. They are Dougal Russell and Elwyn Dunstan. A ninth Ram, Johnny Drake, of Purdue and Tribune All-Star fame, played all but several seconds of the game. Gaylon Smith, who relieved him, was in for only the last play.

Green Bay's Packers are good, New York's Giants are better, but Washington's Redskins are the best. Dissenters are referred to Clarence [Ace] Parker, the Brooklyn Dodgers' injured passing star, who has played against all three this year.

"Those Packers have class," Parker says, "but not enough of it to run away from the Giants and certainly not enough to get past Andy Farkas, Frank Filchock and the rest of that Washington mob. Given a few breaks, even our team might have pulled out the game against the Packers Sunday."

Green Bay won, 28 to 0. Green Bay also beat Washington, 24 to 14.

The Bears' total of 531 yards against Philadelphia last Sunday marked the second time in the history of the National Football league that a team has gained 500 yards in a game. The Bears did it against Brooklyn in 1935. Their performance against Philadelphia also set a record for gaining over 400 yards in a game. It was the fifth time this year they have marched the equivalent of four lengths of the gridiron in a single afternoon.

Tilden Defeats Schurz in Prep Soccer Game, 1 to 0

Tilden defeated Schurz, 1 to 0, in Sherman park yesterday in a City High School league soccer game. Joe Banny scored the goal in the first half.

VARIETIES VS. TRIANGLE.

Varieties will meet the Triangle A. C. in a Greater Chicago Football league game in Weber park, Wellington and Ashland, tomorrow afternoon at 2:15. A preliminary game will precede the league game. Sunday the league championship will be decided, with Mozart, undefeated and untied, meeting Lawndale.

BY JAMES SEGRETI.

Schurz High school's football team, the north side's candidate to represent the Public School league in Mayor Kelly's All-City contest on Dec. 2, confidently proceeds with its preparations for the league championship game with Fenger in Soldiers' field Saturday afternoon. The far south eleven is the favorite, but Schurz this season has given its best performances when playing the rôle of underdog.

There was little hope for the sectional championship when Schurz dropped a 7 to 0 contest to Amundsen early in the season. The north section began to rally around Lane Tech, which appeared to be the likely choice to win the title. Then something happened. In the last week of sectional play Schurz found itself tied with Senn, but a 14 to 12 victory over the latter eleven gave Schurz the right to play Austin, west division champion, in the semifinal round.

Austin Looked Tough.

The west side felt Austin could not be beaten. The school's supporters believed it had a team which compared with the great 1937 eleven which included Bill De Correvont, Alf Bauman, Chuck Feingarten, and Sonny Starr. Any one who doubted Austin's superiority was shown the team's sectional record of seven consecutive victories. It had a total of 187 points and only seven against it. Seymour Roth of Marshall sprinted 85 yards for a touchdown long after Austin had clinched victory.

Last Saturday afternoon Schurz trotted on the muddy Mills stadium gridiron. It was to become Austin's eighth victim. Instead, bewildered Austin players watched the north siders capitalize on a fumble and score early in the first period. In the second quarter, Jack Thompson, Schurz 152 pound right half back, scampered thirty-six yards for another touchdown. Austin tried valiantly to come back, but when the final gun sounded Schurz had triumphed, 27 to 13.

Thompson, Ed Martin, 180 pound quarter back, and Jack Vanderpoel, 17 year old left half back, were the leaders in the first half drive. Schurz unveiled another star ball carrier in the second half, Cliff Leibert, 160 pound full back. Schurz marched fifty-eight yards to a touchdown in the third period against Austin, Leibert smashing over the heavy Austin line on six of the fourteen plays required for the score.

Lineman Roll of Honor.

The Schurz linemen who turned back Austin's fleet ball carriers included Monno Mijanovitch, 170 pound center; Kirk Perry, 173 pound left guard; Hilliard Long, 178 pound left end, and Bob Moeller, 190 pound right end. Perry suffered a back injury in the game and may be unable to play against Fenger.

Moeller is considered one of the best kickers in the league. He failed to add the extra points after touchdown only twice during the season. Moeller's accurate kicks brought the north siders victory over Senn and a field goal gave them a 9 to 6 triumph over Sullivan.

Bob Koehler, Schurz coach since 1921, sent the squad thru a lengthy drill yesterday afternoon. Koehler's 1927 team, winner of the Public School league championship, played Mount Carmel for the city title, but lost, 6 to 0. Schurz also captured the 1929 league title and its last appearance in the championship playoffs was in 1936, when it was eliminated by Austin.

He Knows Players' Side, Too.

Koehler played full back on Northwestern's elevens in 1916, 1917, and 1919. The following season he performed for the Chicago Bears, then known as the Staleys. His teammates included George Halas, Dutch Sternaman, George Trafton, and Chuck Dressen.

"Fenger will be a hard team to beat," said Koehler. "They have won 21 straight games and Don Griffin last Saturday played the entire game against Tilden Tech. With Griffin in there all the time Fenger is bound to score."

Schurz Puts Its Trust in Them

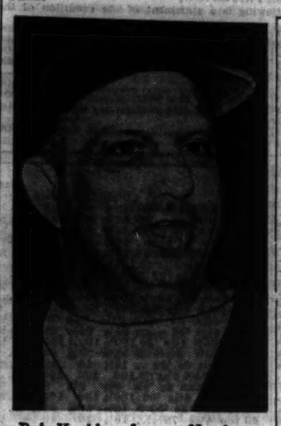
[TRIBUNE Photos.]



Bob Koehler, former Northwestern full back, has coached the Schurz squad since 1921. Many of his pupils have gone on to fame on college gridrons.

ILLINOIS TAKES NO CHANCES EVEN WITH MAROONS

Zuppke Puts Varsity Thru Hard Workout.

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 21 [Special].—Evidence that Coach Bob Zuppke is not taking the Chicago game in the least for granted was again noticeable today as the varsity went through a long workout against freshmen using Maroon formations. The teams meet in Chicago Saturday.

Scouts report Chicago has been improved in every game so far and looked impressive in beating Oberlin last week. The Illini expect the Maroons to be keyed for this contest above all others.

Jimmy Smith, sophomore half back, who suffered a wrenched knee during the Ohio State game, was in uniform today but did not practice. He will be able to play Saturday, however. Wes Martin, senior guard, is definitely out with injuries.

Highlight of the drill was a 50 yard punt return by Johnnie Thistlewood behind downfield blocking that drew Zuppke's praise.

13 MAROONS CLOSE CAREERS.

Offensive dummy scrimmage in the Midway fieldhouse yesterday afternoon against Illinois defenses as portrayed by the freshmen paved the way for Chicago final contact sessions today in preparation for the Illini game Saturday.

Coach Clark Shaughnessy indicated he will use Russell Parsons and Sophomore Bob C. Miller as starting ends.

The Illinois game will mark the finish of the 1939 season and the end of the collegiate football careers of 13 Maroon players. The thirteen who will be playing their final game are as follows:

State Moves to Feed Geese in Horseshoe Lake

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 21 (AP).—Special steps have been taken by the state conservation department to preserve part of the large goose migration currently feeding in extreme southern Illinois, Director Thomas J. Lynch said today.

The director said that 20,000 geese in the Horseshoe lake area of Alexander county faced extinction because of lack of natural food on the island sanctuary in the lake.

Drouth had killed most of the feed, and the geese had to keep working grain fields in the area for subsistence, Lynch said, exposing the entire flock to hunters' guns.

SCHOOLTEACHER ASKS $25,000 OF ORAL HILDEBRAND

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 21 (AP).—Oral Hildebrand, pitcher for the New York Yankees, was named defendant today in a suit for $25,000 damages filed by Margaret Lee Riddell, an Indianapolis school teacher, as the result of an automobile accident Oct. 20.

Miss Riddell was one of several teachers riding in a station wagon which was in a collision with Hildebrand's car near here. One of the women was killed.

Famous OLD FORESTER

● It's a real achievement, that we can say: "This Christmas, Old Forester won't be hard to get!" There's a reason why this whisky, known to millions because of the perfection of its flavor, has been so rare. It goes back 70 years, when one of the greatest whisky-makers of all time set out to make the richest, smoothest, most perfectly-flavored bourbon that time and money and skill could make. He succeeded, but this whisky is not to be made in large volume. And, while it could never be "popular-priced" its fame spread so fast that millions wanted it. So—thousands bought, when they could get it, and made it their "holiday" and "special-occasion" whisky.

That is why millions know Old Forester's name—want to get some—but have not been able to do it. And that is also why we say it is big news, and a big achievement, that we have built up a stock of Old Forester which we can release so that more people can enjoy America's traditional holiday whisky.

BILL DE LANCEY COMES BACK TO CARDS IN SPRING

Catcher Recovers from Lung Ailment.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 21 (AP).—One dreary winter day four years ago a young man was bundled into an ambulance and started on a trip to Arizona, where it was hoped the dry climate would save his life.

Doctors said they feared Bill De Lancey would never play baseball again.

The sensational Cardinal rookie, who caught every inning of the 1934 world series, contracted a lung ailment after the 1935 season. The baseball world figured it had lost one of its most promising stars.

Club Will Carry Him.

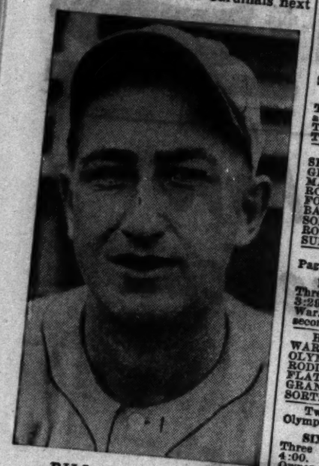
But Bill was a courageous chap and he was determined to whip the illness. It appears he has succeeded.

At any rate, Bill De Lancey is going to report to the Cardinals next spring for what should be one of baseball's most dramatic comeback attempts.



BILL DE LANCEY.

He will be carried as a third-string catcher, but if his health is as good as he says, Mickey Owen and Don Padgett may have their hands full of competition. De Lancey took the catching job away from Virgil Davis in 1934—the year the Cardinals' famous kid battery of De Lancey and Paul Dean was the talk of the world series with Detroit.

"For his own good we will not let him work too hard," said President Sam Breadon of the Cardinals in announcing they would give De Lancey a chance to come back. Youth is on his side—he will be 27 years old next week.

Manages Pennant Winner.

Long ago Bill's collapsed lung came back. The Cardinals gave him a job as manager of the Albuquerque club in the Arizona-Texas league. He quickly made good. His club won two pennants. He gradually worked himself into condition by playing catch, chasing grounders, pitching batting practice, walking 10 miles every day, and occasionally appearing as a pinch-hitter.

Badgers Plan No Changes in Starting Team

Madison, Wis., Nov. 21 [Special].—Assured that George Paskvan, hard hitting full back, will be ready to start against Minnesota, Coach Harry Stuhldreher announced today no changes will be made in the lineup that opposed Purdue.

This means Ralph Moeller, who has been named acting captain for the final game of the season, and Al Lorenz will be at the end positions, with Gordon Gile and Al Dorsch at tackles, Dick Embick and Don Kolbusz at the guards, and John Doyle at center. The starting back field will include Tommy Farris at quarter, Don Peterson at left half; Claude York at right half; and Paskvan at full back.

GOPHERS STRESS DEFENSE.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 21 [Special].—Minnesota returned to an old practice today—drilling the secondary against forward passes—as the squad began its last week of work. There is an outside chance that Sy Johnson and Bob Smith, crippled for three weeks, may see action Saturday against Wisconsin, Bierman said.

YATES-MORETTI TAKE LEAD IN N.Y. BIKE RACE

New York, Nov. 22, Wednesday (AP).—Ending a jamming spree that lasted through the evening and produced frequent changes in leadership, the team of Cecil Yates of Chicago and Cesar Moretti of Italy forged to the front in the five day bike race in Madison Square Garden early today.

They stole a lap shortly before midnight and hung onto that margin thru the 28th hour of the grind. Four other teams, headed by the Canadian favorites, Torchy and Doug Peden, were tied for second place. The standing at the 28th hour:

| | Miles | Laps | Pts. |

BIG 10 LIFTS PITT BAN; PANTHERS PLAY OHIO IN 1940

School Praised for New Athletic Standards.

Columbus, O., Nov. 21 (AP).—The immediate lifting of the Western conference athletic bar against Pittsburgh became apparent today when Ohio State university scheduled the Panthers for their opening 1940 football game.

Minnesota and Purdue already had contracted with Pittsburgh for games in 1941, ending a severance of athletic relations that Big Ten schools imposed in 1936.

"We're convinced that Pittsburgh has turned over a new leaf and is doing a good job," declared Ohio State's athletic director, L. W. St. John, in announcing the game for Sept. 28.

Praise Pitt's New Policy.

After Ohio State broke off athletic relations with Pitt other Western conference members quit scheduling the Panthers in protest against the school's athletic policies.

Adoption by Pittsburgh more than a year ago of the Bowman amateur code, modeling athletic policies along Western conference lines, paved the way for closer relations between Pitt and Big Ten schools, St. John declared.

Chicago's Position Safe.

There has been some discussion of the possibility of Pittsburgh replacing Chicago as a member of the Big Ten due to Chicago's poor football showing, but persons close to the conference organization declared that no move of this kind was contemplated. These sources said that Chicago would have a place in the Big Ten just as long as it wanted one.

Montreal, 2; Boston, 1.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 21 (AP).—The Montreal Les Canadiens took all of the Boston Bruins' terrific power in stride tonight and came out of a lusty battle with a 2 to 1 victory before 12,000 in the Boston Garden. The victory placed Montreal in a tie with the Toronto Maple Leafs. Each has won four and tied one game without a defeat in the National Hockey league.

Montreal came from behind, the Bruins having opened the scoring about halfway thru the opening period when Roy Conacher scored from 20 feet out after taking Mel Hill's pass.

Toe Blake beat Goalie Frankie Brimsek for the puck as the latter tried to clear the rebound on Doug Young's hard shot in the second period to tie the score.

After Marty Barry broke up a threatening Boston drive in the third period, he fed Earl Robinson a rink-width pass at the Boston blue-line and Earl skated in so fast against Brimsek that he was able to knock home his own rebound for the winning goal. The lineups:

HORNER ORDERS BILL TO CONTROL OIL IN ILLINOIS

Hopes for Harmony Among Operators.

Gov. Horner announced yesterday in Springfield that he was having an oil conservation bill drafted by the state legislative reference bureau. He said, at his press conference, that he had not definitely decided to include oil legislation in his call for a special session, but that a bill was being drawn in an effort to reach a "harmonizing point" among oil men.

Gov. Horner.

"A bill is being drafted by the legislative reference bureau which, I think, will be agreeable to all honest fellows," Gov. Horner said. "We will send copies of it to all oil interests and let them make any complaints with the idea of reaching a harmonizing point."

Wants to Prevent Waste.

He said he was convinced that oil production in the state should be controled to prevent waste.

"I think there's great value in state regulation," he said. "There's no politics in this. I want to put it thru."

A proposed oil control bill submitted last month by three associations of oil men has met with opposition from other petroleum groups in the state.

An all-time record for completions of oil wells in Illinois was established last week, the Oil and Gas Journal reported yesterday. Drilling was completed on 104 holes, of which 81 were producers and 23 were dry. The week's figures brought total 1939 completions to date to 3,219, compared with 1,865 in the corresponding period of last year.

New Oil Sands Tapped.

The chief development was the two wells in the Lake Centralia-Salem pool, which opened up two new oil bearing layers in that area—the St. Louis and Devonian limestone formations. As a result of these developments, oil men predicted a new boom will revive the drilling industry in the Salem pool.

The nation's crude production showed a decrease of 192,542 barrels daily from the preceding week, with the average at 3,596,575 barrels.

UTILITY APPLIES TO SEC TO PAY BACK DIVIDENDS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 21 [Special].—The United corporation today applied to the Securities and Exchange commission for authority to pay accumulated dividends of $1.05 per share on the outstanding shares of $3 cumulative preference stock. A total of 2,488,712 such shares are outstanding.

The application stated the applicant had "reason to believe that the earnings of the corporation in the coming year will exceed the amount required to maintain the regular rate of dividends on the preference stock."

It is proposed to pay the arrearages totaling $2,613,147, in full, utilizing the entire balance in the corporation's earned surplus account at date of declaration, and to debit the corporation's capital surplus with the balance of such dividend. The balance in the corporation's earned surplus account at Oct. 31, 1939, was $99,933.

Neutrality Act Hits Chicago's Foreign Trade

Revision of the neutrality act and repeal of the arms embargo have disrupted Chicago's foreign trade business, a foreign trade expert in a Chicago bank commented yesterday. He has answered hundreds of questions presented by the exporters.

"When, how and under what conditions do we have to pass title?" "When does the 'cash-and-carry' provision apply?" and, "In what areas are United States vessels permitted to carry goods?" are some of the questions asked.

The "cash-and-carry" provision of the act was designed to prevent American ships from entering war zones. The repeal of the arms embargo threw open American markets to warring nations on a cash basis.

Act Variously Interpreted.

Each questioner is advised that there are several interpretations of the act and that the state department in Washington can completely change the exporting outlook overnight thru a change in interpretation. As a result, exporters have been making few shipments, the trade expert emphasized.

Most of the goods exported from the Chicago area consists of industrial merchandise, consequently the arms embargo had little local effect and presented few, if any, problems, according to the trade expert.

One example of the title-passing question cited by the bank expert: A manufacturer who has been shipping goods to a consumer in England for a number of years on a three month credit basis wanted to know his present status in regard to the law.

May Extend Private Credit.

He was advised that as long as he was not dealing directly with the British government or with an agency of the government, nor shipping munitions, he was free to extend credit to the English firm.

However, the goods may not be carried in an American ship into a "combat zone." Nearly 40 per cent of American ocean-going ships—122 vessels totalling 770,000 tons—has been tied up for the duration of the war because of the act, according to an estimate made by the Transportation Association of America.

The "cash-and-carry" provisions of the revised act deal only with merchandise shipments to belligerent nations or their agents, according to local interpretation. In that case, title to the goods must be transferred to the consignee before the merchandise leaves this country.

Band Credits in Question.

Question has arisen concerning letters of credit issued by English banks and presented to exporters here. Under some interpretations of the act, the banks issuing the letters of credit are acting as agents of the English government and the "cash-and-carry" provision applies.

Other experts assert congress did not intend to curtail bank financing of purchases and advise their clients to ship on the ground that the bank is acting as a financial intermediary between private buyer and seller.

George Payne, Chicago district manager of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, said the act is open to many interpretations but added that the state department is making final rulings on all questions as rapidly as possible.

WHEAT HIGHER; DROUTH IN WEST STILL UNBROKEN

December wheat sold at 89¾ cents a bushel at one time yesterday, the highest price at which any delivery has been quoted since March, 1938. Buying induced by continued drouth in the big producing states west of the Missouri river was responsible for an advance of about 1 cent from Monday's finish in the early trading. Profit taking caused a recession from the top, with the close on the Chicago Board of Trade at gains of ¼ cent.

Corn, oats, and rye held within narrow limits yesterday, and price changes were confined largely to small fractions of a cent.

Trading in soy beans was somewhat less active. Profit taking was in evidence on an early advance and the best prices were not maintained, altho the close was ¼ cent higher.

Early Returns Indicate Victory for Tobacco Quotas

Washington, D. C., Nov. 21 (AP).—Incomplete returns from a referendum among Burley tobacco growers today showed a heavy majority in favor of the Agricultural Adjustment administration's proposal to invoke marketing quotas on the 1940 crop. With about half the ballots tabulated, the vote was 81,115 for quotas and 15,458 against. This was a favorable majority of about 83 per cent. The affirmative vote of two-thirds of the farmers voting is required.

Western Union Employes in Chicago Join A. F. of L.

Chicago employés of the Western Union Telegraph company yesterday were granted charters for membership in the Commercial Telegraphers' union, an affiliate of the American Federation of Labor. The 21 year old Association of Western Union Employés, of which the Chicago workers formerly were members, was ordered dissolved by the National Labor Relations board on Nov. 2. More than 2,000 employés are eligible for membership in the new union, officials said.

SEC URGES VAST UTILITY HOLDING CAPITAL SLASH

Scan 20 Firms with 6½ Billion Assets.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 21 (AP).—The public utilities division of the Securities and Exchange commission reported today that various studies indicated "there are at least 20 [utility] holding companies with consolidated assets aggregating about $6,500,000,000 which must be recapitalized."

The statement was made in connection with a report showing that 44 per cent of the preferred stocks of public utility holding companies and their subsidiaries were in arrears as to dividends at the end of 1938.

"There are a number of operating companies and some holding companies which undoubtedly should be able to clear up their arrearages without recapitalization," the division said. "However, there are some operating companies, and to a greater extent holding companies, where the arrearages are so great in relation to the earnings available for preferred stock dividends, that recapitalization is inevitable."

Arrears Over $72 Millions.

The survey showed that 1,370,550 investors held $3,590,730,690 in utility preferred stock, of which $1,580,648,416 had unpaid dividends amounting to $372,487,414. The study showed 56 per cent of holding company preferred stock was behind on dividends and that 27 per cent of operating company preferred stock was in arrears.

Joseph L. Weiner, director of the public utilities division, said in a letter to Chairman Frank of the SEC that arrearage on preferred stock was "one of the major financial problems confronting a large part of the utility industry."

Noting that "only a very few companies are making any progress toward the elimination of arrearages," Weiner added:

"It appears, moreover, that in many cases studied the equity of owners of securities junior to the preferred stocks is approaching the vanishing point.

Urges Drastic Revisions.

"A drastic revision of corporate structures is the only way to bring about the necessary financial adjustments and to assure the real owners control of their property.

"To attain such ends this commission is not only given authority but has the duty imposed upon it by the public utility holding company act of 1935 to require, where necessary, a revision of the corporate structure of holding companies subject to its jurisdiction. Several plans for capital revision are now pending before the commission. The need for prompt action is obvious."

In its conclusions from the survey, the division reported that "the financial reconstruction of companies with unsound structures is one of the most pressing problems facing some of the holding company managements and the Securities and Exchange commission."

Holding Companies Chief Problem.

The data indicated, the report said, that the problem of dividend arrearages was "materially greater" with respect to the preferred stock of holding companies than with respect to that of operating companies.

Few companies, the report said, were making "any progress toward the elimination of arrearages" and while a few were paying current dividends, "an overwhelming number shows an increase in arrearages from year to year."

VAST HOUSING PROJECT ASKED FOR BROOKLYN

New York, Nov. 21 [Special].—A $22,000,000 housing project of 3,528 apartments will replace a congested slum area, near the navy yard, Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia promised the people of Brooklyn today.

The mayor expressed confidence of coöperation from the state, necessary to make the project a reality, shortly after application and plans for the project were filed with the New York state housing authority. It was the first filed by the city.

It was explained that the state had $50,000,000 available for housing loans up to June 30 next year. Of this amount, it was said, about $33,000,000 would be available to New York City.

Assails Many Waterways as Local Rackets

Describing many inland waterways as rackets of local communities or interests, Senator Clyde M. Reed [R., Kas.] declared yesterday he would oppose further appropriations for them unless they could be proved sound economically and would not be a drain on the public purse.

Senator Reed.

"Inland waterway transportation is not low cost transportation," he said. "It is the highest cost transportation compared with the highways or the railroads. The only reason for lower freight charges is the subsidy paid by the taxpayers of the public treasury. Without such a subsidy inland waterway transportation could not exist a month."

Favors Justified Waterways.

Senator Reed said he favors such inland waterways as the Great Lakes which are justified economically. He attacked waterways which must be dredged and maintained at huge cost to the public in order to allow a few boats to use them. The chief beneficiaries of some of these economically unsound waterways, he said, are corporations that operate private barge lines. Although they use a public highway without cost, they base the prices of their wares on railroad freight rates, he said, pocketing the difference.

Senator Reed declared that this country has a surplus of commercial transportation facilities of all classes. It is because of this that railroads are showing operating deficits and highway and waterway users are in the red. Failure to adopt a sound transportation system that will stand on its own legs and not burden the public treasury has cost the nation billions of dollars, he said.

One essential of a sound policy, he explained, would be to stop the creation of more new transportation, especially at the public expense, without a finding by a competent and authoritative public body that the expenditure would be justified.

Promises Private Barge Line.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 21 (AP).—J. Monroe Johnson, assistant secretary of commerce, asserted here today that the Federal Barge Line on the Mississippi river would be "streamlined, shed of every government earmark, and, as soon as possible, turned over to private business as a going concern." Johnson spoke at a dinner given by the Mississippi Valley association in honor of former Congressman Chester C. Thompson of Rock Island, Ill., recently named president of the Inland Waterways corporations, operators of the barge line.

The government does not want to stay in the barge business, and it will make sacrifices to promote the success of its private competitors until inland water transportation is firmly established, Johnson said.

BID $104.696 FOR RAIL CERTIFICATES; NEW ALL TIME HIGH MARK

New York, Nov. 21 [Special].—The highest prices paid thru competitive bidding for equipment trust certificates since this method of sale was put in force by the interstate commerce commission in 1926 was offered today by Freeman & Co. The firm bid for $5,700,000 of Bessemer and Lake Erie certificates.

The B. & L. E. certificates carry a 2½ per cent coupon and mature in 1 to 10 years. Freeman bid 104.696, or an average basic yield of 1.6 per cent. The bid is subject to acceptance by the railroad and approval by the interstate commerce commission.

The previous highest price for equipment certificates was recorded at the recent sale of Wheeling and Lake Erie 2½s, also to mature within 1 to 10 years. A Chicago group paid 103.92, cost to the railroad 1.75 per cent. There were 10 bidders today.

GENERAL MOTORS FILES PLEA FOR NEW TRUST TRIAL

South Bend, Ind., Nov. 21 (AP).—General Motors corporation and three subsidiaries convicted last week of violating the antitrust act filed a motion in federal court today for a new trial.

The filing was a mere formality, as Special Judge Walter C. Lindley had overruled the motion when it was presented in court last Friday.

General Motors' counsel has indicated the case will be taken to the United State Circuit Court of Appeals at Chicago.

Judge Lindley assessed fines of $5,000 each against General Motors, General Motors Acceptance corporation, General Motors Acceptance corporation of Indiana, and General Motors Sales corporation.

The court also ordered the parent firm and the sales company to share equally the court costs, estimated by government attorneys at $100,000.

FEDERAL FOOD PLAN 'SAVED' AS BANKS DROP FEE

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 21 (AP).—Withdrawal by banks of a proposed service charge tonight assured continuance of the federal government's surplus food stamp plan in this city of its birth.

Rochester grocers were relieved when the bankers, after two meetings with food merchants, deferred a 1 per cent charge on food stamps presented to them by grocers for redemption, scheduled to take effect Dec. 1.

The stamp plan for distribution of surplus farm commodities, begun experimentally May 16, was growing rapidly into a million dollar business when the bankers decreed the service charge. The Federal Surplus Commodities corporation, hearing of the proposed fee, said the plan would be abandoned in Rochester unless the bankers dropped the charge.

Principal Markets Close Tomorrow

Most of the principal commodity and security exchanges in the United States will be closed tomorrow in observance of Thanksgiving. English, Canadian, and other foreign markets will remain open. American markets will resume trading Friday morning.

TWO BIG BANKS VOTE INTEREST CUT ON SAVINGS

Others Are Expected to Follow.

Directors of two leading downtown banks yesterday voted to reduce interest rates on savings deposits to 1¼ per cent, effective Jan. 1. Board members of the Northern Trust company and the City National Bank and Trust company acted favorably on a proposal made last week by executive heads of each institution for a slash from the present 1½ per cent rate in effect since 1936.

The action of the Northern Trust and City National directors is expected to be followed in the next few weeks by other large downtown banking institutions. Members of the board of the First National Bank of Chicago are scheduled to meet Friday on the proposal. Directors of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company will meet Dec. 8 to consider a similar reduction. Board members of the Harris Trust and Savings bank are to meet Dec. 13.

Rate Relatively High.

Chicago clearing house banks have maintained a higher rate of interest on savings than banks in most other large cities in the middle west, according to banking officials. Commercial banks in St. Louis reduced interest rates to 1 per cent last August. Most downstate Illinois banks pay only 1 per cent on savings, it was said. In New York several leading banks early this year adopted a 1 per cent rate. Others pay on a sliding scale.

Executives of the five leading downtown Chicago banks agreed at their meeting last week to recommend adoption of the reduced rate by directors of their banks. They also proposed to make the recommendation that other banks which are members of the Chicago Clearing House association or are affiliated with the association follow this reduction.

Sought Cut Last Summer.

Many loop bankers wished to make a uniform reduction last summer to 1 per cent when suburban banks trimmed their rates from 1½ to 1 per cent. Others, however, held out for the higher rate in the hope that loan rates would enable them to use their investment funds more profitably. The 1¼ rate is a compromise between the two groups.

A number of outlying Chicago banks followed the suburban banks in slashing rates from 1½ to 1 per cent.

Administration policies of cheap money, dollar devaluation, and inflation of the public debt are generally blamed for the steady reduction in interest rates in recent years. Some commercial banks have discontinued interest payments entirely. For many years prior to the era of cheap money banks thruout the country paid 3 per cent annually on savings. Some paid more.

The present 1½ per cent rate of Chicago Clearing House members, established Jan. 1, 1936, is a reduction from a 2 per cent rate put into effect July 1, 1934. Six months earlier the rate was 2½ per cent.

2 INDIANAPOLIS, CHICAGO TRAINS MAY BE DROPPED

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 21 (AP).—A petition to discontinue two of its passenger trains between Indianapolis and Chicago has been filed by the Monon route with the Indiana public service commission, it was announced today.

The petition, filed by E. P. Cockrell of Chicago, general passenger agent, asked authority to discontinue trains 32 and 33 because of loss of revenue. Despite the addition of air conditioned coaches and lounge cars the trains are being operated at a monthly loss of about $4,400, the petition alleged. The line will still have two trains a day each way between Indianapolis and Chicago and two night trains.

25 Cent Extra Is Declared by Beech-Nut Co.

Directors of the Beech-Nut Packing company yesterday declared an extra dividend of 25 cents and the regular quarterly payment of $1, both payable Jan. 2 to stock of record Dec. 8. A total of $5.75 was paid in 1939 by the company, compared with $5.50 in 1938. Beech-Nut company manufacturers chewing gum, candy drops, foodstuffs, and other products.

Directors declared the regular quarterly disbursement of the same amount, payable the same date. The payments bring the total for the year to $1.25 in comparison with $1.20 in 1938.

Announces $1.50 Payment.

Directors of International Business Machines announced a quarterly payment of $1.50 payable Dec. 22 to holders of record Dec. 15. Similar amounts, paid in previous quarters, bring this year's total to $6 in cash, against the same cash total in 1938. Directors also voted a stock dividend of 5 per cent, deliverable April 1 to holders of record March 15. A total of 5 per cent of stock was paid both in 1939 and 1938.

Chesapeake and Ohio Railway company announced an extra dividend of 50 cents on common stock payable Dec. 27 to holders of record Dec. 12, and a quarterly payment of 62½ cents payable Jan. 1 to record Dec. 12.

Directors of the Alabama Great Southern Railway company declared dividends of $5 on both the ordinary and preferred stocks.

Stocks, Bonds

New York Stocks.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 21.—The stock market barely went thru the motions today, closing irregularly lower in the slowest trading in more than a month. Only 555,455 shares changed hands as 427 issues declined, 172 advanced, and 192 held even. Fractional changes predominated.

Absence of demand rather than any increase in selling brought about the setback, according to most observers. An attempt early in the session to boost prices met with no response.

Part of the day's apathy was attributed to the fact that another holiday is looming. The exchange will be closed for the new early Thanksgiving day on Thursday.

Among the day's biggest losers in the shares were Bethlehem Steel, United States Steel, Youngstown Sheet and Tube, and Douglas Aircraft, each of which lost a point or so. Most motors slipped fractionally, altho Chrysler hardened a fraction.

Kennecott failed to respond to its $1.25 dividend and slipped ½ point. Other coppers did likewise. Standard rubber, oil and merchandising issues posted fractional losses. Rail and utility shares also moved lower with interest in both sections restricted.

Prominent shares on the offside at the finish were General Motors, United States Rubber, Sears Roebuck, United Aircraft, American Telephone, Anaconda, American Smelting, American Can, Westinghouse, Union Carbide, Johns-Manville, Santa Fe, and Southern Railway preferred. Retaining gains were du Pont, International Business Machines, Pathe, United Air Lines, and Great Northern preferred.

New York Bonds.

New York, Nov. 21 (AP).—A few rail loans soared in today's bond market as the general list moved sluggishly in a narrow range. The strong minority included inactive issues which had not participated fully in the last week's upturn and evened things by climbing from 1 to around 4 points.

Prominent in this move were Peoria and Eastern first 4s at 72¼, Kansas City, Fort Scott and Memphis 4s at 29½, Baltimore and Ohio first 5s of 1948 [certificates] at 67, and Bangor and Aroostook 4s of 1951 at 80.

Widest shifts in the foreign division cut values in the Italian group severely and benefited obligations of Denmark, Belgium and Canada. The Italians had been in a slump for several days.

Chicago Stocks.

Heileman reached a new high mark at 9½, but slipped at the close to end at 9¾ for a net gain of ¼ point. Sundstrand Machine Tool added 1. Belmont Radio and Borg-Warner advanced minor fractions.

Bank Stocks.

Most issues declined yesterday in Chicago bank stock trading. Chicago Title and Trust declined three points, closing on a bid price of 123. City National closed at 116, down 1; Continental Illinois down ½ point to 87½, and First National down 4 points to 227. Others were steady.

M'NARY OFFERS G. O. P. PLAN TO WIN FARM VOTE

Proposes Ways to Better Producers' Status.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 21.—Republicans can reclaim the agricultural states carried by the Democrats in 1932 and 1936 if they advance an adequate farm legislation program, Senator Charles L. McNary [R., Ore.], minority leader in the senate, asserted today. He suggested the following three point program for incorporation in the G. O. P. platform:

1. Equalization of benefit payments under the AAA soil conservation program.

2. Repeal of the reciprocal trade agreement act.

3. Liberalization of the public land policy to give the 14 public land states a larger share of revenues from sale of forests and grazing on the public domain.

Key to G. O. P. Victory.

"After considerable thought I have arrived at the conclusion that the Republican party in 1940 can be successful if it demonstrates to the farm vote and those dependent on the farm that the party is interested as formerly in their welfare," Senator McNary said.

"In my opinion, the party must support a practical plan governing conservation with benefit payments justifying that practice.

"All benefits and privileges must accrue alike to all products, irrespective of crops produced. One of the major weaknesses in the present AAA plan is discrimination shown to a small group of farm commodities.

"I also am convinced that the reciprocal trade agreements, which expire in June, should be repealed. While some industries may have profited by these agreements, it has been at the expense of producers of the soil.

Must Satisfy West.

"These two propositions which I have outlined are of major importance if the Republican party is to dominate the situation in 1940. The east will not be the battle ground for the party in 1940. The Republican party can win if it satisfies the west that it intends to place agriculture on equality with industry."

Senator McNary said that among others participating with him in the western farm plank movement are Senators Borah of Idaho and Capper of Kansas, as well as Alfred Landon, the party's 1936 presidential nominee.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

Top grades of hogs slipped below the $6.00 line in the Chicago stock yards yesterday for the first time in more than five years. The best loads of light young stock sold at $5.90@6.00 with 10 cents from the preceding session and the lowest for any day since June 4, 1934. At that time packers paid a processing tax of $2.25 in addition to the price that went to farmers, a tax that was killed by the Supreme court in January, 1936.

Despite the competition of cheap pork and further declines in the market for hogs, cattle sold readily at steady to strong rates. Slaughter lambs sold steady to 15 cents lower.

Mulch Evergreens.

Nov. 21, 1939.

EVERGREEN trees and shrubs at the Du Page county farm are being mulched with peat moss in an effort to keep the foliage from turning brown during the winter. Most evergreens are subject to this trouble, commonly known among gardeners as winter browning. Several hybrid cedars at the farm were damaged by it last winter. Only those that were mulched escaped injury.

Browning of the leaves, or needles, is believed to result from increased evaporation of moisture from the needles on warm days in winter when the soil still is frozen around the roots so that the roots cannot take up moisture as fast as it escapes. The needles turn brown and fall off. Most of the damage last year occurred in March, when there were some warm days while the ground still was frozen.

Paves Way for Borers.

Trees sometimes die of the injury. The flow of sap is reduced when the needles fall and the weakened trees often are attacked by bark borers. The gardeners say these insects kill more evergreens than die from the actual loss of the needles. The borers do not enter healthy evergreens. They cause damage only when the circulation of sap, or resin, is poor.

Mulching appears to be the easiest and most effective means of protecting the evergreens. It tends to keep the soil from freezing dry around the roots. There usually is less injury when heavy snows cover the ground for a good part of the winter.

European peat moss is considered an ideal mulch for evergreens because of the acid condition it creates in the surface soil. Evergreens grow best in a neutral or slightly acid soil. They seldom thrive in a sweet soil.

Fertilizer Is Added.

Part of the peat moss is being used for bedding in the barns for about a week before it is put around the trees. This is to add manure for fertilizer. Only the plain peat moss is used for trees that were fertilized last spring after they were injured by loss of needles last winter. This is in order not to overstimulate the trees while they still are weakened. New plantings also are being mulched with the plain peat moss.

After the mulch is put on the ground around the trees is given a thoro soaking by watering thru the mulch. Evergreens do better when they go into the winter with plenty of moisture in the soil.

There is not the usual amount of moisture in surface soils this fall because of the long drouth. The evergreens will be watered repeatedly until the ground freezes.

Altho evergreens grow naturally on relatively thin soil, it apparently is safer, when transplanting them, to set them in a fairly rich, deep soil. All those injured by winter browning last year were growing on shallow soil.

NORTH SHORE LINE FIGHTS RAILWAY RETIREMENT ACT

Court Considers Status as to Social Security.

Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson yesterday took under advisement a motion by A. A. Sprague, receiver for the Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee railroad, for an injunction restraining the government from enforcing penalties for noncompliance with the railroad retirement act of 1937.

The road's status became confused under a recent interstate commerce commission order which placed the North Shore, an electric line, in the steam railroad class and made it subject to federal laws governing the operation of steam lines. One of the chief points at issue was whether the road's employés were subject to the railroad retirement act or the social security act. The road at present classes its employés under the social security act.

Court Restrains Penalties.

Government and railroad union attorneys argued yesterday that the I. C. C. was within its power last July when it reversed an earlier ruling exempting the North Shore as an interurban and ordering it to comply with the railroad retirement act. The I. C. C. ruling also affected the Chicago, Aurora and Elgin, which has filed an intervening petition.

Attorneys for the North Shore receiver contended the court was bound by a Supreme court decision holding the line to be an interurban and not a general carrier.

I. C. C. Reverses 1936 Ruling.

Under the I. C. C.'s first ruling, made in 1936, the North Shore and the Aurora roads had been classed as interurban and operated under a set of federal regulations which were not as numerous or as stringent as those applying to steam railroads. The I. C. C.'s later ruling held that all railroads engaged in interstate commerce, regardless of whether electric or steam, fell into the same class.

The railroad retirement act of 1937 and the carrier taxing act require railroads to make pay deductions for the benefit of retiring employés and to pay a tax. It is for failure to abide by the provisions of these laws that District Attorney Campbell is attempting to collect thousands of dollars in penalties.
